The Augustana Lutheran church of Thief River joined with the rest of the Congregations of the Red River District in the annual Day Program held at the Swedish Lutheran church at Warren. They met Tuesday afternoon at the church where there were two large trains set apart, one for North Star College and the other for the Warren Hospital. These trains were literally loaded both on top and underneath with canned fruit, vegetables, jellies and jams, as well as potatoes, cabbage, carrots, beets and other garden products. At two-thirty a program was held where the messages and prayers centered on the Deane Charity.

No Changes Will Be Made By State Tax Commission In County Assessments

No changes will be made in the assessments of either real estate or personal property as submitted to the State Tax Commission by the county board of review, according to a communication received by County Auditor T. F. Andersen from N. A. Nelson, secretary of the Tax Commission. The only exceptions will be bank stock, tails, poles and wires, and the property of light, heat and power companies which may be changed.

"The showing made is very gratifying," says Mr. Nelson's letter, "and I am directed by the commission to express to you and the other members of the county board its appreciation for the valuable service rendered in carrying out the law."

SPEAKER ATTACKS TARIFF AS CAUSE OF DEPRESSION

R. R. Bell Addresses Organization of All-Party Al Smith Club

"Our law, the Fordney McCumber tariff bill, is responsible for the conditions that exist today," declared Bell, in reference to the manufacturers that is implied in the word "protection." R. R. C. Bell of Detroit Lakes in an address to the Pennington County All-Party Al Smith Club at the Commercial Club rooms Saturday night.

"Before the passing of cheap banks, delinquent taxes, closed factories, abandoned farms and crossing farm indebtedness, Mr. Bell declares that a readjustment of tariff rates is necessary to return agriculture to an equality with industry.

"The present price level is an artificial one, created by the tariff. Excellent manufacturers' prices must come down to a fair level, and farm products must come up to meet them on a common basis.

"The tariff on jute, of which potato bags are made, was doubled; yet potato growers know what happened to the price of bags. Sewing machines, which one company controls, 90%, got a 35% increase; aluminum, which another company controls, got a tariff which only two per cent of our total consumption is produced, and the old schools, got a 200% increase. Rubber footwear was increased 100% at the same time the tariff on farm products has been largely inoperative. The Winnipeg price on wheat has been on the average higher than the Minneapolis price, in spite of a 42 cent tariff.

"The ruinous effect on the production of the Scandinavian law for public utilities has a the protection of the consumer, the manufacturer, labor as has the protection of the—tariff; the farmer has no protection.

"Hoover speaks of the deep waterway, and co-operative marketing agencies as a means of farm relief. Engineers say that it will be at least twenty years before any of the proposed systems can be in operation; co-operative agencies are of no value unless we have a market. The Fordney-McCumber tariff has destroyed our foreign market. The only remedy for the farm situation is to keep the tariff on farm products high enough to prevent a surplus."

Mrs. Ingeborg Hall, Mr. Bell said "is a Sunday School in comparison to the Vare machine in Philadelphia, the Thompson machine in Chicago, and the Harding cabinet, if Tammany has its way in the next government, it has done a mighty fine job for the Democratic party in Minnesota, a summary of the progressive social legislation forced thru the New York legislature by Governor Smith.

T. H. Hjerke was elected president of the club. Andy Anderson, vice-president, Mae E. McDonald secretary, and N. J. Hunt treasurer.

Another meet of the county organization will be formed at a meeting in St. Hilaire next Tuesday night. The meeting will be held at the Imperial Hall, at 8:30.

Victor Anderson to Speak For Gov. Smith Tuesday Afternoon at Auditorium

He has for many years been active in farm relief work, as secretary of the Traverse County Farm Bureau, and as legal counsel for the Minnesota Farmers' Union. He had charge of the legal affairs of the State Livestock Sanitary Board; the Dairy and Food department; the Cooperative Marketing department; the Insurance department; and the Live-stock and Grain departments of the Railroad and Warehouse commission.

Official Paper of the City of Thief River Falls and Pennington County.

The governor devoted one line of his keynote address to the answer of those who accuse him of building up a political machine, but he couldn't have presented a more effective argument had he used a hundred lines. "Political machines," he said, "are built up by spending the taxpayers' money, not by saving it."

While the politicians the country over have opened their drives for votes, the merchants of this city have opened their drives for business. This issue of the Times contains many interesting announcements by the various business houses of our city. It is a surprising thing what a powerful factor in modern merchandising advertising has become. Business goes where it is invited and stays where it is appreciated.

FLYING GETTING SAFER

Although every newspaper seems to bring a fresh aviation tragedy, flying is actually a safe undertaking at the present time. Accidents per mile are diminishing rapidly and according to statistics there is very little more hazard connected to flying today under approved conditions than there is to automobiling. In 1927 aviation accidents resulted in 161 deaths and 119 injuries. Only six of the 200 serious accidents occured in scheduled flights over regular routes.

All of which indicates that the day when Thief River Falls will need an air port is near at hand.

AN INTERESTING RACE

One of the contests of the coming election that will attract little attention but which will be interesting nevertheless, is the three cornered fight for judges of this district. There are some who seem to take for granted that because J. M. Bishop of this city was defeated in this contest in the last election, he cannot be elected this year. It is the opinion of many of those who have given the problem some consideration, however, that Mr. Bishop actually has an excelent chances of being one of the two winners when the count is made next month.

And there seems to be some justification for the belief that his chances are good. It is safe to assume that the present judges will muster less strength this year than they did in the last election. It is also safe to assume that Mr. Bishop will have a great deal more strength this year than he had in his previous campaign when the opposition to Judges Watts and Grindeland was divided.

The present judges have joined forces in their campaign for re-election and will work for each other. In one respect this arrangement is to Mr. Bishop's disadvantage for his opponents share each other's strength. This arrangement also has some advantages for Mr. Bishop, however, for his opponents are also encumbered by each other's weaknesses. The outcome is by no means certain.

THE GOVERNOR'S KEYNOTE

Governor Theodore Christianson delivered the keynote address of his campaign at Hutchinson Tuesday night. In this message he reviews briefly his past administration and pledges himself to a continuation of his program of economy during the next two years. His address was a masterful and scholarly report to the people of the state and should be carefully considered by all citizens who are interested in good government. It was a calm discussion of important issues, many of which will be settled by the coming session of the state legislature.

Governor Christianson is one politician who has actually kept his promises to the voters. His campaign slogan in 1924 was "Economy" and he promised, if elected, to check the appropriations of the state which from 1915 to 1923 had increased from eighteen million to more than forty million dollars. It cannot be honestly said that he hasn't kept his word. In discussing this phase of his work he admits that he probably made a few mistakes. He admits that his batting average isn't perfect and that he has been struck out a few times, but, he says:

> I also have a feeling that there have been no mistakes in the adoption of major principles to be followed; but that whatever mistakes there have been, have been in the application of those principles to specific cases.
> I can probably make my meaning clearer by citing an instance. I determined when I took the oath of office in January, 1925, not to permit an increase of appropriations over those of 1923. When the appropriations reached me they contained certain items that were essential, such as appropriations for the maintenance of state departments but non-essential. My task was to strike out enough of these to bring the total down. In determining the relative quality of non-essential items, there was plenty of room for error. Perhaps no two persons could be found in the state who could pick exactly the same ones for the executioner's axe. Enough could be said in support of any of these items to make it appear that a vote would be a mistake. And yet, to allow all of them to stand and to increase the tax-levy at a time of serious economic stringency would be a greater mistake. In avoiding the greater mistake I unavoidably subjected myself to some criticism for making what many assumed to be errors, although fewer ones.

PLEA FOR TOLERANCE

(London Tit-Bits)

What is abhorrent to you may be not only justifiable conduct to another, but actually praiseworthy. That is where the spirits of tolerance and charity come in. We can't all think alike, any more than all trees can bear similar foliage and fruit. We are all inconsistent. Not one of us acts according to the standard his best self sets.

Besides, we are all more or less like the man in the fable, who carried two wallets over his shoulder, one in front, and one behind. The one behind contained his own faults, the one in front his neighbor's. Can it be wondered that he was always conscious of his neighbor's faults and forgetful of his own?

Jesus had a welcome for all men who came to him, even the thief on the cross, but of only one seeker is the Gospels is it said that Jesus loved him. Let no one say that it is useless to live above the tide, yet remember that he lacked one thing, the cross which alone could raise him to full manhood.

Public Forum

Editor of The Times:

I refer the columns of the "Public Forum" to your paper has been well patronized of late, only discussing different subjects, especially the political issue. So we also will beg space for a few lines in the same column.

In watching the market reports, I am pleased to see that some of the commodities that the farmers have to sell is coming back to its own. Take for instance the sheep industry is increasing wonderfully and we hope the prevailing prices will be established. Here is a great price compared to other items. Cattle have reached and gone beyond the high peak price after the war.

We now commence to see some of the effects from the slaughterings of the calfs, since the Dairy industry got so popular there is getting to be a shortage in beef cattle. You can not get a steer from the well established rule that "Supply and Demand" establish prices.

But it just occured to me that if this very much discussed McNary-Haugen bill had passed and became a law and the prices of those commodities mentioned taking such a sharp rise the proponents of the bill would have insisted it to the skys and shouted "Now see, see what the McNary-Haugen bill is doing for the farmers." But we do not hear any shouting now. The other day I got in contact with a strong and staunch "Smith" and he said, "I don't think it right that wheat is high time wheat was cheap." I asked him, how so? He said, "Just look at the price the farmer gets for a bushel, and the price he gets a bushel, the farmer can not raise them for that." I asked him, then why was the defeat of the present government sets the price on potatoes?" "Yes," he said.

Here is another misinformed individual. The only remedy he suggested was to vote for Smith and get a good price for your potatoes. But he will be disappointed with the present government sets the price on potatoes?" "Yes."

Dear Editor:

Some of the fundamental purposes of government as declared in the Preamble of the Constitution of the United States is, to establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, and to promote the general welfare. The efficiency of any government, state or national, depends upon how successfully they accomplish these purposes of government.

I submit that the present state administration has not had any great success in accomplishing these fundamental purposes of government. Injustice runs rampant over the state; domestic tranquility is rapidly becoming a myth with economic and social conditions such as to multiply the divorce cases in our courts and as to the promotion of the general welfare that seems to have been thrown into reverse gear somewhat. There has been more misery, want, bankruptcy and general hard times in the last few years than the state has encountered in half a century before.

It seems to me that what we need in Minnesota is a general house cleaning. Lets get a new broom. Let us elect Ernest Lundeen governor and give him support in electing the rest of the Farmer Labor ticket headed and Wefald to go to Washington to Shipstead and Molley to represent us in St. Paul.

Sincerely yours,
W. H. Quist, Sec. 9th. Con. Dist.

To the Editor of The Thief River Falls Times:

The author of an article entitled "The Treatment of Tuberculosis" in a recent issue of the Times wrote incorrectly of Christian Science when he referred to it as one of those "so called medical cults." It is not, and cannot properly be called, a medical cult. Christian Science is a religion, based on the Bible.

Nor will a statement that it has "been exploited for the ever hopeful incorrigible, weighty, the balance and found wanting" be be found to be a record upon the fact. Proof of the healing of consumption by means of Christian Science to count is readily obtainable. Further, both sin and sickness. He instructed his followers to do likewise. SHARP CUT IN DIRECT STATE TAX NEXT YEAR

Lowest Rate in Years Announced by State Auditor Ray P. Chase

TOTAL STATE LEVY 5.34 MILLS, 7.7 THIS YEAR

Soldiers Bonus Retirement Largest Single Item; Schools Next

Next year there will be a sharp reduction in the direct state tax levy.

The cut has just been announced by Ray P. Chase, State Auditor, who corrected by law to fix the rate. Monies to be certified to the county auditors of the state levy for taxes collectible in 1929 will be five and thirty-four numbersths (5.34) mills, as against seven and seven-tenths (7.7) mills since they have been reduced by constitutional amendment. Bonds and rate not required to make a levy for that purpose.

Next year's rate will be over two mills less than this year's figure of 7.7 mills, and about a little more than last year's of 5.5 mills. The rate just fixed and now announced by the State Auditor and those for the five preceding years are as follows, the year being that in which the levy was made for the tax collectible the following year:

1923	8.00 Mills

Of the rate just fixed for the taxes payable next year, one and twenty-three hundredths (1.23) mills is for school purposes; one and twenty-five (1.25) mills to retire Soldiers Bonus certificates; one (1) mill for road and one and three-tenths (1.3) mills for General Revenue. The 1927 Legislature authorized two and eight-tenths (2.8) mills for General Revenue purposes but it has been found unnecessary to impose the full levy authorized and in this item is the greatest cut in this year's levy. This levy for General Revenue, on the state's present valuation, should produce about $8,500,000 in round numbers.

The total is five and thirty-four hundredths (5.34) mills and the purposes of the items are as follows:

State Revenue Fund	1.3 Mills
Soldiers' Relief Fund	.10 "
State Road and Bridge	1.00 "
Soldiers' Bonus Fund	1.25 "
Historical Soc. Bldg. Fund	.02 "
National Guard Armories	.03 "
University Building Fund	.20 "
Bonus State Park Fund	.20 "
Special Aid Fund	.04 "
Teachers' Ins. & Retirement Fund	.03 "
State School and Universities Fund	1.23 "

Minnesota has gradually reduced its outstanding indebtedness and this year the levy is necessary for the State Teachers' College certificates of indebtedness, which were authorized by the 1923 legislature, as the state has sufficient funds now to redeem the last certificate, amounting to $70,000.00, out of the total issue of $1,054,000.

The Soldiers' Bonus certificates of indebtedness authorized by the special session of 1919 and which totaled $25,950,000.00 will be redeemed during 1929 to the amount of $2,235,000.00, leaving $23,715,000.00 to be redeemed in 1930 and $125,000.00 in 1931, out of the total issue.

Soldiers' Bonus	$ 3,150,000.00
Natl Guard Armories	225,000.00
Special Aid	2,000.00
	1,758,258.81
Total	$ 5,135,258.81

These will be redeemed in full with the exception of the authorized obligations. Thereafter there should be but a levy for debt service through the state's obligations for Rural Credits and Drainage bonds, the principal of the borrowers, and for County Reimbursement through motor vehicle license payments.

CANCERS ARE NOT CAUSED BY EATING PARTICULAR FOODS

Health Bulletin Lists Causes That May Be Avoided With Proper Care

The eating of strawberries, tomatoes or pork have nothing to do with the causes of cancer.

In that ample statement the educational committee of the State Medical Society of Minnesota today explained a common superstition that some of the commonly used foods are cancer causers.

"It is probable that as many cases of cancer can be prevented as cured," says the bulletin of the State Medical Society.

"Unlike most other diseases against which science is waging organized warfare, there are no sanitary precautions which have any effect upon cancer. The disease occurs without reference to the healthfulness of the surroundings. The rich and poor are affected alike. The ignorant and intelligent are usually victims.

"Over and over hopes attempts have been made to connect the occurrence of cancer with some article of food, either eaten to excess, insufficiently eaten, or harmful because of some property which it was supposed to possess. Without exception, all of these charges as the cause of cancer was supposed to be removed by eating more of it, or how it is sold.

"How, then, can cancers be prevented? Certainly not by any particular food, local treatment or by any kind of medicine. The jagged tooth, the ill-fitting dental plate, rubs until it makes a sore which develops into cancer. Cancer upon the lip may be produced by holding a hot pipe too much in one position. Cancers of the breast are believed to be due in part to irritation of the natural secretions. Cancer of the stomach may be induced by too hot food, too much strong alcohol or any other abuse of that organ. Cancer of the uterus may result from lacerations at childbirth. Skin cancers may be caused by continual irritation of moles. The way to prevent cancer caused in any of these ways is to avoid the conditions which lead to them.

"The cancers that kill our people generally progress to a serious state because little attention is paid to the unusual so long as it does not disable you. Report to your family physician everything unusual when you first notice it. Then if it is cancer you can secure adequate relief. Delay spells death in cancer."

The best quality of meat can be obtained from a hog that is in good flesh and in a thrifty condition. Overfinished hogs produce fatter hams, bacon and other cuts than the average family desires.

Wheat Pool Leader Explains Why Price Is Set at Liverpool

"Wheat prices are made in Liverpool and London, because Great Britain has been, for more than a century, the greatest grain distributing point in the world," according to E. C. Paradis, sales manager of the Minnesota Wheat Growers, a farmers cooperative association with headquarters in Minneapolis.

"Europe, among the continents, is by far the greatest producer and consumer of wheat. Her total production is nearly one-half that of the total world supply. Her normal consumption is considerably more than half the world's crop.

"Russia, once a great competitor of ours, is now in the background. China produces a large crop that is absorbed by her own home. India is also a great wheat producing country of which we hear little, as she has always had a large crop for the seasonal and good years of production.

"Australia, Canada and the Argentine are also large producers, with a relatively small population, resulting in a large exportable surplus. Within Europe herself there are regions of large production and regions of large surplus. The same is true of this country. The internal flow of grain, or commerce, in the East and South, is largely a part of Europe's commerce, and of the Danube, and from Russia to the Baltic.

"The comparative cheapness of water haul puts Australia and the Argentine within competitive marketing distance of Europe's seaboard and routes from the Black Sea and from North America and there.

"To the American market has a chance at all the surplus wheat of the world, but the price obtainable for this surplus sets the price of bread in Europe and America, and of wheat the world over.

"Our position, in fact, so far as market competition is concerned, Local milling demand is always added to a few days to assist in the preparation of the national secretions. Cancer of the stomach may be induced by too hot food, too much strong alcohol or any other abuse of that organ. Cancer of the uterus may result from lacerations at childbirth. Skin cancers may be caused by continual irritation of moles. The way to prevent cancer caused in any of these ways is to avoid the conditions which lead to them.

"The cancers that kill our people generally progress to a serious state because little attention is paid to the unusual so long as it does not disable you. Report to your family physician everything unusual when you first notice it. Then if it is cancer you can secure adequate relief. Delay spells death in cancer."

Two Thousand Indians Harvesting Wild Rice

The harvest of wild rice is now on in full swing at Red Lake, south of here, and it is estimated that there are about two thousand Indians camped along the banks of the lake.

The rice is plentiful this year, according to reports. The Indians are not taking chances of loosing any of it so they are gathering it in large piles and very little threshing is being done until all has been gathered that can be secured. A strong wind or hail would at this time destroy the crop by knocking the ripened rice off into the water.

Rice is selling at between 30 and 35c a pound. The first one hundred pounds cannot be bought at any price it is said, as this is stored away by each family for the winter.

Many people have journeyed to Red Lake during the interesting process of harvesting wild rice as practiced by the Indians. Squaw dances are being held every night during the harvesting period and the Indians are having a real festival. The best route to the lake is to go to Elbo and straight south.—Bagley Independent.

Clearwater County Farmer Gets Cream Check of $435

Ole Hanisette, one of the patrons of the Bagley Cooperative Creamery received a check on Thursday, September 27, for cream during the month of August. This check is a little over seven times the size of the first check the creamery received in the year that the creamery was organized. It is interesting that cream has ever been issued to any one patron in any creamery in Clearwater county for one month's cream. Mr. Hanisette started building up his dairy herd in 1921 and has been steadily increasing it since that time. Yearly he has been selling cull cows and heifers and until now he has a herd of cattle among which there are no free boarders.—Bagley Independent.

BEET GROWERS GET FINAL PAYMENT ON 1927 CROP

The work of lifting this year's crop started Saturday in some parts of the Valley, and the work will soon be in full swing in fields in the Angus locality.—Marshall County Banner.

WINDMILL HELPS MAKE HIGH SCORING CREAM

Keeping his bars, his equipment and his milk clean and immediate cooling of his cream was for John Moser of Clayton county, Iowa, the honor of producing the highest scoring cream in the state during 1927. Moser won the gold medal in contest conducted by 33 creameries with a product scoring 98.6 for the year.

Mr. Moser depends on his windmill, a cooling tank and a cistern to keep his cream at a temperature of about 62 degrees. The windmill is allowed to run long enough morning, noon and night to keep the water in the cooling tank at the desired temperature, and in that way cooling costs very little. An overflow pipe carries surplus water from the tank down into a cistern which in turn supplies livestock watering tanks. In case there is not much water it can be eliminated thru a waste pipe, and if there is too little wind to run the mill, Mr. Moser cools his cream by hanging it in the cistern.

In addition to immediate cooling, Mr. Moser considers a clean barn, clean milking and sanitary equipment essential in the production of a high scoring cream.

The MAYTAG Roller Water Remover

A New and Better Way of Wringing

IF YOU were to pass a clothes-pin between the rolls of the Maytag Roller Water Remover, it would appear as in the illustration above. In like manner, this large, soft, upper roll hugs the lumps, folds and seams in the clothes, reaches down into the low spots, and leaves no wet places to retard drying on the line. Buttons, snaps or ornaments go through safely.

Exhaustive experiments convinced The Maytag Company that a soft top roll, working against a hard bottom roll, creates more effective wringing action than two soft rolls or two hard rolls. The Roller Water Remover, incorporating this method, is exclusively owned and controlled by The Maytag Company. It permits perfect wringing with less time and effort than ever before.

The detail drawing at the right, above, shows you the many features of convenience which make the Roller Water Remover so handy. The safety-feed makes it easy to start the clothes through the rolls. The tension automatically adjusts itself to a thin handkerchief or a bulky blanket. The drainboard automatically reverses itself, and pressure on the safety release makes it possible to instantly separate the rolls.

phone For A Trial Washing

The Maytag won world leadership by trial washings in the home. Telephone for a Maytag before next washday. Experience the advantages of the cast-aluminum tub and agitator action. See the Maytag do a washing on an hour without hand-rubbing anything. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

Maytag Aluminum Washer

LARSON FURNITURE CO.

221 Main Ave N. Thief River Falls, Minn. Phone 61

Amundgaard Machine Co., Argyle, Minn.

Maytag dealers everywhere follow the standardized rule of sending a Maytag to a home to do a week's washing free, and without obligation of any kind. This is the way all Maytag Aluminum Washers are sold. The Maytag must sell itself solely upon its performance in the home. It must wash everything to your entire satisfaction. Must wash everything quicker, easier and cleaner than other washers. Must wash everything—even collars, cuffs and wristbands, without hand-rubbing. Must prove to you, in your own home, that it is the most helpful home-laundering unit you have ever seen or used.

The Children's Heritage

A Romantic Story of the Minnesota Permanent School and Trust Fund—How It Was Developed—How It Is Being Conserved

Written for the Minnesota Editorial Association

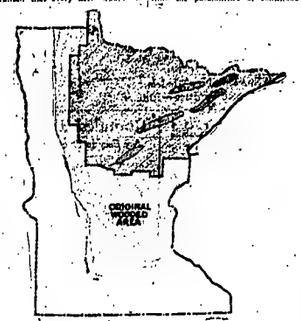
By JOHN STONE PARDEE

NEW TIMBER POLICY

Up to now, the state's timber policy has been very simple. Sell the stumpage for the best price to be had, put the proceeds in the trust funds, then sell the cutover land to settlers. At first, when pine stumpage had no market value, it was thought very clever to get anything at all for it; later the sales were more carefully handled. But all the time the state was looking only at the standing timber with no reckoning of the new growth, and that was natural.

At first also, the land was supposed to be worthless after the timber was removed. It did not occur to anybody there would be a second crop except after years and years. Later, it was taken for granted that every acre could be sold and made into farms. And that yield were more apparent, and economic changes were in evidence.

Pruss, auditor in 1918, carried it a step further. "State lands, and timber, the heritage of the school children of Minnesota, deserve your most thoughtful consideration." He spoke of reforestation, and surveys, study of the peat deposits and a balanced policy.



For several years the conservation movement, the activities of the old forestry board and the agitation for a department of public domain organized public sentiment. In 1914, the constitutional amendment for permanent forest reserves was adopted, of which Iverson said, "Though this amendment we may confidently hope to lay the foundation for a perpetual supply of all kinds of timber for the future needs of the people of Minnesota."

The auditor was not the only person in the state to pay attention to the subject, but his are the principal utterances—he is the custodian of state lands and shares with the legislature the responsibility for forming policies.

Twelve years after the adoption of the amendment, the state had set aside 4,000,000 acres in the boundaries of the Minnesota National Forest and all the state lands in the bounds of the Superior National Forest, as permanent forest reserves to be managed, as the amendment directs and as the legislature may provide, on forestry principles.

The working out of the policies to carry out the purpose of the amendment is now the business before the people. So far the state has been content to sell the timber, put away the proceeds, give partial fire protection and trust to nature for the rest. State contracts still stipulate clean cutting down to sizes too small to pay the logger for his work, which means devastation of the cutover acres.

The new policies will determine to a large degree what part of the $250,000,000 in sight for the trust funds shall come from the state forests.

When making jelly it is not necessary to heat the sugar before adding it to the fruit juice. The only reason for heating it is to shorten the time of boiling the jelly. If the juice is boiling hot when the sugar is put in, the boiling process will only be checked for a minute or two by the addition of the cold sugar. It is then boiled rapidly until the jelly stage is reached, which should be in from 5 to 10 minutes or even less.

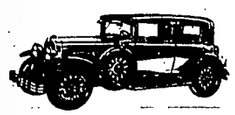
HERMETIC

Toasting Process

Hermes—(from which the word Hermetic derives). Herald messenger of the Gods, God of Science and Invention.
- Webster's New International Dictionary.

When Grandmother served her "home roasted" coffee to "company," it was acceptable because no one knew how to roast coffee any better. But progress was bound to come. Mechanical roasting made possible a uniformity in flavor. The invention of the sealed tin container gave to this uniform flavor the protection necessary for commercial sale.

Mechanical roasting was at the time of its development a revolutionary improvement, but through the years it has retained its one great fault—the unavoidable evaporation of a valuable percentage of the true flavor which nature places in each bean of green coffee. Hence it has been impossible to perfect a coffee flavor which would always be acceptable to the discriminating tastes found in every home.



This is proved by the fact that the average housewife buys one brand of coffee today, another brand next week—always changing. Often she doesn't know why. But really she is in search of a coffee that will satisfy her and her family day in and day out, year after year.

Now, Nash's Hermetic Toasting Process brings to coffee lovers a new taste thrill, a keener flavor delight, plus a grateful saving in the amount of coffee needed per cup because it imprisons in the toasted coffee more of the rich, piquant, true flavor heretofore largely evaporated in the ordinary roasting process.

It's a far cry from Grandmother's time when coffee was baked in the oven or parched over an open fire to Nash's Hermetic Toasting Process, which brings you coffee so rich, full flavored and serenely satisfying that you instantly exclaim—"PERFECT!"

CHAPTER X.

How it Feels to Be a Greenhorn

Oslo, Norway, July 17.

Years ago as I watched the newcomers to America I wondered how it seemed to set foot on foreign soil and not know how to speak a word of the language or the adopted country. Well, now I know and can tell you all about it, with flowers.

When I got to England John Bull was expecting me and he made short work of stamping the seal of approval on my passport. Then one day the same Dunlap came to me and asked for my passport and said he would give it back in a few days. He did so and then it contained another page that said I could go to all countries on earth or anywhere else. I smiled my thanks and with the grace of the land and the permission of Uncle Sam was monarch of all the world.

I went to Ireland and they were good to me. Then I went across to Denmark and there I got glad to have me eat fish and drink their soda water and visit around. Then I left for Sweden. I sailed on a little boat from Aalborg and it took about two hours. When about to land, the fat ticket and gold braid inspector asked me for my passport, and I stopped it out with an air of pomp and grace that would have made a Spanish bull fighter shrink from envy. The Big Chief said to me that I could not land with that passport and I had no permission to land. Well, that was just different and I felt like a drunken mouse trying to dodge a good-natured cat.

At that moment I felt for the first time like a greenhorn should feel as everyone got off the boat but I stood around waiting to be told where to go. I was a foreigner in Sweden, all right, and I was in no place to go. Oh, I would have given anyone a good cow if they could have taught me to talk Swedish for two minutes. The officer took out a card, scribbled an address on it and told me to go there and wait for my passport, which he had taken me away from me. I went and found it was the police department. I met several fellows there who could talk English just as good as I could talk Swedish. We started back and forth for a while and finally they told me to go to another building. As a quote went out and I followed along to the hotel and was able to keep within sight of him even tho he was a younger man, was working on short rations and had about a 150 inch farms and in towns and that is not so hot. After dinking into an inn and gas wagons. The farmer alley he stopped by a wood pile and his wife and his children all I thought I was going to be followed as I went out into the country to and I followed up a back stairs and had several introductions and finally fit upon a fellow who could speak in United States. He asked me to answer a hundred and one questions, then added the whole business up, and the date with it, and summoned another six footer and told him something in Swede and the guy told me again to follow him.

Well, I followed. Why not? That's all I had to do and I had learned to do this pretty well in the first beat. Finally we broke into a big building and all out of breath I was facing the biggest chief of police in all the wide world. His name was Hermann Bjorkman and he was six foot six and as fine a looking Swede as ever grew—and there are a lot of good looking here I'll tell you. He just took hold of my hand and I thought he was going to crush it. He hung on like a woodtick and I felt he was either greeting me with a welcome or finishing the job of extermination. But the former proved the correct guess as he gave me a police passport that was good for three days and by that time I hope to be in another country or become a naturalized citizen of Sweden.

Dear reader don't depend on a man by the name of Dunlap to get all your passports when you go abroad. If you do, see that they are O. K. first. Uncle Sam is a big guy, but the Swedes will not let him write permits for them. Maybe what I did was not so near Minneapolis that I did not need a Swedish passport. It was 10:35 o'clock when I got into the Swedish police net and 10:55 when I got loose and I had had nothing to eat since ten o'clock pressmas and just breakfasts like tea, a Swede or Norwegian and Dane takes coffee. I notice that all these people take a light beer and while I was in Skandesborg, Denmark, at the Jutland Stock Show there were at least twenty-five thousand there at all times and they drank beer like water but I did not see a single man under the influence of liquor. Another thing that I noticed on the streets in Denmark, Sweden, and so far in Norway is that I have not seen a single lady with her lips "stickered" or her face rouged. They are a fine healthy lot and are a vast contrast with those seen on the streets of London.

• • • •

I was talking with a large employer of labor on the train this morning and he told me that labor conditions in Norway were anything but good. They have the dole system here and it is working its hardship of all. The government is taking care of those that do not care work, and there are a lot that manage not to have anything to do. The dole pays $12.50 quite a bit of money but not all there are, and so they take their meals and clothes for four days a week and then charge enough for the clothes to make that they are as well paid as those who work in the lumber camps and mills. This makes things in the labor market very unstable.

The crops all over Denmark are very good. In fact they are better than they have been for years and the farmers are quite happy and are coming out of the depression very nicely. But labor in the cities is in for a bad time as there is not enough work.

There is one thing that the farmers of Norway, Sweden and Denmark could use with us to the advantage of both countries and that is their fine roads were literally lined with them coming in to the fair. Along the roadside the pasting is done over the handlebars of a bike.

I passed by the River Glommen this morning and had pointed out to me the hulk of the "Fram", the ship Nansen tried to discover the North Pole with, and is now beneath a relic of almost four years' effort to gain fame by explorers and hard fighting of ice floes of the Arctic regions.

• • • •

When I landed in Oslo this morning I immediately went up to see the United States Minister, Lauritz Swenson, formerly a Minnesota county boy, and I had a fine visit with him. Besides doing me several little courtesies he has arranged for me to have a private audience with the King of Norway tomorrow noon. This I feel very grateful for as the King rarely receives except by appointment made at least a couple of days in advance and this audience is not on one of his regular receiving days.

• • • •

I was very sorry to have just missed a call from President Boe of St. Olaf college the other day in Minneapolis. He headed the Dairy Congress and heard the discussion on feeding and later on to dairy cows of the steady ration. After hearing it he beat it for the wart at Southampton and took the first boat for home and will try to tell the wise cows in America a few new wrinkles in ensilage.

SUNFLOWERS THRIVE IN QUACK GRASS GROUND

Rev. J. J. Pederson harvested a crop of sunflowers which made a wonderful growth during the season. In the latter part of May he planted some sunflower seed in a patch of quack badly infested with quack grass. He gave the patch a once-over feeing then sled back and watched the sunflowers grow! Some of these reached a height of 11 feet and 9 inches and many matured before the frost. For rapid growth, plant on the right kind soil, sunflowers outdistances all other vegetation in this climate.—Badger Herald-Bulletin.

TOUCHDOWN.

Football surveys the arena. In every hamlet, town and city we hear the cheering of the fans. Rising or set each affiliate is the refrain—either expressed or hoped for—"Touchdown! Touchdown!"

Football games are won by scoring. Scoring follows team play, co-operation, concentration, the will to win and an inherent love for the sport.

Observation of a team at play gives us the exact measure of its teamwork and concentration of its coaching efficiency of the moral support of the student body.

One of the finest features of the game is the good sportsmanship of the fans. Enthusiastic in putting heart into their van leans, they are prompt to give recognition to keen plays by the other side.

What a glad day when we can have this spirit carried over into school and community life. It will produce the equivalent of the touchdown in the class room.

The schools have just entered on their yearly campaign against pupil failures; a contest against public and political interest; a contest against inefficiency and apathy. It is a contest against the tendency to underestimate the importance of schooling; a contest against the temptation of a job with ready money; a contest against school routine and discipline; against lagging interest when success seems to not be vitalized or motivated; against a single standard set of progress; against dissipation of energies and distraction of interest through outside amusements. Here is a arduous contest, well worth the absorbing interest of every member of the community.

As the outcome of a football game rests heavily on coaching efficiency, it falls to teachers and school officials, as a coaching staff, to build up a winning body of pupils. It can be taken for granted that the school's ambitions are stirred for a successful year. But what they can achieve will be only in proportion to the loyal play of the student body and the loyal support of the public.

Fans there are who are dissatisfied with the results. When the coaching staff and they tell how the team should be run. But successful teams are the product of careful selection of men by the coaching staff, who, in turn, intist to be entrusted with the development of the team. There are school critics who would like to run the schools from the side lines. But the success of the school is dependent on the careful selection of the administrative staff, teaching force, who, in co-operation with the Board of Education, must be entrusted with the conduct of the schools.

Confidence in and support of the coach is essential to victory on the gridiron. It is so with our schools. The educational coaching staff have been selected. They are mindful of their responsibilities. They are, for a scoring year, if it is worth while to stress the football game for its sport's sake, it is worth while to stress schooling for the child's sake. If victory is desirable for the team, success in schooling is doubly worthwhile for the student body. If winning the game is gratifying to the fans, school efficiency should be equally satisfying to taxpayers and public.

A competent head coach, no shirking of assistants, a co-operative group of pupils and a loyal public will produce a successful season—a victory and an inherent love for the sport.

Observation of a team at play gives us the exact measure of its teamwork and concentration of its coaching efficiency of the moral support of the student body.

GRAND FORKS WINS OVER LOCAL TEAM

100 Lincolnites Attend Second Football Game of Season, Lost 18-3

Long cherished hopes that the Lincoln high football team would go scoreless in the season undefeated were shattered when the Grand Forks gridders got away with an 18 to 3 victory in a game which was not as one-sided as the result might indicate. The teams clashed on the green turf in the new stadium until a year ago at the University of North Dakota. Over a hundred local fans made the journey giving great support to the team with lusty shout of cheering.

First Score Favors Thief River

Thief River had first scoring honors with well-placed kick in the first quarter, but could not maintain or increase their lead, due to a crippled line and the weight of their opponents.

In the second quarter, the Norsks managed to score twice, one of which came on a straight-place pass.

The third quarter was fought on comparatively even terms with the Minnesota boys fighting for a touchdown in the fourth quarter, when a pass was intercepted in the ball carriers line and the weight of their opponents.

Central Touchdown.

The Thief River lads received the ball on the kick-off and carried it down the field by long gains of passing, using their one bucks and cut-backs to the best advantage of the play. The local fans were sent at the stage of the game, raising for a touchdown; the team responded, and a referal pass from center to Arnson, who scampered over the goal line, failing to have the ball carried back due to both teams being on-side.

Carlson, who had been out of the line-up for over a week, was called out in the line to attempts a place kick which he made good, giving the locals the nine points of the game.

Thief River was again given two more chances to score on recovering fumbles down near their opponents goal line but couldn't work up the punch to put over a touchdown. They failed to take the ball through a form goal line stand, with their backs to their own goal.

In the second quarter, The Forks made a touchdown, starting two backs downs in quick order over heavy center smashing through the local line for good gains. Thief River's line was not out of the hard head on type seen in former years, but nevertheless would no doubt have been stopped on the line of scrimmage.

Coming back in the third quarter, both teams played on even terms, Injuries, fumbles, left guard, was removed from the play with Mickelson filling his shoe. Mickelson did some nice interception work on punts and line bucks were made by both teams, but the locals were unable to punch the ball down until the fourth quarter, when the speedy Bostad tore loose for more than a score around end, taking the ball down in scoring territory.

Both teams were fighting hard, when the whistle blew with Grand Forks in possession of the ball.

School was dismissed for Thursday and Friday of this week because of the Teachers' Convention which is being held in Bemidji during October 4, 5, and 6.

This convention which is held annually was held in Thief River Falls last year at this time, teachers from all of Northern Minnesota districts are represented.

PLANS MADE FOR DEBATE SEASON

Question Concerns Protection of Private Investments in Foreign Countries

Preparations for the 1928-29 debate season are going ahead rapidly; material is being sent for, and preliminary work will soon begin in the public speaking classes.

The question to be debated this season is: "Resolved, that the United States should cease protecting private investments and capital in foreign countries except in time of war. This is a question which concerns one of the largest international problems of today. Although narrowed down to the United States, it takes up a problem that confronts every large nation in the world. It touches our dealings with Nicaragua and the other American countries as well as our dealings in China, according to Mr. Ophlen, who will have charge of the debate work.

It will be noted that last year marked the beginning of a new system of eliminating inter-scholastic debates. Prior to that time, a school that lost a debate it was removed held during November. The second from further competition. Each year school in each district engages in a series of debates with other schools in the conclusion of which the one has the largest number of judges' votes is declared champion. The same plan is used in regional eliminations after the district champions are: Halfdok, Roseau, Thief River Falls, Warren, and Crookston.

Last year the award for debating was changed from Bemidji to an old English trophy.

The method of selecting the members of the debate squad has varied considerably during the last few years. Some of the different methods have been the great-est sensation—of America's greatest industry!

And never was a success more soundly deserved—for the Bigger and Better Chevrolet embodies fourteen years of continuous progress in the building of quality automobiles and endless elements of beauty, performance, dependability, long life and economy never before combined in any low-priced automobile.

A Tale of a Musical Life

Seated on a highly polished stool before a highly polished piano a lad of six with ears streaming down his face, his curly head tousled from the recent struggle, was clumsily finding the right keys. His mother and father were standing behind him listening to the little musician as he struggled with the piece. The child was destined to find his career there music even though at the age of six he loved the out-of-doors better than his piano.

Mr. C. M. Swenson was born in St. Paul, but shortly afterward moved with his parents to Kasota, also in Minnesota. His father was born in Sweden but came to this country while still a child. The elder Swenson is a very gifted man, being able to carve works of art out of rosin. Music could be little Carl's hobby but his profession must be that of a teacher.

At a recital attended by twelve people he and one of his two younger sisters played a piano duet. Little Swenson and his sister seated themselves at the piano. All went well at first; then the audience was astounded at a sudden discord. The number was a finale musically, but it created a lasting impression upon us it had a charming effect anyway.

The clarinet was the idol of Carl Swenson when he started taking lessons on it. While studying diligently in the meantime, he earned by cooking and baking delicious things for him to eat. She was from Germany and although only young when she came in the United States she had acquired the German custom of always keeping a well-provisioned pantry. Her generosity, too, encouraged his pupil of the delicacies by his own wonderful musicianship.

Mr. Swenson evidently liked to play the clarinet and he started taking lessons on the saxophone when he was in the eighth grade. Learning to play these two instruments meant different effort on the part of the pupil, but Mr. Swenson was he with wind instruments that he would rather make music than play with the other keys.

Then came the on a journey following Mr. Swenson on his musical career, listening in through the keyhole to him practicing. Always he went to county fairs, concerts, etc., with the St. Peter's band as an alternate to Gustavus Adolphus where he went to college. Here he played the instrument through which all uttered hearts and gave his thoughts to the world. MacDall relates that when the MacDall School of music came into a head Mr. Swenson was just try to get it out. Studying and teaching were accomplished with the greatest success as it did in the Rowe school of music. Mr. Rowe, a musician of great standing, taught him to play all wind instruments, banjo and violin. Also he play in band and orchestra. Mr. Swenson went even further in his musical career. From Minneapolis orchestra men found him his directing.

Is it right to say that music is his hobby and teaching science and history is his career or vice versa? He has already taught two years in Grand Rapids High School. Every place he goes he uses his musical ability to delight the people as he did in Grand Rapids.

Mr. Swenson had two great passions—his music and his love. One day as he was passing a house he looked up. On the balcony were seen two restless feet tripping along its length. Never before had he seen a more charming pair. Diligently he sought an introduction to her. Charmed was she by his music and she must have said yes for she is now his wife. How perfect is music, art, and love—may they rule supreme in the Swenson family—Jasper and ever.

Such is Trunk-riding!

"Hey! Let me out!" My fourth-form pen is freezing!" issued the plaintive wail from the frozen vocal chord of our own Otto Strand.

It was then that we all awoke to the fact that we were cold-and-hungry.

Hey, every one in the corner; there's a sandwich in every one of them two urmore ofyou; at least three dozen inches of space going to waste."

"Ouch, get off my buslons, and quit tramping on my footsies, oh, that old trunk you are, anyway, a log of wood."

"Is that Grand Forks over behind that pile or is it only a cinder path?"

"Well, if you'll get your nose out of my eye I might be able to see something besides blackbreads."

"Are you cold or are you only trying to get warm by shaking me?"

"Please pass the canned heat."

"Ouch, Angus", sang out the bus driver, "Get out for a look at the moon." So saying, we all trailped gaily forth and hilariously paraded the crowded streets of the metropolis, the bus driver leading the procession in the evening street cars. We reached a new square building from which issued the cry "All this way, a dance." Here we were friendly requested to vacate so back to our bus we went.

STATE PRODUCES MORE THAN HALF OF NATION'S ORE

More Than Five Million Tons Shipped by Mines of This State Last Year

Minnesota produced nearly four-seventhes of all the iron ore mined in the United States during 1927 it is shown in the annual Minnesota Mining Directory, 1928, just published by the Experiment Station of the University of Minnesota College of Mines. Natural production was around 65,000,000 tons, of which Minnesota mines shipped 56,561,854 tons. The 1927 shipments represent a decrease of 8,840 or 5,200,000 tons under 1926. The basic price of standard ore was $4.55 a ton, delivered, at Lake Erie ports. Standard ore contains 51.5 per cent iron.

More than a third of the ore shipped from Minnesota mines has been treated by crushing, washing, sintering or screening to eliminate waste matter or improve its form for smelting, the report shows. Mines experts point to these figures as showing that mines are gradually getting into the zones of lower grade that can not be shipped "straight." Big investments have gone into crushing and washing plants on the theory that in the next ten years more than 15,000,000 tons of ore will require beneficiation or one and one-half times as much as was required the first year it was dumped. Washed ore loses about 5 per cent in weight.

The report states that the estimated reserve tonnage of Minnesota ore on May 1, 1928, exclusive of non-Bessemer, low-grade ore, was 1,-[illegible] tons. This is a [illegible] commercial ore amounting to [illegible] tons of which approximately 15,000,000 tons is carried on the tax records.

It is to find means of making these ores useful, and therefore an asset to the state as well as to the owners, and the communities in which they lie, that most of the experiments at the Mines Experiment Station are being conducted.

Other figures on the mining industry show that 14,000 men were employed in the Lake Superior district during the year, an additional 2,000 on railways chiefly serving the mines, and 2,000 in the shipping end of the ore industry. The value of ore shipped in 1927 was $70,000,000. Railway shipments from underground and open pit mines were about the same, underground mines produced 3,846 tons per season, and open pit mines 9,161 tons per man. Iron conditions has been brought about by the thorough merchantilization of the mining industry.

SCORES PARTY REGULARITY AS BASIS FOR ELECTION

Senior Senator Addresses Capacity Crowd at Auditorium Last Night

"Most of our problems are economic in character; many of them have been created by political action, and can be remedied only by legislation," Senator Henrik Shipstead said in an address before a crowd that packed the city auditorium last night.

"Our government was established to assure the greatest justice and equality before the law; not only between individuals but also between industries and sections. When the power of government is used to favor one industry, and not another, it is unjust, and the fundamental precepts of our government are violated.

"There has been injustice. During the past few years legislation has been passed that has given some industries an advantage over others. The Esch-Cummins law enabled the railroads a "fair" return, and freight rates were based on it. The Fordney-McCumber tariff law assures high prices for manufactured goods. Legislation that was designed to raise the price of farm products were rejected. The McNary-Haugen bill, like the Esch-Cummins law and the Fordney-McCumber tariff, designed to help a particular industry, by raising prices. But the same administration that approved special price-fixing legislation for railroads and manufacturers refused it for the farmers.

"There is not nearly as much prosperity in the farming districts as there appears to be in the editorials in the newspapers and magazines. In 1920, the farmers income has dropped 42 per cent. Four thousand banks have been closed. Farm indebtedness has been steadily increasing. During the past year it increased $2,000,000,000. In our best diversified sections farms can be bought for less than the value of the buildings. While the farmers' income was decreasing 42 per cent, the stocks of the thirty leading corporations of the country increased in value 70 per cent. The increase in industry was not received by laborers, because wages dropped 30 per cent.

Without naming specifically his Republican opponent for the United States Senate, Senator Shipstead announced that while only appeal for support was party regularity, "I have found that pretty consistently long regular service has been rewarded with pay. Had I been regular, I could not have voted for the McNary Haugen bill, nor the Soldiers Bonus, nor the investigation which resulted in the department of Justice under Daugherty; I could not have fought for the anti-injunction bill, nor for the protective tariff on farm products. The regulars have also attended to the tariff now voted against it when they had power to put it into effect. It is not natural to be interested in changing to the constants of any other commodity. I must be true to the farmers, because the big new gunners will not, and I have not, one regular, like the others to start for me. If you are satisfied with my record, I want you to stand by me when the election ballots appear on the next Tuesday-Bye."

Being obliged to be on hand to catch a train, Senator Schaller requested relinquishment of platform to Senator Shipstead for the [illegible] stream from the North Dakotan, as the latter had already had an excellent record in Congress.

Mr. Wefald, who served two terms in Congress, being defeated by C. G. Wing in 1924, promised his audience that he would go back Washington and use what he is elected, and said he would be the farmers' protector, "will not be a rubber stamp for financial silvers."

Declaring that the "regulars" who now profess sympathy for the farmers have had their chance, he said that returning to office would be guilty of treachery of injuries for the party and of discrimination that has impoverished agriculture.

State Senator Laura E. Sapiro, the first woman member of the upper house in the state legislature, introduced the speakers.

He is then mistaken for Lorin Wakefield who is to be the honored guest of the college at this time. It is around Jerry that all the fun revolves.

The Butler and Egg man from Omaha, Norbert Holdereich, all fall in love with Jerry, believing him to be a wealthy widow and try to propose. Jerry's antics in keeping away from them and the mixups caused by the Butler, Father Ojection to the student's wife, Laura Bowers as Jerry's self, Paul Melby and Dan Snyder as freshmen, Paul deanian as fraternity President, and Gladys Olson as president of women all help in carrying out the plot of the play.

The real high lights of the show are the famous flapper chorus and the old time glee club. In the flapper chorus local business men dress up as current college girls and portray every character in the flapper set from school teachers. The glee club members dress in the college togs of the day and sing all the old time songs dilties. The meeting was called hastily Saturday afternoon by F. F. Haynes, Republican county chairman, when talk began that the two men were to speak while here Saturday evening, and could return here for a 9 o'clock meeting.

Mr. Nolan discussed the national issues in which the Mid-Western farmers are interested, primarily the St. Lawrence waterway, which he said would be postponed indefinitely if the Dakota project should be completed as soon as possible under Herbert Hoover. Inaction in the past has been due largely to the opposition of New York, he said.

"Our interests are safer with a man who was born in Iowa than with one who was born in New York City", he continued. "This is the first time that the country has ever had a chance to vote for a presidential candidate who was born west of the Mississippi."

Mr. Nolan advocated the election of the entire Republican ticket. "While I admire Senator Shipstead, his campaign was based on party regularity and I will follow the party principles", declared Mr. Nolan, who is Shipstead's reorganization plan, with an executive budget system, is the same one that has been established in New York by Governor Smith, he said.

"Later has the protection of reciprocal immigration by the tariff. The protection of the tariff. Agriculture has some protection in the debenture plan, which is now in the hands of the entire Republican ticket."

Mr. Youngquist, who delivered a short address, also urged the election of the Republican ticket, declaring that Governor Smith, Shipstead, Langer and Howell, Democratic candidate for governor, are all opposed to the present administration.

No Sentiment In Ontario For St. Lawrence Waterway Commercial Club Is Told

"There is no sentiment in Ontario for the St. Lawrence waterway", said Dr. P. O'Neil in a short talk before the Commercial Club last Thursday noon. Mr. O'Neil remanded his address at a Minnesota conservation with a member of the Ontario Parliament, who said that the Dominion government is not behind the joint control of the St. Lawrence waterway. Mr. O'Neil, who is a member of the state Board of Grain Appeals and a former State Senator from this district, said he is a strong Smith for President advocate, which is now the channel deepening project by Dr. Hoover.

The Canadian government has taken over the Welland canal, which is a more practical method of getting lower freight rates for the Middle West. The completion of the new canal would mean lower railroad freight down to a reasonable level, he said.

Rural Mail Patrons Urged To Cut Weeds Along Roads To Insure Winter Service

Do tourists Dan Shaw encourage that the annual campaign for clean post roads is now on. This year, as in every other year, weeds and brush have been allowed to remain uncut along certain stretches of road. If cut before snow falls, these will hold snow drifts, he pointed out. Farmers can help the mail carriers and motorists during the winter.

Weeds should be cut this month, Mr. Shaw says, and farmers and town boards will co-operate, the excellent mail service may be assured throughout the entire winter.

CHRISTIANSON SAYS SMITH DESERVES FARMER SUPPORT

ADDRESSES SMITH CLUB TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Accuses Administration of Refusing to Grant Equality to Agriculture

"I stand on the platform adopted by the Republican State Convention, and I believe I am a better Republican than Herbert Hoover," said Victor Anderson, who resigned from the position of Assistant Attorney General to campaign for Al Smith, at a meeting in the Commercial Club room, Tuesday afternoon.

"That convention went squarely on record in favor of the Mc-Nary-Haugen Bill, and showed that Republicans of Minnesota could support only those candidates who had shown themselves to be in sympathy with it. It is impossible to vote both on state platforms, and on the national platform, which repudiates the bill and its essential features.

"The Democratic and Farmer-Labor state conventions adopted planks identical with the Republican on this issue. There is no reason why members of all three parties can not join in this, the greatest fight for equality in agriculture ever waged. The Democratic national platform and its candidate, Al Smith, are pledged to the fundamental principles of the McNary-Haugen bill. Work promised is a step at the administration, and that the platform didn't mean anything anyway. We have already been disappointed in demanding the McNary-Haugen bill, they had enough votes to nominate Hoover on a platform without the last, and that they could elect him on that platform. Now they have reconsidered, and find they need the farm vote.

"The Republicans say that Smith is absolutely committed to the McNary-Haugen Bill. His statements have been satisfactory to farmers in the North, leader of the farm bloc in Congress, not to most of the farm leaders. They can be understood and misunderstood only by his enemies, those who do not want to be convinced.

"The Republican campaign textbook says that the principal solution to gradually working itself out. Senator Nye of North Dakota says that if agriculture is improving, it is dying from improvements."

A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

IMPROVED COLD WEATHER PERFORMANCE Resulting from the

CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR

The cross-flow radiators in the cooling systems of the Pontiac Six and the Oakland All-American Six reduce to a minimum the evaporation of water and alcohol. An automatic thermostat prevents water circulation until the engine reaches correct operating temperature. As a consequence the engine warms up quickly and less choking is needed, reducing dilution of crankcase oil. Because of the protection the cross-flow radiator provides against losses of water and alcohol, the Pontiac Six and the All-American Six require less attention in winter than other cars. Also, through their thermostatic control, they reveal far better performance than other cars in their fields when the temperature is low... The cross-flow radiator is available only on the Pontiac Six and the All-American Six. Come in and see it. And learn while you're here of the many other advancements which only these two great General Motors Sixes provide.

THE CAMPAIGN AND THE FARMER

The principle issue and the most important consideration in the present presidential campaign as far as this community is concerned is farm relief. It is on this issue that both political parties are seeking support in this community. And it is perfectly proper that the election in this community be decided on this issue.

We believe that Governor Smith is wrong on the prohibition question. We believe he is wrong on the immigration question. We believe he is wrong on several other important questions, but we could overlook every other defect that we find in his platform and in his policies if we could satisfy ourselves that our community would become a more prosperous community with him in the White House than with Herbert Hoover in the White House. But while we are not deluded with any unreasonable hopes of miraculous improvement in our circumstances if Hoover is elected, we are unable to find any assurance whatsoever of progress for this community under the leadership of Smith and the Democratic party.

It is fair to state that the greatest obstacle to the prosperity the farmers of this community is their indebtedness. The indebtedness of the average farmer of the Northwest is a big figure, and the discouraging thing about this indebtedness in many instances is that there has never been any real value received for it. In many cases farmers are laboring under a burden of debt that was contracted under the fictitious values of the inflation period. These values crumbled under the blow of deflation, but the debt has remained, and it is this struggle to pay inflation debts with deflation dollars that is the principle farm problem today.

It is a fair question in this campaign to ask what the Republican administration has done to relieve this distress, but before we ask that question let us ask which party caused this distress. The answer is clear. It was under the Democratic administration of the Federal Reserve bank immediately following the war that money was made plentiful. Anybody that had a name could borrow it. Loans were urged upon the farmers and they were encouraged to speculate in lands. They were encouraged to spend money recklessly. Then in 1920 the Federal Reserve Board ordered a severe restriction of credits. The rest of this story does not need repeating. The 1920 crop, produced under peak costs, was forced upon the market at ridiculously low prices. There is no room for an argument as to where the deflation took place. It took place during the Democratic administration and as a direct result of the deliberate deflation policy of the Democratic controlled Federal Reserve Board. Agriculture was thoroughly deflated when the Democrats went out of office in March of 1921.

Now let us consider what the Republicans have done to relieve these conditions as they found them in the Spring of 1921. The first thing that they did was to pass the Farmers' Emergency Tariff, which became a law in May of that year. The tariff law applied solely to agricultural products and remained in effect until the passage of the Fordney-McCumber tariff in September, 1922, and its schedules were embodied in the new law with comparatively few changes. Under the Democratic Underwood tariff practically all farm products were on the free list and our country was being flooded with the food products of other countries. Under the Republican tariff protection was given to most farm products with the result that many of those farm products of which we do not produce a surplus have gradually strengthened in price and today are bringing our farmers a good return.

The benefits of this tariff can easily be found here in our own community. For example take the butterfat market. In 1920, when, with a duty of only 2½ cents a pound under the Underwood tariff, this country imported 37½ million pounds. These imports drove the price down and in May of 1921 butterfat was worth less than 30 cents. Under the Republican tariff the price strengthened and for the last two years butter on the Chicago market has brought at least 10c a pound more than the export price paid for butter at Copenhagen, Denmark. The average monthly settlement by the local creamery to the farmers of this community for their butterfat during the first nine months of this year was approximately 56c a pound. It is fair to say that 10c of this price is due to the Republican tariff which is now 12c a pound on all imports and 18c a pound on imports from Australia.

Another important product of this community is livestock. While practically all meats and meat products were on the free list under the Democratic tariff, the present tariff provides a rate of 6c a pound on beef and veal, and 4c a pound on fresh lamb. The tariff on poultry was raised from 2c a pound to 6c. It is not a difficult matter to figure out what this protection means to the farmers of our community. In 1927 the average price of beef at Chicago was $11.30 a hundred, while at Buenos Aires, Argentine, it was only $5.22. Figuring the average prices received by the producers on the first day of December, beef cattle have gone from $4.62 in 1921 to $8.32 in 1927; lambs have gone from $6.60 in 1921 to $11.20 in 1927; wool has gone from 16.1c in 1921 to 30.7c in 1927, and flax has gone from $1.45 in 1924 to $1.95 in 1927. Were we free under the Underwood tariff but there is a duty of 4c a dozen now, and certainly is fair to say that a part of the price that has been paid for eggs this past year is due to the protection of the Republican tariff.

These are items in which our community is interested. The prices of grains are down, it is true. The tariff has had very little effect upon the price of grains due to the fact that we produce a surplus. But why should this community worry about the price on grain. Considering our average yield, if wheat was worth $3 a bushel we couldn't raise it profitably in this community. All the grain that can be raised in this community should be fed right here, and a low price on feed isn't a disadvantage, certainly.

Bringing this situation down to the present campaign, one of the candidates, Al Smith, points to the Underwood tariff which gave the farmer no protection, and presents it as a model of perfection. The other candidate, Herbert Hoover, champions the present tariff, not as a model of perfection but rather as a step in the right direction and to be strengthened where necessary. And the attitude of the two candidates on this question of tariffs indicates very clearly what can be expected from them in the way of farm relief.

From every standpoint it is good to guard against fires. It is good economy, good business, good morals, good religion, and good common sense. This week has been set aside as "Fire Prevention Week." Do your bit toward safeguarding life and property from fire loss by taking a few precautions against fire in the buildings that you occupy.

In his recent tour of the west Al Smith was a sorry spectacle. In trying to win farm votes without offending his city friends it was so painfully evident that he was straddling the fence that he actually made a wretched mess of the entire farm situation. In attempting to curry favor with the farmers of the McNary-Haugen bill that he was for the bill, and ridicule of the bill that he was against it, he lost many votes.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

OCTOBER 7 TO 13

You Can Read This in One Minute

You can read this in one minute!

By the time you reach the last line, property worth $1,461 will have been destroyed by fire somewhere in the United States.

Minute after minute, day after day, on the average, this appalling pace keeps up, to a grand yearly total of $536,000,000.

That, at least, was the record in 1926. What the showing will be this year, and in the years to come, depends, in large measure, on YOU.

Ninety per cent of all fires are preventable, for they are due to carelessness.

Take a look in your cellar, your attic, that closet. Clear out the rubbish—the old stuff stored away because "maybe some day you'll find a use for it." Many fires about the house are born in trash piles.

While insurance marks the difference between protection and destitution, every American home has its treasured possessions whose worth cannot be computed in terms of money and can never be replaced.

A minute's thought now may save the patient accumulation of a lifetime from the ravages of fire.

After all, it's chiefly a matter of protecting your own dwelling and those whose presence there makes it HOME.

Isn't it worth a minute to you?

Public Forum

Editor Times:

If the privileges of your Public Forum column are still open to me, I would like to avail myself of it.

Senator Borah spoke the other day in Minneapolis in the interests of Herbert Hoover. He spent two hours lauding the great abilities of the Republican candidate. He sought to make out of him a champion of the farmers during the time that Mr. Hoover acted as chairman of the Food Administration during the war.

It is interesting to know what Senator Borah thought about Mr. Hoover in 1919. I quote from the Congressional Record of January 18th, 1919, page 1665. Senator Borah had the floor. This is what he said:

"For the past four weeks I have been making a pretty thorough study of the relations of the food administration to the great concerns of the country when control and dominate the food supply of the country, and I say here upon the floor, and challenge successful contradiction, that three of the vast monopolies which now control food in this country have, with relation to the commodities, virtually controlled the food administration since its organization. I am not prepared to say by that, that Mr. Hoover, himself, has received any personal or individual benefit from any of them; I simply mean to say that his viewpoint is such that he gives to them, and does, to effect, fix their own prices and arranges their profits. I say to the extent that it is a case of an individual dealing with himself in the transaction. I do not charge, and I think all the facts which show how these commodities have been handled by the packers themselves, that their profits under Mr. Hoover amounted to all the way from 25 per cent for the past two years."

I am unable to explain the change that has come about in the Senator's views of Mr. Hoover. The possibility of a cabinet position undoubtedly has had its effect, to offered as an explanation of the mystery. He did say, it may, the alien speech of the Senator so far from the facts as they are on record as well as others during the same year delivered by Senator Borah and all with unquestionable authority as the Republican candidate for the presidency.

H. O. Lemme.

Dear Mr. Editor:—

In a recent issue of the "Times" one Mr. Wright made a statement as follows: In this article there is one statement which I shall not attempt to refute, it concerns the church and politics for which to say that I will make no reply. We do not need to know Mr. Wright for false statements as he is always ready to shake hands with everybody and everybody's friend and yet hurt no one feelings. Politics are a public affair and not private. Mr. Anderson has never made any promise.

The one statement that I wish to refer to Smith as a very fine gentleman who has never broken a promise. If that is true it must be because he has never made any promise.

The Smith supporter are very anxious to get lots of "dry" votes for Smith as they know there are not enough "wet" votes to elect him. They want to assure us that Smith will sincerely aware to enforce the Consti. Makes you enjoy your meals and sleep better. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. F. J. Stebbins, Druggist.

It would naturally be expected that sign such a bill. We know that before Mr. Anderson told us, Mr. Smith was just one of those smooth talk-easy politicians who before election is anxious to please all parties by saying one thing to one party and another thing to another party. Mr. Anderson is not that kind of a politician and therefore has never made any promise.

The Smith supporter are very anxious to get lots of "dry" votes for Smith as they know there are not enough "wet" votes to elect him. They want to assure us that Smith will sincerely aware to enforce the Consti. Makes you enjoy your meals and sleep better. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. F. J. Stebbins, Druggist.

DON'T LET THEM PASS .

Every life affords opportunities for building up noble character. We are sent into the world to build up character that will be blessed and useful in that great future for which we are being trained. There is a niche which only we can fill, a crown which only we can make, music which only we can awaken, and service which only we can render.

There are four things that will never come back to us—the spoken word, the sped arrow, the past life, and the neglected opportunity. If we think that our opportunities are not good enough, we should try to improve them. As a general rule, those who have no opportunities despise small ones; and those who despise small opportunities never get large ones.

Accident does very little toward the production of any great results in life, though sometimes what is called a "happy hit" may be made by a venture. The old and common highway of steady industry and application is the only safe road to travel. It is not usually accident that helps a man in the world, but purpose and persistent industry. Those make a person alert to discern opportunities, and turn them to account. To the feeble, the sluggish, the purposeless, the happiest opportunities pass away small with nothing. They pass them by seeing friend and guide to the maiden thrown in the way of college days, and, in every families were to come to most of us, place in which she taught, namely: we could make a Manitou, a Hamline, they would pass by as unnoticed to some- city of Minnesota, where she received someone with more nerve, grit, or her A.B. degree from the University of spiritual power than we possess. Therefore, of all things, do not ignore your opportunities.

FACULTY ROMANCE

No children! There once lived a family who was not for the very reason. After the story was told been engaging in the Civil war, returned, four sons, to tease their reunion, a little girl. In the latter was no interest that although not rich he enjoyed a spinnet containing and its name was Josephine of the land. He decided to have six fairies to act as godmothers.

On the unfortunate father had forgotten to invite one evil fairy; however, she came! One of the young fairies knew how wicked was this crone, so she slipped away and hid herself in order to grant the last wish.

The fairies now began to bestow their gifts upon the babe. One said, "Now shall ugly lead others into the pages of knowledge"; another, "She shall love good literature and beautiful pictures." And a third, "She shall have great wisdom and be a well-loved teacher"; a fourth, "She shall have a great sense of humor"; the fifth started, "She shall be kind, generous, and sympathize with her fellowmen." But the wicked fairy waited until she thought the last wish was made then she muttered, "Your fine gifts shall be outweighed by my evil one. The child is destined to be a disappointment to the rest of her life." With these words of the crone trampled out of the chamber, and all was still.

But the good fairy rushed forward quickly, "I've not given my gift yet. I must see that the parents were pleased with the good water, and grew strong and healthy. Then I must see instructive hand."

The parents were delighted with the child and filled Florence Ostrem, assistant. Estelle Hansen and Otto Stenberg will have charge of features. This position much needed and original work.

Address on Temperance; Senior Motto Dedicated

Two special assemblies were held on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in observance of two important occasions, namely: "Frances Willard" Day and the dedication of the senior banner.

Father Marth gave an appropriate talk on "temperance" in remembrance of Frances E. Willard. In opening, he explained that he wished to treat that subject merely from a reasonable or ethical standpoint rather than from the religious or moral point of view. He showed the bad effects of excess in the satisfaction of its natural human desires aroused by hunger, thirst, and the preservative instinct.

"In the dreams of the parents," remarked the speaker, "there are many presidents in this assembly." He drove home the point that it is the duty of the students not to bring grief and disgrace to their parents and family.

In honor of the dedication of the Senior banner on Wednesday, Attorney Paul Lundgren spoke upon some line of thought suggested by the adopted motto, which is "Out of the Harbor into Deep Channels." He described how a ship will be on their own old sip and fight, sadly, ready to get when the wheels of life start a-going off. This third game of the season is on the second home game. So far Thief River has met no defeat, has tied one game, and still has a game to win. The team of the past three years and this year have not as yet been outscored on the home field, and we hope to keep it again to be subjected to a test on Saturday.

Last years contrast, played at Crookston on a wet field, resulted in a 0-0 tie. The story of Mr. De Kay's success was held down due to repeated fumbling.

Crookston has always been Thief River's greatest rival in northern Minnesota. The two have always clashed during the last two years by holding powerful local teams to low scoring.

CROOKSTON PLAYS LINCOLNITES SAT.

Commercial Club Sponsors Game With Thief River's Greatest Rival

Coach Boe's galaxy of grid artists have been drilling hard for these last two weeks in preparation for the Crookston contest next Saturday, October 13, which will be sponsored by the local Commercial Club. The Commercial Club, composed of local business men, has arranged, as last year, to promote and take charge of a high school foot-ball game. The committee in charge is composed of three men who have keenly demonstrated their interests in local athletics. They are: Paul Lundgren, Chairman; Roy Lambert, and Joe Holte.

Last year's game, sponsored by the business men, was played with Hillsboro, North Dakota, and was a great success, both by attendance and financially.

Everything had a two week intermission since the Grand Forks game and a good stiff drilling for the last week, so the boys will be on their toes with old sip and fight, sadly, ready to get when the wheels of life start a-going off. This third game of the season is on the second home game. So far Thief River has met no defeat, has tied one game, and still has a game to win. The team of the past three years and this year have not as yet been outscored on the home field, and we hope to keep it again to be subjected to a test on Saturday.

9TH RECORD BREAKING MONTH!

GREATEST SEPTEMBER IN WILLYS-OVERLAND HISTORY

141% AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

MONTH after month, Willys-Overland's sales records have been smashed throughout the year. And the big parade goes on—last month being the greatest of all September's in the Company's 20-year history, and 141% ahead of last year.

This towering structure of success has its foundations deep down in the sound elements of dollar-for-dollar value—improved operating economy and dependable performance of the Whippet Four, Whippet Six and Willys-Knight Six.

The Whippet Four offers to light car buyers many engineering advantages formerly found only in costly cars. The Whippet Six is the world's lowest-priced Six, with 7-bearing crankshaft and other important superiorities. The Willys-Knight Six—at the lowest price in history—is bringing the marked advantages of the patented double sleeve-valve engine to thousands of new owners.

WOMEN'S CLUB ADDRESSED BY MRS. BAYLISS

Course In Family Finance Recommended As Solution For Divorce Problem

IMPORTANCE OF CHILD TRAINING EMPHASIZED

"Accomplish One Needed Service For Your Community A Year", Speaker Says

Approximately eighty members of the Women's Club attended the annual 1 o'clock luncheon held at 1:30 o'clock Monday at the Lowell hotel. Mrs. Mildred Bayliss, Chisholm, state president of the Federated Club was the principal speaker for the day, addressing the audience on "Club Work" Prior to being seated at the tables, Mrs. Andrew Bottelson, president of the local chapter presented the toasts and all present drank to the health of the honor guest, Mrs. Bayliss, to Mrs. Daniel Shaw, who has been an untiring club worker since the inception of the organization and to the past presidents in what T. U. Winter of Minneapolis, national president of the Federated termed as the most popular drink in America today.

In addressing the group Mrs. Bayliss said, "I want you to help me identify your club study, that you accomplish at least one needed service for your community each year, and that you accomplish at least one needed service for your community each year, and that you assume more responsibility for the moral and spiritual growth of your community."

"Our objective this year are very real and definite, "Mrs. Bayliss continued "We must strive to keep our club membership at least 100 per cent in order to ensure progress. We must work for a study club in every town in every club in which there are young people, and better equip our homes so that family life may be happier. I endeavor must be made to bring about this condition. We must realize that before they leave the eighth grade—some reaching as early as 10 years—real training for the boys and girls in preparation for the boys in agriculture for the boys in agricultural communities. We must continue spreading the gospel of better homes, the building of dams along the northern boundaries of our state. Belligerent training for all children in time of peace should be encouraged. A course in Family Finance should be taken up in each club toward a solution of the divorce problem. We should install business methods for all our club finances, and make an effort to double our membership. We must work to promote good health for women by the use of the entire year to educate for safety in the home because of the rapidly increase in the number of fatal accidents there. As a definite aid in accomplishing our towns, we should have a flower contest. Another of our leaders with can—those who are kind, who judge charitably, who accomplish unselfishly, who practice self restraint, who seek the truth, who serve cheerfully and who are loyal."

Other numbers on the program were a community-singing led by Mrs. O. F. Melby, two selections, Miss Ohl Evans and "Fairy Cradle" sung by Mrs. O. F. Melby. Mrs. Ed. W. Hoover, Mrs. Tobias Reep and Mrs. Halvor Lokken. The quartet was accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Anderson. A violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. Swanson gave two pleasing numbers and reports on the group work for the year were given by Mrs. E. W. Minor and Mrs. G. W. Hooren.

Hallowe'en decorations were used on the tables, the decorations being in charge of Mrs. A. J. Cottrell, Mrs. H. J. Lund and Mrs. W. C. Aldridge.

The next general meeting will be held Monday evening, November 12 at the high school auditorium. This will be guest night and each club member may invite five guests, and a special invitation is extended to the officers of the new school district. The nature of the evening entertainment will be announced at a later date.

A silver tea given by Gretel Lowe Arnold. This will be May 20, 1929 at the public appearance here this year. A limit of 150 is being placed on the program for which a nominal admission will be made, the proceeds to be divided between the club treasury and the swimming pool fund.

The Arts and Crafts group will meet on Tuesday October 23 at 2 p. m. at the commercial club rooms and the Literary group will meet Thursday the 25th at the Library committee room at 7:45.

Over twenty five new members have come into the organization and present indications are that this will be one of the most successful years of the club.

Taxpayers Committee Will Petition For Payment of Taxes On State-Owned Land

Bureau Formed

... representing the Red ... association will last ... Paul, were they will ... by Rural Credits Bureau Friday, ... a plea for ... payments on State-owned lands. The members of the committee are Wm. Dahlquist, president of the association, Theodore Quale, president of the local Commercial Club, Robert Douglas, representing the Pennington county Farm Bureau, T. M. Severtson of Crookston and Sam Hunt of Red Lake Falls.

As a result of foreclosures on state loans, the Rural Credits Bureau now owns a large number of farms thruout the Red River Valley, which are not paying any taxes. In some school districts, loss of the school taxes has increased the burden upon the remaining taxpayers, beyond their capacity to pay.

The local Commercial Club has taken an active part in the effort to relieve the situation. At the meeting of the farm Bureau's executive committee Saturday, the board decided that separate in every way possible with the work of the association.

LOCAL ATTORNEYS DISCUSS ELECTION CAMPAIGN ISSUES

Landgren, Quale—Address Joint Meeting of Men's and Women's Hoover Clubs

The membership contest started two weeks ago by the Men's Hoover Club will be continued for two more weeks, members of the club decided at their regular weekly meeting in the Municipal building Monday evening. Details of both teams reported that there were still many political Hoover supporters who had not yet signed membership cards, and these should be reached before election day.

Theodore Quale, chairman of the membership organization, announced that one club had been formed at St. Hilaire and that a group is now organizing out to Goodridge to organize a club there. Next Monday night, although the farmers are a rule too busy to form local clubs, one may be organized at Plummer, Quale also said.

After the Men's and Women's Clubs had met in separate sessions, a joint meeting was held in the auditorium of the Normal Club room. Paul Landgren, Democratic candidate for governor, was the principal speaker. He discussed the farm problem from the Republican point of view.

The St. Lawrence Waterway is not a political issue, but an economic and financial one," said Mr. Lundgren. "It is not a new issue. Ever since the International Commission was appointed in 1909, but nothing was done until 1919, when six northwest states joined in the St. Lawrence Waterway association. An amendment to the Harrison act in the Senate required a report of the commission. The report estimated the cost of the canal at $250,000,000."

To indicate the value of the canal to the northwest, he said that grain three times as much to ship freight 900 miles by railroad as 6000 miles by water. "Even Duluth would grain from this section Duluth time fall off. The canal will prevent cheaper import of foreign commodities."

"The farm problem is deeper than 1921 and 1922," said Mr. Quale, after the speakers had finished. "It had first been drawn into politics by the Non-Partisan League, which is the campaign of 1918. Our population, which was originally moved to the cities, until at the present time 67 per cent of our people live in cities. Our purchasing power is now cheap food while the other people are paying the most high prices for farm products."

Accusing the Democrats of transferring the control of the agricultural opposition to the protective tariff, Mr. Quale said that he would like to have seen the McNary-Haugen bill passed, although he doubted if it would work. He declared that the exportable surplus should be taken care of, and that the best and most effective of goods of which there is a surplus, the Republican party proposes governmental financial aid to co-operative marketing agencies, but he could not understand the Democratic position, he said.

The Women's club extended an invitation to the Men's club to be their guests at the meeting next Monday night. A joint program is being planned.

SCHOOL LEVY CUT $5,000 FOR DIST. 18

Ample Cash Reserve Permits Reduction in Levy for Debt Service

RATE MAY BE REDUCED FROM 46.5 TO 43.5 MILLS

Proposed Budget Allows For Small Increase in Current Expense

The school levy for next year was cut $5,000 by the school board at the October meeting last Monday evening. A total of $65,000 was levied for District 18, as compared with $70,000 last year.

This levy is based on the following budget, proposed by Supt. Rye on the basis of last year's expenditures:

	Budget 1928-29	Expen. 1927-28
General Control:
School board	$ 400	$ 368
Supt's office	2,200	3,056
General administration	650	540
Instruction:
Salaries	53,107	52,414
Texts	3,000	3,247
Supplies	1,800	1,293
Operation	12,200	12,043
Maintenance	5,025	1,152
Fixed charges	2,225	2,192
Other expense payments	275	256
Outlays	2,250	1,756
Total current expense	93,257	90,600
Debt service	12,783	29,496
Total	$108,317	$120,224

A reduction was made in the levy for debt service, as a large cash reserve is now on hand to care for interest and principal payments that will fall due.

Cash on hand	$22,901
State Aid	43,950
Rental and credits tax	2,500
Special levy	68,000
Other receipts	2,500
Total	$134,640

With a probable tax delinquency of $4,000, there will be a balance at the end of next year of $22,323, on the basis of the proposed expenditures.

A motion was passed by the school board that in the future any parent who sends children to the public schools be exempt from attendance at school during the first week of the fall term.

The tax rate for school purposes this year was 46.5 mills. Under the proposed levy it will probably be about 43.5 mills, the total assessed valuation of the district not being fully compiled as County Auditor's office.

SCOUT UNITS DISCUSS AREA AFFILIATION

FUTURE POLICY LEFT FOR FURTHER DELIBERATION

Committee Appointed to Consider and Report Local Camp Site

F. G. Grady, Scout Executive of the Greater Grand Forks area, met with a group of local men interested in Scout work at the Commercial Club room Saturday night, to discuss the matter of affiliating with the local Boy Scout troops.

A year ago the three local troops were enrolled in the Grand Forks area, with the understanding that $400 was to be contributed toward the cost of regional supervision. Only a part of this amount was paid in, and the fact that full value had not been received, Mr. Grainger explained, that he was expected to take care of much of the additional work, returned to Minot, the result Mr. Grady found time to give but very little assistance to the Valley.

A committee which had been appointed at a previous meeting, met with Mr Grady, and decided that $60 would be a fair amount to pay on the balance due.

Continued affiliation with the Grand Forks area will be further discussed at a later meeting. Mr. Grady expects that a new assistant may be sent him, who will be able to give better service to the membership troops. He outlined the advantage of being associated with the regional organization, both to the member units and to the organization as a whole.

The committee which was appointed to consider a site for a local camp will meet again at the next meeting. Some satisfaction has been expressed with the camp at Union Lake, which is about 20 miles from the city, but the unanimous opinion of those present was that the search should be continued for a more suitable location.

Following the meeting, Joe LaDoe, chairman of the ticket committee, announced that there are still good seats available for both tonight and Friday. William Alexander Anderson Green Upchurch, who was recently transferred by the Western Union to another city, and who was married only a few days ago by Rev. Dr. Bjorneby, will be given a farewell party tonight at the Elks Hall for a Question Box party.

Flames Threaten Kiewel Ice House When Gasoline Tank Explodes Wednesday

Explosion of an empty gasoline tank started a fire that threatened the destruction of an ice-house and warehouse at the Kiewel plant of the Great Northern tracks yesterday noon. One of the employees at the plant attempted to remove a pile from a tank that was lying near the ice-house, in order to clear room to roll the tank out with a blow torch. Enough gasoline had evidently been left in the tank to explode with a crash that shook the windows all over town. Flames shot to the top of the ice-house and caught in the dry shingles and pack-ing. Small fires were started among the flames on the outside of the building, but these were soon put out, as the smoke and flames soon began to issue from the upper part of the building. Firemen experienced some difficulty in getting hose to play on the flames, but succeeded in confining the fire before any serious damage was done. Some of the ice in the warehouse and tank were fortunate in standing on the north side of it in the direction of the wind, so that they might have suffered some injuries and possibly death. The north wall of the ice-house was also damaged, and some water damage was done to stocks of bottled beer. Very little ice was left in storage at the plant, Mr. Kiewel said

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Ford

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except when repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

Wherever you live, you will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

Come in and see our new end tables, which we have received. We have them in all styles and prices.

You won't do it, of course, and neither will we. But would it be fine if we did our Christmas shopping in August instead of December 24th?

After a hard day at the office or in the kitchen, there's nothing quite so nice as a Cowell chair. Let us show you Cowell chairs. Bring the family in and look ours over.

Night before last we saw a man coming home from town carrying a lantern. Now you tell one.

How'd one of the over-stuffed suites look in your living room? Some new living room suites arrived at our store yesterday, they are upholstered in the Mohair and Velour covering. We would like you to see them. They say about the wonderful washer.

A French lady visitor recently told several records by looping the loop a hundred times. That's what we would call "moving in high circles."

Your sewing days are over when you have a Rhumba electric range. No need to scour your pots and pans then.

Kneeeping with a broom doesn't capture all the dust it simply transfers it from the floor to the furniture. That's why a Rhumba electric sweeper is the thing to use.

THE WHISKEY INSURRECTION

When our government first attempted to collect a tax on whiskey there was considerable opposition to the scheme. The tax was so unpopular, in fact, that the people took up arms against the government in defense of what they thought were their personal liberties. All of us have read of the whiskey rebellion of 1791. It took place in western Pennsylvania. It required an armed force to stamp out the insurrection. Order was finally restored, however, and the tax was collected in spite of the objections. Of course there was a lot of moonshining as a result of this tax and the moonshining of that period has continued in the mountains of Tennessee down to the present time.

At that time there were many people who thought the government shouldn't try to collect a tax that was so unpopular. There were many good people who were horrified over the increased lawlessness and who felt that the tax should be abolished for moral reasons. And there were skilful politicians who tried to ride into power on the unpopularity of this tax. But the attempt at that time didn't succeed either.

BORAH DISCUSSES ASSOCIATION

In his speech at Minneapolis a few weeks ago Senator William E. Borah of Idaho made a few comparisons between the associations of the two leading candidates for the presidency. His remarks were as follows:

The governor in his address at Helena, and also in St. Paul, made some reference to the oil scandal, and was particularly disappointed, somewhat severe, because Mr. Hoover hadn't spoken out as he should have spoken in regard to the matter. I do not desire that any word which I shall utter tonight, here or elsewhere, shall be constructed into an apology or an excuse for the miserable individuals who dishonored the party and betrayed their country in the great oil scandal. But I do desire, and I intend in an unmistakable manner as I can, to defend Herbert Hoover against the imputation of Governor Smith in regard to that matter, because Herbert Hoover sat in a cabinet where it turned out there was a man disregardful of all signs of honor and decency, the governor means to have the voters of this country condemn him for having been found in that company.

Is the governor willing to try this campaign upon the question of association? The governor has been a member of Tammany Hall for 40 years. Is he responsible for the stealing and the extortions of Croker? Is he responsible for the peculation and the jurisdiction and memories and unconscionable stealing of Charley Murphy? Is he willing to adopt the rule of vicarious responsibility in this campaign? When Murphy died four years ago—and so far away as the oil scandal—the New York Times, an able supporter of Governor Smith, said: "Tammany Hall has a long record. It is just as much a disgrace as it was 50 years ago that it is so often ruled by the secret and self-appointed oligarchy. Murphy was the exemplar and beneficiary of a system which, without office responsibility, degrades our official lives and which condemns New York city as suffer from maladministration and the lowest moral standards in public life." Of that organization the distinguished governor has been a leader for a number of years. And the same day that the New York Times published the editorial the governor gave an interview in which he said: "I am suffering from the loss of a close personal friend of many years' standing. He was a noble, clean, wholesome, right-living man." I am not surprised that the gentleman who has that conception of right high living is unable to understand the dignified, the honorable outlook of Herbert Hoover.

No, let us not try this in this campaign by association. It would be too severe.

THOSE BOOTLEGGERS' VOTES

It is interesting to notice the things that are being used against Hoover in this campaign. One of the statements that is being made quite generally by the opposition is that the bootleggers will vote for him. What a ridiculous statement to make. While we must admit we do not keep in sufficiently close touch with the community's bootleggers to be able to speak with authority upon the prevailing style of thought among them, it has been very evident that those few whom we have seen during the past few weeks have been very proud of their Smith buttons. The bootleggers will vote for officials who are not in sympathy with prohibition and who would, naturally, be both lax in the enforcement of the prohibition laws and lenient with those who violated them.

Governor Christianson talked for nearly two hours at the Auditorium Tuesday evening and his audience of twelve hundred people remained with him to the last word. Which indicates both that the Governor is an orator of unusual ability and also that the citizens of this community are interested in the issues of the present campaign. An interesting speaker and an interested audience make a happy combination.

If a man happens to guess right and gets rich, no matter how much wild-catting he has done, he will get credit for having made conservative investments. If he loses his money, no matter how conservative his investments may have been, it will be said that he lost out through speculation.

IF WE WERE ONLY RICH
(William Featherj

Somewhere today I read a short item which told about a man who wished he were rich in order that he might do something to make people happy.

He expressed this wish at lunch, and his friend to whom he made his confession observed that he was so irritable about his food that he had the poor waitress on the verge of tears. He sent back his steak because he said it was overdone, he complained that his dessert was not at hand when he wanted it, and he found his coffee unbearably hot.

Many are like that man. They would be different—if they had money.

All of us, I fear, are something like him.

If we were rich we would send our wives baskets of flowers every day, we would build playgrounds for poor children, and orphanages for dogs and cats.

Just at present we fail to offer even a mild delay to the wife, we turn down our thumbs at a request for a $2 appropriation to a playground fund, and as for stray dogs and cats, we give them an occasional kick, but nothing else.

We all know, if we dig deep, that it isn't the possession of money that makes people kind, thoughtful and liberal. These virtues are found among the poor as often as among the rich. The poor man's act of kindness is not blazoned on the pages of newspapers; often the rich man's are. Perhaps the reason man mentioned in the first sentence of this item was looking for an easy way of satisfying his personal vanity.

He just wanted to be good because it would enable him to cut a pretty figure.

Dear Sir:

Many men and many papers have commented upon Governor Alfred E. Smith's loyalty to old friends and organizations. He selected the 4th of July, America's Independence Day, for an explosion of renewed allegiance to Tammany Hall and for an endorsement of the moral integrity of that institution.

Even more suggestive is his appointment of Mayor Hague of Jersey City as one of the eastern managers for the Democratic campaign. Three years ago in the Mirrors of Washington Mr. Gilbert concluded that the Tammany side of Hague is twice as efficient as Tammany itself ever was. Boss Hague is the vice chairman of the Democratic National committee. Just now, in his own state, he is undergoing the fire of two legislative investigating committees, the Independent press of New Jersey and leading citizens of Hudson county. One of the most important political leaders of Mayor Hague's community said recently that had Woodrow Wilson reserved Newark to his support, as the way Alfred E. Smith is keeping forces with the state, who knew as well as Hague is the vice chairman of the Democratic National committee. Farm Bureau Fights Proposed Increases In Hay Freight Rate

President Jay J. Olson and Secretary J. B. Jones of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation have submitted briefs and arguments before the Interstate Commerce Commission, objecting to any increases at this time in the railroad freight rates for the transportation of hay.

These Farm Bureau officers in these briefs declared that whether fed on the farm or shipped and sold at a distance, increased transportation costs would add to the present high cost of every farm animal consuming roughage.

In the briefs, President Olson and Secretary Jones submitted figures to prove that hay is the most expensive crop per acre to transport to market.

Further, it was shown that the value of all farm crops in Minnesota during recent years had declined from $725,000,000 in 1924 to $584,000,000 in 1927, with no prospect of betterment in values for the 1928 crops.

This was given as an added reason why increase in freight rates on hay at this time would work a hardship on the individual farmer.

SELECTING THE LAYERS.

To develop an egg-laying strain requires careful selection of breeders from among the best layers in the flock. In addition to pullets of the heaviest layers, the full, native the color of the beaks and shanks. The more quickly then pullets which lay only intermittently. Therefore, if the farmer observes his flock rather closely during the fall months he can readily determine those birds that are laying at the heaviest rate and they can be marked for inclusion in next year's breeding flock.

No Ringtail Pheasants May Be Taken in Northern Part Of State Under New Order

An order has been received by County Auditor T. P. Anderson from the State Game and Fish Commission that no ringtail pheasants may be taken in Pennington county this fall. On account of the rapid depletion, especially in the northern part of the state, an executive order was issued by Governor Christianson, closing the season entirely in the southern 45 counties, and limiting the season in 15 counties in the central part of the state to one week, October 15-20, to 2 birds. In the 16 southern counties the open season is from October 15 to November 1.

TURKEYS ATTRACTING MUCH ATTENTION AT MAHNOMEN

Nothing in and around Mahnomen is attracting more attention over the country just now than the Schermerhorn Farms Turkey Ranch on the south outskirts of town. Turkey raisers from all over the country have heard of this flock and it is doubtful if many of these ever reach the Thanksgiving or Christmas tables, but will be taken up for breeding purposes. One man from Michigan has been here and another from New York, have added to their flocks. A Minnesota farm that he has, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schermerhorn have built their reputations as turkey raisers this summer.—Mahnomen Pioneer.

From Selvig's Letter to Former Students of the Northwest School

It is with much pleasure that I think back over the seventeen years that I served as superintendent of the Northwest School of Agriculture. Before my memory's eyes passes a procession of bright young faces, those of the hundreds of young men and young women who came to that school during the many years I was there, who received instruction there and have since scattered to all parts of the Red River Valley and elsewhere, to become leaders in their communities.

When I became a candidate for Representative in Congress, two years ago, it was largely because of the feeling that these young men and young women from the farms were not getting a square deal in the economic adjustment of our country since the war. I felt that at this time there are greater issues at stake than efficiency in production—though that is important and desirable. As intelligent producers of food products you must insist on getting your share of the benefits that come from improved methods in agriculture. To let others, through political action, capture most of the benefits you have raised through additional knowledge, and to which you are clearly entitled, is not only financial folly, but will cause you to lose your self-respect.

We must fight for equality in income between agriculture and industry—and that does not mean the present status. We were in better position before the war than we have been since, but farming was not then getting the returns to which it was entitled.

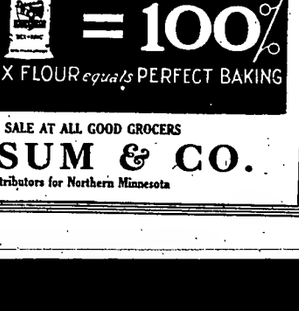
The contrast between the populations of the great cities and the population of the farms over the face of food is not new. It is as old as history. The city worker with high wages and cheap food. The farmer—in America—with low wages, the great cities, whether it be New York or Minneapolis, still fight every effort that assures an advance in food prices, irrespective of party lines. In this they are backed by their constituents. And it is clear that the only thing that can help the farmers, financially, is better prices.

The small city and village population, being directly dependent on the farmers in the immediate vicinity, will equally be found to hold the agricultural view.

Our political woes, at present, do not run parallel with the paramount economic issue. The Republicans of the east and the Democrats of the south are much closer together in community of interest than are the Democrats of the south and the Democrats of New York city or the Republicans of the west and the Republicans of Philadelphia. There may be some adjustment of the tariff benefit of agriculture by either or both of the parties, through party action. But any substantial progress for betterment of the economic condition of the farmer, so far as it can be effected by legislation, must come by co-operation in Congress between the agricultural blocs of the two parties.

The vote on the McNary-Haugen bill comes the closest to defining the line between the country and the city—if anything that has yet happened in the house will be settled largely in Congress, and he present great need of a two-thirds majority in both branches. This is not impossible of achievement. We are very close to it now.

During our first term in Congress I have specialized on the tariff in relation to agriculture. The tariff has the most to do with the making of prices of any law on our books. I have published figures showing that the effective tariff protection in behalf of industry is now approximately 35 per cent on the import value, and that the effective tariff protection in behalf of agriculture is from 15 to 17 per cent of the import value. That means that industry—meaning manufacturing—is now receiving a price for its products 35 per cent above the world price level, while agriculture is receiving a price for its products 15 to 17 per cent above the world price level. I have introduced a bill, and have caused other bills to be introduced, correcting this condition by bringing the tariff on agricultural products up to 35 per cent above the world market level, and even with the protection afforded industry. These bills are to be the basis of my revision of the tariff in the next session.



At this point you may ask, "Why include tariff about equally by repealing the tariff, by tearing down the tariff wall and having free trade with all the world?" The answer is that we are unable, because of our higher standard of living, to compete successfully with workers in countries where people exist on a few cents a day, both in industry and in agriculture. The average wage of our factory worker is now $1.60 per day as compared with 90 cents a day for the same class of labor in Italy. The home market consumes 90 per cent of our farm products, and it is clear that we could not sell these products to a wage earning population on a level with that in Italy, or even to a wage-earning population earning an average of $2.00 per day, as they do on England.

The protective tariff must be the foundation of any structure of legislation behalf of agriculture. The first job is to make the tariff wall stronger, and that is what I am working on.

The tariff will not solve the whole problem. It is one of the factors. For instance, we must have some form of surplus control to make the tariff effective on crops of which we produce a surplus. This has the purpose of the McNary-Haugen bill; and until some one can devise a better plan I am strongly for that.

Yours most sincerely,

C. G. SELVIG

HIGHWAY EMPLOYEES GO ON EIGHT-HOUR SHIFT OCTOBER 15

Staff of Entire State Highway System Now Maintained by Power Graders

Beginning Oct. 15, maintenance employees of the Minnesota Highway Department will change from a nine hour to an eight hour day. They will return to the ten hour basis when heavy maintenance work starts in the spring. Decreased traffic in the fall makes it possible to maintain the roads with less work in the summer and the department wishes to take advantage of every opportunity to recuperate.

This does not mean that the section crews and their helpers will work eight hours every day. They may work much longer hours if emergency regulations, and they may not work at all when weather conditions are unfavorable. They are paid by the hour and during the fall and winter will be expected to put in eight hours a day under ordinary conditions.

Motorized equipment is now used exclusively on 3,500 miles in the 7,000-mile system. Team patrols are still employed on the remaining 3,500 miles, but their work is in many cases supplemented by power graders. The department expects to extend the motorization, as men with light team graders are more difficult to get than the highways where traffic is heavy. Under the eight hour system it is possible to employ the same men and equipment in summer and winter maintenance. This plan has met with enthusiasm by the patrolmen and has been tried out in Minnesota for the past year. The success of the plan will depend largely upon the willingness of the patrolmen to keep a section of road open through one or more storms with heavy snow, will know where the drifts are likely to form. He will know where snow fences should be placed, and can be depended on to cut weeds and remove any other snow catchers before winter starts.

On thirteen-foot roads, each section man will be furnished with a snow plow which can be quickly attached to his truck or tractor. This is expected to permit quicker opening of the roads after storms, as well as saving money by permitting the use of heavier units next April has been delivered. Added to fence previously purchased this gives the department 3,000,000 feet, or about 575 miles of protection against drifts. Erection of the fence will be started this month, although in places where the ground is soft, snow fences cannot be put up until the ground freezes.

C. H. Jung Appointed Local Representative In Drive For Aged Salesmen's Home

Herb Jung of this city has been designated as the Super Salesman for the city of Thief River Falls by the Super Salesmen's committee of the National Traveling Salesmen's Association which is at present considering candidates from among the more than half million traveling salesmen in the country.

Those selected as Super Salesmen will be the leaders in their respective cities in a $3,000,000 campaign to endow a home, hospital and place of rest and recreation for aged, incapacitated or indigent traveling salesmen at Wilmington, North Carolina.

The Committee making the Superman selection appeals to the spirit of translating this effort into further immediate action," said Secretary Cox.

"This appeal can not be too strongly stressed," said Secretary Cox, "because the annual loss of life and property in the rural districts is greater than would prevail if correct and continuous activity were directed toward its prevention. The annual fire on farms and in rural districts is in excess of 2,500 lives and caused approximately $150,000,000 damage to property last year. 20 per cent of the $470,000,000 loss charged against fire in the entire United States. Although there has been a substantial improvement in reducing the number of deaths lost per $100 insured, statistics indicate that farms and rural districts are appearing in the list of largest per capita losses than heretofore."

Spontaneous ignition of hay and other agricultural products, lightning, defective chimneys and flues, careless use of matches and smoking, combustible roofs, careless use and storage of gasoline and kerosene, and faulty wiring installations and improper use of electrical appliances, are the most principal causes of farm fires and constitute hazards which must be coped with in an energetic and effective manner. Through its work on farm fire prevention and protection the department stands ready to be of every possible service in this important field, said Secretary Jardine.

Farm fire losses, he concluded, are a direct challenge to everyone interested in the conservation of the Nation's wealth and resources, and it behooves every individual concerned to do his utmost, not only during Fire Prevention Week, but throughout the entire year, to reducing this fire waste. The unstinting co-operation of the rural population in this worthwhile movement is necessary and strongly urged.

FIRES CAUSE HEAVY LOSS ANNUALLY IN RURAL COMMUNITIES

Elimination of Fire Hazards Urged During Fire Prevention Week

Because 30 per cent or more of the Nation's annual fire loss occurs on farms and in rural districts, Secretary of Agriculture, A. W. Jardine has to-day made a special appeal to all rural communities to observe and practice the fundamentals of fire prevention which will be stressed throughout the United States during the week of October 7, designated as Fire Prevention Week by proclamation of the President of the United States.

"President Coolidge's proclamation referred to the interesting fact that cities, towns and farming communities, engaged in a friendly competition to inculcate sound principles of fire prevention in the minds of their city inhabitants, are accomplishing highly desirable and satisfactory results, but he aptly urged the need of translating this effort into further immediate action," said Secretary Jardine.

"This appeal can not be too strongly stressed," said Secretary Jardine, "because the annual loss of life and property in the rural districts is greater than would prevail if correct and continuous activity were directed toward its prevention. The annual fire on farms and in rural districts is in excess of 2,500 lives and caused approximately $150,000,000 damage to property last year. 20 per cent of the $470,000,000 loss charged against fire in the entire United States. Only Two States In Union Now Have No Gasoline Tax

A two cent gasoline tax will go into effect in Massachusetts Jan. 1. This will leave only two states in the union which a gasoline tax has never been levied. Illinois adopted a two cent tax in 1927 but it was held unconstitutional. This leaves the status of the gas tax as follows:

Five cents ..... Two States
Four cents ..... Twelve States
Three and one-half cents ... One State
Three cents ..... Seventeen States
Two cents ..... Thirteen states
No tax ..... Twelve states

Four provinces in Canada have a five cent gas tax; namely, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Quebec. Five provinces, Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Ontario and Saskatchewan, have a three cent gas tax.

The average rate in the States is now 3.11 cents and in the Provinces 3.38 cents a gallon.

Maytag dealers everywhere follow the standardized rule of sending a Maytag to a home to do a week's washing free, and without obligation of any kind. This is the way all Maytag Aluminum Washers are sold. The Maytag must sell itself solely upon its performance in the home. It must wash everything to your entire satisfaction. Must wash everything quicker, easier and cleaner than other washers. Must wash everything—even collars, cuffs and wristbands, without hand-rubbing. Must prove to you, in your own home, that it is the most helpful home-laundering unit you have ever seen or used.

CHAPTER XI

A Private Audience with King Haakon

Little did I think when I came to Europe that it would be my extreme pleasure and private audience with a King. Most people are content with a reception on receiving days, so I am more fortunate in having had the privilege of going into the King's palace and sitting down and chatting with him, just the same as I would with our own Teddy Christianson in Minnesota. This extreme courtesy was brought about at the instigation of our American minister, Lauritz Swenson. My reception was in the name of the farmers of America. After receiving word from Minister Swenson I was somewhat uneasy as to just how to have in the presence of royalty, but now that have had the visit and am safe in the land I am glad I did not say the worse for the undertaking. In fact I feel quite at home, and happily so, to find such a democratic affair as royalty in the position of ruler of the Norwegians. After learning of my intended visit I took pains to learn as much as I could in various ways, by inquiring of the King, his private secretary, lawyers, stenographers and several others, and I got but one answer from all. They all think the world of him. Not one would did I see, or hear of, but what had a kind word to say about him. The King was keenly interested in the affairs of his farmers and what we farmers were doing in a cooperative way in the United States. The questions I could see that he was familiar with farm conditions in his own land. In fact he has a farm there just outside of this where he is living in the summertime when the palace he goes to and from the palace where he attends to his official duties. On his farm he has about eighty cows and told and they produce more milk and cream than he can use for his family needs and he sells the balance in the open market.

The King's palace is on a very slightly promontory overlooking the city of Oslo, the capital of the country of which the city. There is parked between them to a depth of about a block and a half or more and on from two guards who are stationed there day and night. The building is a very huge government building. It is around the next and the next and very plain on the outside as far on to the front entrance as I could see there were no frills and then another layer of bricks was piled on and this continues until the tall man and came to greet me in the state room. I was very cordial manner as I entered the room. He then followed me to the chair I was sitting down and chatting with him. I, the same as I would with our own Teddy Christianson in Minnesota. STAFFORD KING IS SPEAKER AT LEGION RALLY

STATE COMMANDER URGES SERVICE AS PRIMARY AIM

Membership Campaigns Announced by District And State Organizations

Approximately two hundred members of Legion and Auxiliary posts in the Ninth District attended the subdistrict rally held here Tuesday night.

Stafford King, commander of the Minnesota department of the American Legion, was the principal speaker on the program given before both groups at the Elks Hall late in the evening. Other prominent officials present, who were called on by Ken Olson, presiding officer, were Mrs. Treat Carlson, state president of the Auxiliary; Mrs. J. M. Bishop, past president of the Auxiliary and present national committeewoman; Mrs. P. C. Barnes, of Fergus Falls, Ninth District Auxiliary president; J. C. Taylor of Bemus, Ninth District commander.

"I do not come to dictate to the local," said Mr. King, "I come only as a worker in the ranks of the American Legion." The members of the Legion should have as their primary aim service, rather than greater membership, he said. "Let us be the dead, many of whom have not even a marker on their graves; service to the disabled living, of whom he said there are thousands who are yet uncared for; service to the community, especially to the boys and girls; and service to themselves, in friendships.

Mr. Taylor announced that he had challenged the Auxiliary to a membership contest, which Mrs. Barnes accepted with confidence in winning. "We want to end our membership campaign out of the way," she said, "so we can get down to real constructive work."

FRANK MURPHY TO CLOSE DEMOCRATIC DRIVE FOR VOTES

Wheaton Attorney, Former Republican, Favors Smith On Farm Relief

A large crowd, including voters from a large area adjacent to this city is expected to turn out to hear Frank W. Murphy plead for the election of Alfred Smith at the city auditorium next Monday night. Mr. Murphy is said to be one of the most sensational speakers in the present campaign, and supporters of both candidates have expressed a desire to hear what he has to say. Many local people have heard him speak over the radio from different sections of the country during the past few weeks.

Mr. Murphy complained for—farm relief through the McNary-Haugen bill for several years As legislative chairman of the Corn Belt committee he led a delegation of McNary-Haugen bill supporters at the Republican national conventions at Kansas City, Mo. When the plank was rejected by that convention, he went to the Democratic convention at Houston, and got what he considered a satisfactory plank of farm relief written into the Democratic platform. Although there has been continued controversy over whether or not Governor Smith has endorsed the McNary-Haugen bill, Mr. Murphy has declared himself satisfied with his statements on the issue.

After speaking here Mr. Murphy will make a campaign tour into the central west, Friday night, November 2, he will speak at Kansas City, in the hall where the Republican convention was held last June, and Saturday he will speak at Omaha. Both of these speeches will be broadcast over the radio.

Letter Carrier Sets Record For Climbing Water Tank

"I'll bet you it is that again."

Clarence Knutson, employee of the Sea Cafe and a substitute clerk at the post office, counts that one of the dollars he received for a "date" thing.

Ed Jaranson, city letter carrier, wagered that he could run from the Park Hotel to the city water tank, climb up and down the tower, and run back to the hotel twice in ten minutes. Clarence didn't think it could be done. He said so. Bets were offered, and accepted.

Tuesday afternoon, when Jaranson returned from the afternoon delivery on his route, the candidate for honors in the championship steeplechase, accompanied by a group of spectators, went to the Park Hotel. Jaranson ran to the tower at a fast pace—faster that his gray hairs had been accustomed to—but by the time he reached the tank one, climbed down, circled the tank once, climbed down and returned to the hotel in three minutes. Confident of success, he walked to the tower for the second trip-up, around, and down. He was back at the hotel corner exactly ten minutes and 57 minutes after he left there for the first attempt.

Jaranson attributes his phenomenal feat to several years as a mail carrier climbing ladders as a member of the regular delivery department. Long hours and regular exercise are also given as supplemental aids.

Clarence consoles himself with the thought that his bet may have been a good investment. He will never bet on a "sure thing" again. At least not against Ed Jaranson.

NO CHANGE IN CITY TAX LEVY FOR NEXT YEAR

Levy of $40,750 Approved by Council at Meeting Tuesday Night

RATE MAY BE SLIGHTLY HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR

Substraction of Exemptions May Result in Lower Assessed Valuation

The city tax levy was set at the same figure as last year by the council at the meeting Tuesday night.

Current expense fund	$ 24,500
Auditorium fund	500
Poor fund	2,000

The exact valuation of city real and personal property has not been determined, as exemptions have yet to be subtracted from the total approved by the board of review. The total tax rate in this city last year was 121.4 mills, divided as follows: city, 29.6; school, 46.6; county, 17.6; state, 7.7. The school rate is expected to be reduced about 3 mills next year, while the state rate will remain the same. Mr. Fiswell is Burbanan of New Jersey spoke on "Music." The public at music is no public," she said, "but it begins as cultivation of the spirit at a very early age. A city responds to flowers as grass never in a way that should be recognized. Quiet, lovely outdoors and not the confusion and noise of much of the music to which young children are constantly exposed.

Citing records to show that special ill health is on the increase, and economic problems of the nation, Sister Angela Veltheim of the College of St Scholastica of Duluth, speaking on Mental Ill Health, pointed out that heredity and a complex social environment militate against the welfare of the lives of ten thousand persons in the state of Minnesota. Ill health is increasingly difficult, she said, for the mentally unfit to cope successfully in a highly competitive society. She stressed the importance of the home, especially upon the children of great sensitivity, who may become mentally stunted or deranged by the home environment.

Mrs. Kreisbach, speaking on "Public Health," stated in part: "When a satisfactory vaccine is put on the market it is widely advertised, so that people will hear of it, see it, want it, get it. Interesting items about the P. T. work in Pasadena may be found in the public. The public is divided into two groups: those who are interested and those who are a part of it, and those who are a part of it are anxious to read about it."

Chommie Says Election Of Al Smith Is Step Toward Prosperity Equalization

H. O Chommie, addressed a group of about twenty men and women at the School house in district 1325, in Silver Falls township, Friday night, urging the election of Alfred E. Smith as president as a step toward equalizing the distribution of the nation's prosperity.

"This country is prosperous," he said, "but the trouble is that it is not evenly distributed. One third of our population live on farms, yet agriculture gets only seven per cent of the national income. In the years following the Harding-Coolidge administration, while farm values decreased 30 per cent, the market value of leading industrial stocks increased 70 per cent. The reason for this is that the farmer buys in a highly protected market, and sells in a market that is largely unprotected."

Declaring that there is no hope for any system of surplus crop control except the Hoover, Mr. Democrat Smith as a friend of the common people, who ate his staunchest supporters.

The object of the tour, Mr. Douglass says, is to investigate the results obtained from the Billings experiment plan. This system has been adopted by many dairymen in the county this year, and not all can be visited, on account of lack of time. Dr. V. A. Illing, originator of the plan which will be demonstrated, will accompany the tour.

Eight representative farms have been selected, six of which, near Mt. Hilaire, will be visited in the forenoon, and two near Rosewood, which are on the itinerary for the afternoon. Farms in Rosewood will be inspected.

"It is not our aim to visit the largest flocks," Mr. Douglass says, "but rather to study, from the experienced flocks of the eastern Dairy Farm, the methods of successfully carrying out the Billings plan."

Julien Provencher and William Dahlquist were selected by the Commercial Club to co-operate with Mr. Douglass in promoting the success of the tour.

Anyone who wishes to join should notify Mr. Douglass soon, so that he may have an approximate idea of how many will go. The caravan will leave the city auditorium at 9:30 Saturday morning.

Ocean is Brought To Duluth By M. Bothum

Martin Bothun presents several interesting features in an unusual window display in his Flower Shop on Third St. He has transformed a miniature Duluth harbor with ocean going vessels laden with the products of the Northwest in danger and bringing back the products of the east. He has also erected the statue of Liberty at the head of the lakes, indicating that the harbor of Duluth will ere long be a more important seaport than New York. The most important idea in his display, however, is his representation of a double track railroad extending from Duluth to Thief River Falls. When and if the become an important seaport Thief River Falls will be a more important railroad center.

WOMEN TELL WHY THEY WILL VOTE FOR REPUBLICAN

St. Lawrence Waterway Declared Moral Issue by President of Hoover Club

Mrs. Theodore Quale, Mrs. T. Reep and Mrs. J. H. Hardisty discussed reasons why they would vote for Hoover at the weekly meeting of the Women's Hoover Club Monday night. A few members of the Men's club were also present.

Prohibition, foreign relations and farm relief were declared to be the three great issues in this campaign by Mrs. Quale. She will vote for Hoover, she said, because he has achieved success in every undertaking, is of character and hard work; because he is promising law enforcement and for his stand on prohibition, and because of his ability to do things; because of Mrs. Hoover, who is thoroughly American, educated and well traveled.

Mrs. Hardisty, president of the club, announced that she would discuss one of the arguments in favor of the St. Lawrence waterway that has not been discussed before. "It is a moral issue," she said. "Immigrants should land at the Head of the Lakes rather than in New York where they must learn to work in our factories rather than under Big Business, to read in our night schools rather than in New York City, democracy in citizenship classes rather than in the saloon. She saw her first saloon in this city fourteen years ago, she said, and declared she did not want a return to that condition. Declaring that Smith is a self-made man but not a Tammany-made man, she added that "Herbert Hoover is not know as Americans."

She was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Brown of Los Angeles. The groomsmen was Harry Bowling of Monrovia, Calif., brother-in-law of the bride. Following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Anderson of Whittier, and Mr. and Mrs. Prichard left the following morning by boat for San Francisco. IMPORTANT TO MOTHERS OF UNDERWEIGHT CHILDREN

"Two Tablespoons of Karo in a Glass of Milk doubles its Food Value"!

"Karo", says this physician, "is not only a delicious sweet, but the ideal food for the underweight child. Karo can be added to the diet without spoiling the appetite for other foods—and it improves the taste of milk."

Karo has a high energy value—there are 120 calories per ounce in it—almost twice the energy value of eggs and lean beef, weight for weight.

Serve the kiddies plenty of Karo in milk, on cereals, on sliced bread—and watch their weight improve.

Julius Olson Is Member Of State Bar Committee Backing Amendment No. 2

Julius Olson of Warren, county attorney for Marshall county, is a member of a committee of the Minnesota State Bar Association which is urging support of Amendment No. 2. The purpose of this amendment, which was submitted to the voters of the state in 1926 but did not receive the necessary majority of the total vote cast, would eliminate the corporation stockholders double liability clause now a part of the state constitution. The committee holds that this regulation forces corporations within the state to incorporate under the laws of other states, resulting in a loss in incorporation fees to the state. The amendment would give the legislature power to regulate the liability of stockholders. Bank stock would not be affected by the change. The vote on the amendment in 1926 was 223,702 for and 140,422 against, but as the total vote cast in the election was 364,781, it failed of the necessary majority by 38,069 votes.

SENATOR ROBINSON'S OPINION

The Democrats are making a great deal of fuss about changed opinions. They point to the words of statesmen who, a few years ago, criticized Hoover for one thing or another and yet are supporting him in this campaign. All of these changed opinions are not on one side however, as the following quotation indicates. This quotation is from the report of a speech made by the present Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency as it appeared in the issue 26th, 1927, issue of the Arkansas Gazette of Little Rock, the occasion being a celebration in honor of Mr. Hoover and in appreciation for his efforts in behalf of the victims of the Mississippi flood. Senator Robinson said:

"Few men in the history of mankind have exemplified exceptional talent in supplying the necessities and in relieving the suffering of their fellowmen. The great of Rome at these ceremonies, Mr. Herbert Hoover, is noted as the world's greatest relief administrator.

"His career, apparently, has not yet reached the climax; but it is already distinguished by many unusual experiences and praiseworthy achievements.

"The outstanding triumphs of Mr. Hoover's efforts consist in the organization and direction of tremendous relief forces in periods of appalling calamity or national peril.

"He did not lead armed troops to battle during the late world conflict; but he was called to assume a responsibility of equal, if not greater, importance. His task was to mobilize the nation's food supply and to restrain the greed and avarice of profiteers.

"Beating the commission of our great chief and wartime president, Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Hoover opposed and halted the deadly advance of hunger, pestilence and famine following the war in Belgium, Russia and other foreign lands. Hospitals for the sick and the wounded; food and clothing for the victims of hate and strife! Among the suffering and the dying he bore aloft a banner, saluted with respect and love in every civilized land—the banner of the Red Cross."

EXAMINING THE WITNESS

H. O. Chemmie, chairman of the local Democratic organization, has done a nice piece of work in behalf of the candidacy of Al Smith by his contributions to the public forum columns of the Times. In his articles, he has quoted several distinguished Americans to strengthen his cause. In the issue of September 20 he presented a statement, made by Charles Evans Hughes to the effect that Al Smith is a great leader and a man of unusual ability. In last week's issue he presented a statement made by Senator Borah of Idaho in 1910 in which he criticized Hoover's work as food administrator.

These witnesses having been introduced by Mr. Chemmie it will not be out of order to use them to do a little testifying for our side of the case. Lest anyone gaither from Mr. Chemmie's articles that Charles Evans Hughes is an anti Hoover man we present the following statement credited to Hughes by the New York World in 1920 when that Democratic newspaper was making an effort to induce Hoover to become a candidate for the presidency on the Democratic ticket:

> The Times office will be headquarters for election returns on the night of November 6th.

Football fans should bear in mind that the last home game of the year will be played here tomorrow afternoon. It should be a mighty good game too. The local team has made a very satisfactory showing so far and will make an extra strong effort to complete the schedule in a creditable manner.

Voters of this community will have an opportunity to hear two more distinguished speakers during the next two weeks. One, Frank Murphy, will discuss the national campaign from the standpoint of the Democrats. The other, W. F. Schilling, will present the views of the Republicans. Both of these men have been prominent in the affairs of the Northwest. As many as possible should make a special effort to be present at both meetings.

THE VIEWS OF THE LEADERS

Several Smith supporters have told us they are for the New Yorker because Frank Murphy and Magnus Johnson and Reed of the Farm Bureau are for him. "These men are friends of the farmer," they say, "and certainly should know what is best for us."

This is a reasonable argument. Murphy and Reed and Johnson are good men, well informed on the questions of the day—surely they cannot all three be deceived on this proposition. Leaders of this type, with their first hand information and their wealth of experience, should be able to decide wisely and well on matters of this kind.

If it were not for the fact that other great men disagree with Murphy and Johnson and Reed we might be persuaded that Al Smith is the man to vote for. It appears however, that there are many of the Northwest's leaders on the Hoover side of the argument. Snr. Murphy is red hot mad because the McNary-Haugen Bill didn't get through, and urges us to vote for Smith for that reason. But both Senator McNary and Congressman Haugen are for Hoover. That does weaken Murphy's argument a little, doesn't it? And then consider the following men of the Northwest who are for Hoover—Senator Brookhart of Iowa, Senator Borah of Idaho, Senators Frazier and Nye of North Dakota, Frank Lowden of Illinois, Congressman Dickenson of Iowa, Governor Christianson of Minnesota, W. F. Schilling of Northfield, Alfred Jacques of Duluth, who was the Democratic candidate for Governor two years ago, and many other leaders of this same type.

If the opinions of the leaders of this section of the country are to be admitted as evidence in the case, Smith's chances of getting a favorable verdict from the voters of the Northwest next November 6th are very slight. With very few exceptions the leading men of the Northwest are for Hoover, and while there are several who are neutral, there are very few who are actively supporting Smith.

Mechanics

(Only the Mechanics
(Minneapolis Journal)

Mere matters of mechanics are all that remain to be arranged, to complete the solutions of public problems after the election of the Democratic Presidential ticket. The head of the ticket himself declares at Omaha that he does not hold himself to the exact methods and mechanics embodied in the McNary-Haugen Bill. He contents himself with telling, not how to do it, but what to do.

The same might be said as to modification of the prohibition enforcement act. The favorite aim of wet proponents of modification is summed up in the phrase, "light wines and beer." But that again is left a matter of what, not how. The mere matter of mechanics is all that remains to be settled upon. And if alcoholic content be the measure, then the mechanics consist of fixing some higher percentage than now obtains. Whatever that percentage, there is no gainsaying that it could not be denied to whisky, if it is established for beer and wines. There, like the mechanics of farm relief, are matters on which the wet leaders do not limit themselves.

It is all somewhat reminiful of a character in one of Don Marquis' humorous yarns, who insisted that he, and not the Wright Brothers, was the real inventor of the airplane. To prove it, he related that one day he was sitting out in front of the livery stable, looking up at the sky when a flight of wild geese passed over. The flight inspired him, he said. "Some days" he had himself as telling a crony of the livery stable, "no day, I wouldn't be surprised to see me flying them." That was a full ten years before the Kitty Hawk flights. All that remained for him to work out was the mechanics, and the livery stable habitue did not limit himself as to them.

Large Crowd Greets Selvig At Goodridge Monday Night

A crowd estimated at close to two hundred people greeted Congressman C. G. Selvig of Crookston when he talked at Goodridge Monday night. A torchlight parade before the meeting was participated in by about a hundred men, women and children. Mr. Selvig discussed his record in Congress, and answered charges circulated against him in the campaign.

Next Monday Congressman Selvig will speak over KGFK at Hallock, and on Wednesday from station WDAY at Fargo.

Two hundred dollars in prizes are offered by the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs for the best essays submitted by high school students on the topic, "Beauty Spots in Minnesota." The contest is conducted under the supervision of the Department of Conservation of the Federation, and the prizes have been donated by the Izaak Walton League.

All essays must be sent not exceed 1,000 words must be in the hands of the district chairman not later than December 1.

The object, says Mrs. John E. Palmer, state chairman of the contest, is "to young people of our state a fuller appreciation of its outstanding natural beauties; the importance of preserving our most scenic scenery and the resources from despoilment and exploitation; to cultivate a love for the great outdoors and to stimulate the production of literature depicting the beauty of our unfortunate in this nature within our borders. Graphic portrayals, stories and first impressions upon the author will be given preference over other qualities."

If we could have the cows without the thorns, we probably wouldn't want them.

Poultry Project

Star Unit Poultry Project met Friday afternoon in the Clover Nook school house. Five members were present and several visitors. A business meeting and election of officers were held. Our Little Corner

No. 43 OCT. 25, 1928 Vol. 2

Winter means more use for your furniture than summer, invariably. It also means that that bare spot which needs a reading lamp will show up more than ever. Get one of these good looking ones of ours. It's an investment which will last for years.

Another reason why we don't like to have our photographs taken is because it makes us look like we were having our photographs taken.

There's room for an ash tray, several newspapers, a magazine or two, and some books on one of our end tables. Think, men of Thief River Falls, what that means in comfort after a hard day's work at the office.

How'd one of these over-stuffs suit the lookin' in your living room? Come in here and talk over terms with us.

Teacher—"What do we use soap for?"
Jimmy—"That's what I'd like to know."

Look here, you will, spend what like, you can't buy at any price, more service, wear or decorative coloring than you'll get in a Sandura Rug. That's our honest opinion.

"That fall sewing" will be out of the way a lot quicker if you have a sewing cabinet of our's can. Come in and see them.

Collar chests with walnut on the outside and cedar inside make an appropriate gift for anyone, at any time.

When you buy a range you want one upon which you can depend for good service, day by day. We've had so many favorable comments from the people of this community about our Monarch ranges that we feel we can recommend them to you without qualifications.

It's a matter of economy, owning a Maytag washer. This is worth money. Why spend two hours with the family washing when you can do it in one hour.

Editor Times:

Mr. Chommie comes forward with a technical article, bristling with legal acument, regarding prohibition, and paramount question at issue in this Presidential campaign.

Apparently, Chommie is a typical adherent to the Democratic party and endorses Mr. Alcohol Smith with unwavering loyalty.

Speaking of cities that flock around Smith: Mr. Edward Flores, and Patrick Gilfoyle, presidents of the Hairdressers International League and Brewers and Distillers Association, respectively, endorse Alcohol Smith vehemently.

On the evening of July 31st, 1928 Wm. F. Kenny's private yacht the "Havenna" anchored in the New York harbor took political meeting route place, Smith released a verbal barrage of denunciation, flaying the prohibition law. Hanlon seconded the talk with "Damnable Affliction".

Quoting Chommie, that assuming temperance is a virtue and intemperance is a crime, we all heartily agree with quote except this element who disagree about the intemperance idea.

The public knows precisely the conditions existing in the pre-prohibition days, when the brew and booze parade reaped a bountiful harvest. Then came prohibition, what a practical law it is, human cannot drink anything unless they have the nerve to consume, denatured alcohol.

Automatically the law takes its place with the decalogue, the ten commandments, the "thou shalt not kill" will be equal to "thou shalt not kill" etcters.

The result is that we don't want the Volstead law repealed, the nation will be plunged into chaos, civilizations march of progress will be halted.

Alcohol Smith could, by a mere gesture, repeal the cause of many conceivable thing, the constitution will be a story book for him and ancient history at the least. Irreparable harm could be done in four years.

Mr. Chommie's attention to Smith's Omaha speech, repeated in St. Paul, will bow exactly like a harangue the multitude at Helena, Montana, repeated in Grand Forks, or the Sing Sing and Hillsboro audiences.

Remember, that was a speech, premeditated by political expediency. What Smith said at Omaha will not coincide with as much as a whisper to the elected president. He could have told his Omaha audience the tale about Pat and Mike that part of the story the travelling salesman or the joke about two Scotchmen trying to open a brake on their bankroll, for all the good it would do.

Compare that address with the one he gave at Albany, N. Y., on January 29, 1927 on the farm relief problem, so flimsy and unsound.

Long winded orators, shades of Patrick Henry, extol the merits of Hoover and Smith under a magic spell of language, delivered with theatrical precision, but since time immemorial, folks have an ideal and they usually stick by it like they would travel a broad highway rather than taken a side road to nowhere.

Barnum once so wisely said "you can fool some people, some of the time, all people some of the time, but not all people all the time."

Eventually Mr. Chommie's line of reasoning is unaltered by the facts, be it may, he will discover that the public will not tolerate Smith and will conclusively demonstrate that at the polls on Nov. 6, with an avalanche of votes.

Mr. Wright, the prophet of Kratka mentions the sheriff, stills, speakers, Lemden, New York, Chicago and short shirts, very interesting, but nothing to argue about.

Mr. Trovatson, speaks forth and that, as a protest, we vote for one of the three or four other Presidential candidates, he didn't name any of the mythical spirants, so I presume his imagination acquired the upper hand, obviously, he believes that since this is a free country anybody could run for president.

Yours Truly,
Orton O. Olson.

Editor Times:

I undertook to answer further Reverend Tungseth's letter in the Times, with reference to his appeal to the "Tammany" cry which, in lieu of better arguments is now being used the same tis timid into voting for Hoover.

I venture to say that Reverend Tungseth, and others who resort to this "bogey-man", know little or nothing about the Society of Tammany. They may vaguely know that it got into public notice during the days of "boss" Tweed and Croker. Their portrayal of denunciation, flaying the politician law. Hanlon seconded the talk with "Damnable Affliction".

Quoting Chommie, that assuming temperance is a virtue and intemperance is a crime, we all heartily agree with quote except this element who disagree about the intemperance idea.

The public knows precisely the conditions existing in the pre-prohibition days, when the brew and booze parade reaped a bountiful harvest. Then came prohibition, what a practical law it is, human cannot drink anything unless they have the nerve to consume, denatured alcohol.

Automatically the law takes its place with the decalogue, the ten commandments, the "thou shalt not kill" will be equal to "thou shalt not kill" etcters.

The result is that we don't want the Volstead law repealed, the nation will be plunged into chaos, civilizations march of progress will be halted.

Alcohol Smith could, by a mere gesture, repeal the cause of many conceivable thing, the constitution will be a story book for him and ancient history at the least. Irreparable harm could be done in four years.

Mr. Chommie's attention to Smith's Omaha speech, repeated in St. Paul, will bow exactly like a harangue the multitude at Helena, Montana, repeated in Grand Forks, or the Sing Sing and Hillsboro audiences.

Remember, that was a speech, premeditated by political expediency. What Smith said at Omaha will not coincide with as much as a whisper to the elected president. He could have told his Omaha audience the tale about Pat and Mike that part of the story the travelling salesman or the joke about two Scotchmen trying to open a brake on their bankroll, for all the good it would do.

Compare that address with the one he gave at Albany, N. Y., on January 29, 1927 on the farm relief problem, so flimsy and unsound.

Long winded orators, shades of Patrick Henry, extol the merits of Hoover and Smith under a magic spell of language, delivered with theatrical precision, but since time immemorial, folks have an ideal and they usually stick by it like they would travel a broad highway rather than taken a side road to nowhere.

Barnum once so wisely said "you can fool some people, some of the time, all people some of the time, but not all people all the time."

Eventually Mr. Chommie's line of reasoning is unaltered by the facts, be it may, he will discover that the public will not tolerate Smith and will conclusively demonstrate that at the polls on Nov. 6, with an avalanche of votes.

Mr. Wright, the prophet of Kratka mentions the sheriff, stills, speakers, Lemden, New York, Chicago and short shirts, very interesting, but nothing to argue about.

Hurrah there is nothing inherently wrong in an organization with a motto and creed like that of Tammany. Its members are drawn from all walks of life. All religious creeds are represented in its membership.

Tammany for more than a century has been the Democratic organization of the city of New York. Alfred E. Smith started his career as a member of that organization. If he had been a republican he would have started as a member of the city's Republican organization, no better and no worse than Tammany. However is thus the case, Tammany has not chosen to be forced to protest. He has been patient in righteous indignation and repudiated his associates, as Theodore Roosevelt or Al Smith would have done in like circumstances. Hoover has not even condemned those who are "personally" guilty. Nor do I hear Reverend Tungseth say anything about it. Is the moral issue at stake, as has been voiced here? Is common—honesty and honor important virtue lost in the day view of the prohibition issue?

Some of this sordid scandal. The unfairness of the Republican campaign is manifest in other respects. I have before me a pamphlet signed by "Minneapolis W. C. T. U. Addressed to the "Mothers and Daughters of America". It asks them "Are you going to vote for or against the saloon?".

It is useless to ask if this is fair. Fairness ceases to be a virtue with those who so manifestly hate Governor Smith.

Is this a sample of how we can propose to purify politics, to lift the human race to higher standards?

Perhaps I have no criticism of the W. C. T. U. Perhaps it is well recommend to some of their leaders that they learn the meaning of the word designated by the word "lobby" in the organization's name. Also the Minneapolis ladies, and other leaders, who use the W. C. T. U. to bring about the election of Republican candidates, who use the W. C. T. U. to bring about the election of Republican candidates, who use the W. C. T. U. to bring about the election of Republican candidates

Argyle Stores May Go On Strictly Cash Basis

Argyle merchants may follow the example of Stephen and other Valley towns in going on a strictly cash basis. The proposed change was discussed at a recent meeting of the Commercial Club there, and will be taken up by the merchants' association. Stores have been operating on a restricted credit basis, but this has not proved entirely satisfactory, many customers being either unable or unwilling pay up their accounts. The lower overhead of cash stores was given as another factor in favor of the change, permitting Argyle stores to compete more favorably with cash stores in neighboring towns.

Older Boys' Conference Invites local Boys To Fargo Meeting Nov. 16-18

The Northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota section of the Older Boys' Conference, sponsored each year by the Y. M. C. A., will meet this year at Fargo, November 16 to 18. The office of three sections in Minnesota will meet in Albert Lea, Tracy and Duluth. In commeration of the 75th Centenary of Christ's Ministry on Earth, the conference theme will be "We Would See Jesus" and the program will be given over largely to inspirational addresses and discussions of boys' problems. All delegates will be entertained in the homes of the community in which the conference is held.

Last year the conference for N. W. Minnesota and North Dakota was held at Detroit Lakes and Arthur Platt of Fargo, North Dakota was elected president to preside at the Fargo conference this year. The boys in Thief River Falls will be invited to attend the Fargo conference.

These gatherings have grown in attendance from 65 in 1910 to more than 1,000 during the last four years.

Hundreds of Crookston N. W. School Alumni Will Return For Homecoming Oct. 27

Hundreds of alumni, former students and friends of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, will attend the annual Home Coming celebration on October 27. R. E. Turnham, chairman of the assembly program committee, promises a real peppy meeting following appropriate but brief addresses at the 11:10 A. M. assembly.

At 2:30 P. M. Coach LaVoll's warriors will meet with the Morris Aggies in the most important game of the season. Since football relations were established with the West Central School four years ago the Crookston team has won three of the four encounters. Though Coach LaVoll is none too hopeful of the outcome this year, as but two 1927 regulars have returned for duty, the game will be full of thrills from start to finish.

"It will be a real treat to attend the assembly, see a thrilling football game, enjoy the evening dinner, and participate in the dance or party to be held in the evening, but the real thrill of Home Coming day comes in meeting old and new friends, and renewing the old familiar sights about the Campus," says the announcement sent out by the chairman of the Homecoming committee.

DEFECTIVE VISION INTERFERES WITH PROPER EDUCATION

Twelve Per Cent of School Children Suffer From Eye Trouble

Twelve per cent of children attending public schools have trouble with their eyes. Some are cross-eyed; some are near sighted and many are far-sighted.

These facts are brought out in a survey recently completed by the National Education Association, which had the cooperation of the Minnesota State Medical Association and other health organizations of Minnesota. As a result of similar investigations carried on in several states, laws have been passed in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan requiring much the same supervision of the eyes of children in the public schools that is now required of their health in Minnesota under the city and rural nurse systems.

The educational committee of the Minnesota Medical Association in their bulletin today declares that by proper supervision the defective eyes of many children of today could be saved for old age.

"The importance of good eyesight in school children cannot be overestimated. In addition to actual physical suffering defective vision often confuses with the usual educational procedures and may result in mental retardation and juvenile delinquency," says the report.

"School administrators should have some knowledge of the average percentage of defective vision found among school children, throughout this country, so that the schools may judge whether the number of cases found among their pupils is below or above the average. On a such information can be based estimates of the efficiency of the education methods.

"From the present study of the data supplied the school districts it is estimated that about 12 per cent represents the amount of defective vision found among school children in the United States where the proper methods of examination. This estimate suggests that considerable progress in eyesight conservation has been made in schools since previous studies, and this seems to be borne out in decreased percentages of eye defects.

"An interesting fact about these reports is that the rural districts generally report a larger percentage of defective vision than the city districts. In Pennsylvania, for instance, the rural districts show 16.8 per cent of defective vision of more than 500,000 pupils examined, while among 800,000 pupils examined in cities of 30,000 population, the percentage of defective vision was only 8.6.

"About one-half of the school children of the United States have their eyes examined and vision tested while attending school; that of the children attending the public schools, about 12 per cent have defects of vision which constitute educational handicaps. It would be in the interest of your child to have your optical check the night.

Four Pennington Co. Club Members Named to Exhibit At Junior Livestock Show

Four Pennington county 4-H Club members have been awarded free trips to the Junior Livestock Show at South St. Paul, Nov. 12 to 16. Howard Fredahl of Goodridge will exhibit a pig, while Esther Johnson of Goodridge and Helen and Woodrow Wilson of Hillsrig will show sheep.

The show is conducted under the auspices of the University extension division and the Minnesota Livestock breeders' association. Club leaders and executive committeemen of the show report the following increases in exhibits over last year: 244 baby beeves as compared with 230 in 1927; 316 pigs as against 109 last year; 151 lambs as against 121, and 21 pens (three to the pen) compared to only 4 a year ago. Poultry likewise will show a considerable increase with 75 pens already entered as contrasted with 62 last year.

Reduced rates will be offered by all railroads to those going.

REDUCED RATES INCREASES AIR MAIL VOLUME THIS YEAR

According to figures for the first half of the present year, 19 air mail routes carried more than 1,000,000 pounds of air mail as against about 1,500,000 pounds carried during the whole 12 months of last year. At this rate, there would be an increase of 1,000,000 pounds of the mail delivered in 1928 over the record in 1927. Since the rate was reduced to five cents an ounce in August, the average load jumped from about 160 pounds a trip during the first six months, to over 200 pounds a trip.

Turkey Co-operators Report Favorably On Results of Billing's Confinement Plan

Plenty of turkey meat, both dark and light, with stuffings, is assured for Thanksgiving and Christmas in American homes, according to reports received at University Farm from farm men and women of practically every county in the state who are rearing the turks under the Minnesota plan of artificial lighting and brooding, and confinement in yards thereafter, till they can have no association with chickens.

One farm woman writes that she has 600 birds compared with 50 last year and that all are doing well. Another woman says that of today could be saved for old age.

"The importance of good eyesight in school children cannot be overestimated. In addition to actual physical suffering defective vision often confuses with the usual educational procedures and may result in mental retardation and juvenile delinquency," says the report.

AUDITOR EXPLAINS VOTING PRIVILEGES OF NON-RESIDENTS

Six Months' Residence in State And 30 Days in County Requisite

Election laws permit non-residents citizens to vote here if they have resided in the precinct one month and in the state six months, County Auditor T. F. Anderson says.

Before every election there are always good many people who are uncertain if they may vote here, or if they must use the absent voter's ballot. This is true especially of teachers and others who are employed here most of the year, without taking up permanent residence. A special law has been passed, permitting teachers to vote either in their home precinct or where they teach. Thus any teacher who is a resident of the state may vote here, Mr. Anderson says, if they taught in this state last year.

Generally, a married man is regarded as being a resident of the precinct in which his family permanently resides, even tho he be employed elsewhere. A single man's, (or woman's) home however, is regarded as being the place where he usually sleeps, provided that he is self-supporting. College students are generally required to vote by mail if they receive any or all of their support from home.

Highway Department Will Not Oil T. H. 32 This Fall On Account of Late Season

T. H. 32 between this city and St. Hilaire will not be oiled this fall, as was previously planned, as the highway department has decided that it is too late to begin the work. The gravel that was dumped along the sides of the road to be used for covering the oil has been spread over the road, to prevent its bolding away.

The new piece of road south of St. Hilaire which will eliminate a double curve is now being graded. When this is completed the old bridge will be removed and all the traffic routed over the new bridge recently completed.

Maytag dealers everywhere follow the standardized rule of sending a Maytag to a home to do a week's washing free, and without obligation of any kind. This is the way all Maytag Aluminum Washers are sold. The Maytag must sell itself solely upon its performance in the home. It must wash everything to your entire satisfaction. Must wash everything quicker, easier and cleaner than other washers. Must wash everything—even collars, cuffs and wristbands, without hand-rubbing. Must prove to you, in your own home, that it is the most helpful home-laundering unit you have ever seen or used.

They Have Made Neighbors of Every American

Modern methods of communication and transportation have made neighbors of the 114,000,000 American people. They have shattered the barriers of distance and unified the nation.

These public servants have brought about a common language, uniform customs and ideals in America. No equal area in the world is so firmly cemented together.

But the telephone is the quickest of them all! It will carry your voice smoothly and instantly around the corner or across the continent.

The value of your telephone lies in the number of other subscribers you can reach from it. With only six per cent of the world's population, the United States has 60 per cent of the world's telephones. Today about 17,500,000 telephones are operated by the Bell System and its connecting companies.

Every American home and place of business is within talking distance of your telephone. There is no other such service in the world.

A Minnesota Dairy Farmer Abroad

CHAPTER XII

How Swedish Farmers Co-operate

From Oslo, Norway, I hopped across the country to Stockholm, Sweden, and I am very positive the Swedish sense of humor is not akin to that of the Norwegian. They are a more reserved people and you have to be aware them longer to appreciate their qualities. For instance I went out into the country with a very prominent man to visit the farms and he had to talk to see the cattle in the first instance, and because the owner was not at home we were denied admission. Americans are always glad to have folks come to see their cattle and this was a hard one for me to digest. Southern Sweden is given many to dairying than Norway. They have 644 co-operative creameries and dairies factories in Sweden, about the same number there are in Minnesota. But there are too many small plants, there are 10 parts of our own country.

The biggest thing in the co-operative or federated dairy field in Sweden is the Mjolkcentralen, Lantemannens Mjolkforeningar, meaning, as near as I can translate, the Milk Central, and I guess we had better call it that rather than to have any of our money in trying to crack the real name. This organization is the nearest in the organization of the Twin City Milk Producers association of St. Paul and Minneapolis that it is possible to get. If it did not actually bottle or distribute milk in the stores it does. It organized in 1915 when the farmers took over business previously conducted by five independent milk companies. The "Central" has only actual milk producers as members and there are 8,000 of those who have one share of $10 for each cow that they own, about 100,000 cows in all. The purpose of the organization is to receive the milk of its members and sell it or manufacture it into products to be sold for the members. A small amount of milk is accepted from non-members. In 1927 the "Central" received and handled about 317,000,000 pounds. Of this amount about forty per cent was sold as fluid milk in Stockholm and in the smaller towns about. The balance was made into butter and cheese or sent back to the members in the form of skim milk to be used as pig feed. The "Central" owns and operates 110 creameries and cheese factories and about 60 milk receiving stations in the country scattered over provinces around Stockholm. The milk comes into Stockholm mainly by the railroads at the present time—there is talk of, but in on trucks as in America. The average distance that the milk is shipped is about 45 miles.

About 585,000 pounds of milk are distributed daily by the "Central," mostly distributed in bulk, only the certified milk being bottled. I am of the opinion that this is a great mistake and is not the modern way of handling milk for so large a city as Stockholm with nearly 500,000. I am sure that the authorities could well afford to have the dealers bottle all milk that is used in fact it should be compulsory for the safeguarding of the public health. There is no milk delivered direct to the homes in Sweden but it is delivered to about 1,900 milk stores in the city, and that is an added reason why it should be bottled. These milk stores are inspected by the health department. They are often in connection with a grocery store but not always. In a separate room. No cheese is allowed to be sold in the milk room but beer in bottles may be sold.

* * * *

About two-thirds of the milk that is handled in the city of Stockholm is handled thru the "Central" plant which is in every way a modern and up-to-date plant and one that is a credit to any city on earth. Mr. Isinger, the former owner and general manager, keeps the business in apple pie order at all times and it was thru his wise forethought that the consolidation was brought about. All milk that is taken to the plant is cooled to the top story and it is then sent by gravity to the various processes and departments. They handle on the present time 25,000 pounds per hour, but not all of these are their farms. They have a well equipped laboratory for the tests. All milk is not certified is pasteurized at 145 degrees F. and is held for thirty-minutes. The bottles are made in the country plants mostly and's is then brought into the city plant where it is rewashed and is made it all uniform. Here they have storage capacity for 125,000 pounds. 11,686,000 pounds of butter and 11,- 181,956 pounds of cheese were sold in 1927.

* * * *

They have their own barns where 100 head of horses are kept and they do their own carpenter, harness and shoe work. The "Central" is governed by a large board of twenty directors and an executive committee of seven that held nineteen meetings last year.

But with all his splendid organization there exists outside of the association about as many creameries that are farmers' co-operative that believe that the "Central" is a good thing and that it should be kept up but as far as joining and becoming a part of it they do not exhibit any interest whatever. In other words they are willing to have the "Central" care for the surplus and do the heavy work and they sit by and accept just a little more and are happy. It is this tendency on the part of farmers all over the country that keeps them from getting a better price for their product. They are their own worst enemies and hold a little-half cent—so close to their eyes that they cannot see a dollar a bit further off. Business men in every walk of life are criticising us for just this foolishness, but a farmer will listen to those who are trying to disintegrate his organization many times before he will listen to his friends. This, in Sweden, is a sad picture.

Quick relief guaranteed or your money back. 35c, 60c, and $1.00. Sold by Lambert's Drug store and all other good drug stores.

A Simple Oats Sprouter

One of the most satisfactory and simplest kinds of an oats sprouter for the poultry house, and one which can be made easily at home, is table about 2 feet high, 2 feet wide, and as long as may be desired. The top of the table is perforated with ¼-inch holes and is boxed in with boards about 4 inches high. The amount of oats required for one day's feed can be soaked in warm water in a sack for 24 hours and then emptied on to one end of the table and spread out to a thickness of 2 or 3 inches. The oats can be turned over with a shovel from day to day and watered, and each day's supply moved along until they reach the lower end when they can be taken out to be fed. Oats will sprout best in a room where the temperature is about 70 degrees F. Aided though there are a number of dealers on the market for sprouting oats, some of which are satisfactory, most of them invoive too much labor if a quantity of oats is to be sprouted.

HAVE YOU NOTICED?

On Library Shelves

Among the new books recently added to our school library is one entitled "Careers for Women" by Catherine Filene. This book is edited by the director of the Intercollegiate Vocational Guidance association, a lady of great force in her line of work. The articles contained in the book are written by specialists in their own particular fields of endeavor and therefore are first-hand information.

This book should be of interest to every girl in our high school as well as to many of the boys. It suggests occupations for which a girl is suited and helps her know how much education of a particular kind would be the best for her own special case.

A few of the different lines taken up in this book which might be of particular interest to the ladies of this city are: Careers for the college graduate, secretarial, art, business, journalistic and newspaper work, education, scientific work, social service, library work, music, politics, religious work, scientific work, secretarial work and specialization.

This book should prove the "ridin, reading" piece of literature. While learning the fundamentals of your favorite occupation in school, you can at the same time be getting the "lowdown" on them from first class information.

Another very good book on vocations, "Choosing an Occupation" by Samuel Ziegler, Ph. D., and Helen Jamieson, A. B., has just been received by Miss Leavitt, librarian, and will be placed on the library shelves soon. It rides below a book of very wide range of vocations and giving a very intellectual point of view on different occupations, it contains many helpful illustrations and suggestions as to what a student going to high school may do while attending as well as after finishing his high school course.

As probably not more than one third or possibly one half of the students in Lincoln School have formed a definite idea as to their life work, there would be nothing lost and much gained by the reading of one or both of the books here mentioned as to put the erring students off the wrong track and all students on the right highway.

There is a striking contrast between the boys and girls in making the honor roll. 11.5 per cent of the girls were on the honor roll, while only 1.8 per cent of the boys.

Miss Silva was absent from school last Monday because of illness.

Sophomores Study Stories By New Contract Method

This method is made up of contracts, namely: the D, C, B, and A contracts. The D contract includes only the work taken up in class, which will give the student a D, or lower, according to his merit. If extra credit is desired the student must work on the C contract; if still more is desired, he must work on the B contract. The brightest students are interested in the A contract.

Polly-Ticks

The following political opinions are contributed by a freshman girl and a senior boy:

Next week two of the teachers will give their opinions of the political situation. The paper itself takes an impartial view of the candidates.

"Soon another presidential election will be in sight and not until four more years will the feather-lunged politicians fill the air again with their propaganda. This has been and is an exciting campaign—exciting because of the personality of Governor Al Smith. Hoover will undoubtedly win, but whether he will be, at least so it seems, the protestants for religious reasons, or others, as the farmers for farm relief, the real political political bosses for party policies, time will but tell. Hoover is a bootlicker to protect his investments. Hoover as food administrator during the World War had power over the people in regard to farm relief. He was in state's prison, as a Gump would say, and he is dry, not in a characteristic sense but in a political sense. "One good bird in the office is better than two in a cage" is a motto for the election of 1928. Hoover does not change his speeches to harmonize with the democratic party. It is his platform to which he sticks like glue. May the voters stick to him. Perhaps his personality is not as great as a "man in the brown derby", but he is a leader among men. His achievements show. Let us hope that we may be led over the rough road, not the beer parlor.

This election will have an effect on us, for in 1932 some of us will be voting and it is a good policy to know what it is all about for coming to some ideas, it 'is not, merely playing the hollowed X in the provided space! Then there is also the possibility of some of us running for president on the Socialist or L. W. W. ticket and so a general knowledge of presidential ballyhoo will be most welcome!"

Otto Sternberg.

"Victory is his habit—the 'happy warrior'" said Will H. Hoover in nominating Smith for the presidency. These words will prove true when Smith is our next president. (Let's hope so).

The one great element in Smith's victories is the fact that he is completely informed on every subject that is brought up for his discussions.

"When he was "running" for Governor of New York he was a man who meant business. Probably no one knows this better than Charles C. Whitman, the man he defeated.

And that victory is more than a challenge to Hoover; it means that he will be the next president.

Mary Warner.

FACULTY ROMANCE

There was a dear woman
Who lived in a shoe
And had so many daughters
She didn't know what to do!

Some of them worried her; some of them delighted her; but they agreed on one thing, that their troubles were safe in her hands.

Her numerous adopted daughters gathered around the dear lady as she sat before the fireplace. "Won't you tell us what you are thinking?" one asked. The lady's eyes lighted and she turned her cheerful, ever-ready smile on the speaker; "I was dreaming," she said, "of something that would solve all of my troubles, as far as landladies and girls from out of town are concerned. I want a large building—large enough to accommodate three hundred girls. Matron—I would be that, and look after all of you in one building instead of having my girls scattered all over town. Wouldn't it be fun? From six thirty to half past seven we would have recreation, such as talks, games, and entertainments. From then until 9:30 we would study. Lights out at ten! The right kind of meals for the girls and regular hours! No more landladies and girl squabbles to iron out! Fewer sickenesses and a more friendly feeling among them all! A dream, girls which I hope will someday come true."

Well Mrs. Konstad, the dear lady with so many daughters, can understand the country girls as well as those of the city. She lived on a farm near Highlanding and successfully raised poultry. So successfully, that even the women who have spent a life time on a farm ask her how she did it. Her answer was that she followed directions in the farm papers. A practical put to her own children, she has a real insight into the girls' troubles living in town.

When girls and their conversation concerning Mrs. Konstad, been of girls, they invariably say, "I like her awfully well." "Uh-hum, so do I, for she's awfully nice!"

A new fad in the school is the wearing of sweet shirts. Several students were them for the first time last Friday for the Warren-Thief River Falls game.

I Should Smile!

Miss Leavitt: What is brastly weather?

James: When it rains cats and dogs.

Mr. Matheson: When I was your age I could name all the presidents of by heart.

Dick M.: Yeah, but there was only about ten to remember then.

Several Members of Lincoln Squad in Action Last Time Here Friday

Playing their last home game of the season with the East Grand Forks aggregation here next Friday, Oct. 26, the Lincoln high gridders will pass something to fight for. Some of the boys will be playing their last game on home soil and they will be out to make it a good one.

East Grand Forks gave the boys a larruping last year at the count of 19-0, that has not been so easy to forget.— Flint has left them but there are many others who stepped in and East Grand has developed a fighting team as well. It has thus far in the season maintained a record a good if not better than the locals.

Defending Warren at the count of 25-0, the local gridders scored their first victory which was a long time in coming but here just the same, in the East Grand Forks game it is likely that more of the regulars on the paper list will be again in the line-up for the kick-off.

Two games on foreign fields will be left, one with Warren at Hemlock and the other at Hillsboro—both hard games.

Do You now?

That Mr. Ilse makes a daily practice of reading the classified ads—he does because he believes "Flowers need sunshine?"

That Matheson can read fourteen languages, understand ten, and write six?

That Madge Lallree expects to learn French this month?

That Laura Bowers is becoming a real actress?

That the political "whispering campaign" did not originate in school?

That Miss Simonson's pupils receive red marks if they wear rolled socks? But but three boys have been rebuked till this six-weeks period?

That Jimmy Warren was kicked out of history class for saying that girls should wear winter under-wear?

LOCALS DEFEAT WARREN 25 TO 0

Warren Experiences Total Defeat in Thief River First Victory of Season

Warren, ancient rival of Thief River Falls, were down in a scoreless defeat at the count of 25-0 before the driving attack of the local gridders on their home field here Friday, Oct. 19, 1928. Having to contend with a muddy field both teams were handicapped to some extent on plays around end and open-field running.

Lincoln High's usual school spirit was in evidence, and the new school yells, being sold by the enterprising Sophs stimulated the already excellent feeling of excitement.

Warren kicked-off to Thief River, who played around with the ball a while and then punted. The visitors made some neat drives through the local line, but were held down on their forty-seven yard line.

Thief River Falls then kicked, and forced them to kick, giving Thief River possession of the ball on their own 20 yard line. Baker, the local Frosh half-back, raged for a 22-yard gain, and Young followed suite with a twelve-yard run. Bakke added 4 more for the kick-off.

Thief River Falls was penalized for off-side set the locals back. On the next play, Warren was also called off-side. Young then took with a run the ball to his hands and galloped through Warren defense for 30 yards before being downed.

Arnold was thrown for a 4 yard loss on the next play, and an attempted pass was incompleted, the ball going to Warren on downs. They immediately punted and the locals made short gains for first down when the quarter ended. Score substituted for Baker at left guard.

Bakke, the blood-headed Viking, again tore loose and ran wild for 22 yards, but this gain was lost on the next down play, the ball going to Warren on downs.

Warren gained and Arnold intercepted, running 30 yards before being tackled.

Working the ball down on the Warren seven-yard line, Boomer carried the ball over for the first touchdown of the game. The try for point failed.

After the kickoff, Arnold tossed a nice pass to Fish Carlson, who romped over the goal line for a second touchdown, only to be called back, both teams being off-side. Another pass, Arnold to Fish, netted 12 yards, and shortly afterwards Bakke recovered a fumble and raced for a touchdown which wasn't called back, Fish booted the ball over, making the count 19-0 at the half.

Punts were exchanged during the third quarter with neither team able to threaten seriously until Thief River drove the ball down on Warren's twenty-yard line when the whistle blew ending the quarter.

Bakke, reliable as ever, for good gains, totted back for three yards, and Boomer took it over for another touchdown. The try for point failed, score 25-0.

Later in the last quarter, the local boys got the ball down in scoring territory and Boomer again took it over the last few yards of the game, the try for point failed.

Warren was on Thief River's 40-yard line and had just completed a 15-yard pass when the gun sounded ending the game at 25-0.

The line showed up nicely with Gibson playing his best game of the season at end. Ed. was crashing his way as fast as they came around his end. Anstead-at center played a heady game of football, busting through and breaking up many plays that were to end in line of scrimmage.

To give them some good experience and a chance to show what Coach Roe took his second and third teams to Red Lake Falls last Thursday, Oct. 18, where they successfully defeated the parochial school at the count of 19-0 in a fast game of football.

Roy Lonsen starred, making two touchdowns, and Eugene Hess added another. Clarence Unseth scored a try for a point. He also starred in the relay and fight, making good openings for the backs.

WASHINGTON.

The second grades has just finished their study of the Indians. They made Indian sand trays, Wigwams, and an Indian booklet for which the children colored covers.

Misses Kathleen Wich Amanda Malberg, and Hermia Benstad began their duties as teachers in the primary room of the Fifth grade Thursday.

NEW HONOR SYSTEM IS DEEMED FAIRER

Only Three Boys Out of 426 Students Make First Period Honor Roll

This year's honor roll system is different from that practiced last year. The requirements are two A's and two B's or their equivalent, an average of 85 per cent. This obliterates the possibility of having the required percentage but being made to make three B's and Boomer took it over for another touchdown. The try for point failed, score 19-0.

Later in the last quarter, the local boys got the ball down in scoring territory and Boomer again took it over the last few yards of the game, the try for point failed.

NATURE SHOWS THE WAY

WHEN you crack a particularly fine walnut and enjoy its rich meaty flavor, do you ever stop to think how flat and tasteless that same kernel would be without its sealed shell which protects against flavor evaporation .... Nature places in each bean of green coffee a certain amount of rich flavor which when developed by heat, she intends you to enjoy in your morning cup. But through the inability of man to perfect a coffee roasting process to prevent the evaporation of a considerable part of this rich flavor, there has been left behind many hard, dry, flavorless cells, which contribute nothing to the goodness of a cup of coffee .... Nash's Hermetic Toasting Process checks this evaporation, at the same time developing and enhancing true coffee flavor, resulting in a cup of coffee, with a new and unexpected taste delight. You will enjoy it as keenly year after year as the first time you try it. At your Grocer's.

MURPHY FLAYS PARTY LEADERS IN SPEECH HERE

LARGE CROWD PACKS CITY AUDITORIUM MON. NIGHT

Former Republican Pleads For Election Of Smith For Farm Relief Stand

In a speech ringing with denunciation of the Republican administration, standing Hoover as "the worst enemy of the farmer", Frank W. Murphy, wheaton attorney, pleaded for the election of Governor Alfred E. Smith to the presidency at the city auditorium evening last.

"I am anti a Republican," he said, "but there are no Republicans running this year. The Republican party is gone, rather than the party. I said only the day before that a prominent Republican would not sign the McNary-Haugen Bill."

Mr. Murphy centered his attack upon leaders of the Republican party, who, he said, were responsible for the defeat of the McNary-Haugen bill. He surprised many when he called the name of the bill in both houses of Congress, indicating overwhelming popular support.

Denies Rumors.

Taking particular pains to answer current rumors that he has received a large sum of money for supporting Smith, Mr. Murphy said that he had borrowed money from a friend to pay the difference when he traded in his old car for a new one. "And I am not looking for a political job. I can feed all my farm land, and still make a living practicing law."

Bitterly assailing Walter Newton, Minneapolis Congressman, as a consistent enemy of farm relief, he asked an audience, "Where do you belong? Is it with Walter Newton, the only representative between Chicago and Los Angeles who voted for condemnation for the committee, refusing to provide farm relief to be discussed, he said. After Lowy were lined up for a discussion by the supporters of the McNary Haugen Bill were to Houston and get relief, own plank written into the Democratic platform.

After devoting the major part of his time to attacking the record of the Republican party on farm relief, Mr. Murphy presented hurriedly his views on the St. Lawrence waterway, prohibition, religious prejudice, and Hoover's food administrator. Although he declared himself in favor of the St. Lawrence waterway "if it can be done", as pictured it as "at best only a dream for twenty or twenty-five years in the future."

Turning to prohibition, he said he was an ardent dry, and "hoped the liquor traffic could be driven from the face of the earth." The election of Smith would not endanger the Eighteenth Amendment, he said, because Congress is overwhelmingly dry, likewise the history of other countries showed that has accompanied the location of large cities, he said that it seemed to be a question, not whether we want liquor, but whether it is to be sold by criminals or by the government.

"Hoover is all things to all men. In the east he is considered safely wet; in the west he is considered safely dry; We can judge Republican enforcement only by their past record. Smith has a record for keeping his word; the Republican administration is fostering every trust.

Murphy was introduced by T. H. Hawley, president of the Pennington county All-Party Smith Club.

Highlanding Voters Hear Three Parties Extolled At Rally Saturday Night

Residents of the Highlanding community heard a triangular political discussion at the pavilion Saturday night. Walter E. Rye of Argyle and Juan Melby of Grimo, candidates for representative in the legislature, spoke for the Farmer-Labor party; Ralph Dunbigold, president of the Thief River Falls Flyer Club, spoke for Hoover, and H. O. Chemnue, Pennington county Democratic chairman, sat C. L. Donner of St. Paul pleaded for the election of Governor Smith. About fifty men and women attended the meeting, which was presided over by Pete Kustrand.

Mr. Rye, the first speaker on the program, discussed the progress of the farmer-Labor party in the state, declaring that the party controlled the organized bitter opposition when it first came into the legislature ten years ago but now the party has become the dominant force in the state. The Rural Credit law, he said, is a product of the Farmer-Labor party.

Mr. Melby, who is a candidate for a second term, invited the farmers not to become so engrossed in the presidential election that they forget to vote for the constitutional amendments on number 1, he said, is the one amendment that can bring immediate tax relief to the farmers, by permitting state money to county and township roads.

Speaking for W. C. T. U. leaders with unfairness and misrepresentation in their attack on Smith's stand on the prohibition issue, Mr. Chemnue discussed that the Democratic position toward the McNary-Haugen bill is a method of curtailing surpluses of the country.

Mr. Dahlquist declared his preference for Hoover as a presidential candidate on the ground that he favored legislation for better enforcement of the present law; because he is opposed to government ownership of Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam; because there is a better chance for early development of the St. Lawrence waterway under Hoover than under Smith; and because Hoover comes nearer to the views and demands of the farmer than does Smith.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Dolmer was called upon to explain why he, a life-long Republican, would vote for a Democratic candidate this year. He said the Republican party had placed the condemnation for official corruption during the past two administrations, and for their neglect of the farm problem.

Fire Breaks Out In Flax Tow Mill At Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls had occasion to use its new fire siren for the first time last Tuesday afternoon, when fire broke out in the flax tow mill. The fire started in the heater from an unknown cause, and was quickly spread by the dust in the roof and cupola of the building. The flames were soon checked by the fire department chemical and hose, and engines before any material damage was done, although it is estimated that the fire will cause damage to the building and loss of time, and put the plant between $500 and $1,000, all of which is covered by insurance. Wednesday was spent drying up the machinery, and Thursday the plant was back in operation.

When sweet clover is planted in the fall, unhulled, instead of scarified, seed should be used. The unhulled seed is cheaper and can be used more liberally. Seeding should not be done late enough in the fall so that the seed will not germinate before spring.

LUNDEEN SAYS STATE CAPITOL NEEDS CHANGE

URGES ELECTION ENTIRE TICKET; LAUDS SHIPSTEAD

Charges State Government With Failure To Prosecute Corrupt Officials

"We may have a new administration in the Minnesota state capitol if the Shipstead wave keeps sweeping the state," Ernest Lundeen, candidate for governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket, declared in an address at the city auditorium Tuesday night.

Lundeen paid his visit within 14,000 votes of electing a governor in 1922, and was defeated when he decided a few days before election that he couldn't win.

Mr. Lundeen urged the election of the entire Farmer-Labor ticket. He lauded Senator Shipstead as one of the ablest men in the senate, and declared that Knud Wefald would be returned to Washington to serve with Senator Shipstead. "Our record in congress will come back with clean records. They should be returned."

The Republican party, born in control at the state capitol so long that they have become corrupt, he declared. He said in outlining the reasons why a new broom is needed in the capitol. Among the charges that he laid at the door of the state administration were corruption in the state highway commission and the state treasurer, veto of state school aid appropriations and mothers pensions, and failure to respond to the records of closed banks.

Lundeen charged Governor Christianson with appointing the president of Minneapolis a member of the State Securities Commission to pay a political debt, in spite of repeated warnings that he was unfit for the position.

Accusing the state administration of withholding information about investigations of state institutions until after election, he said that the Farmer-Labor party was forced to come to the records of closed banks in the banking department, on the grounds that the commissioner was did not give them any money with which to publish the records.

But the program of the Farmer-Labor party is not all slanted to a discussion of state politics, Lundeen said, but calls for a program of progressive legislation. Among the things that the party has had a program of progressive legislation for is state regulation of banking. He gave public ownership of water power as one of the leading planks in the Farmer-Labor platform, and declared that the people have not yet been put into effect, and another plank is the abolition of taxation upon those best able to pay.

Mr. Lundeen offered his own legislative record, both as a member of the state legislature for three terms and as governor for a two-year term, as proof of his contention that he stands for progressive and constructive measures. Among the measures for which he claimed credit was a law raising the salary of the governor from $5,000 to $7,000; a state prohibition primary law, which has since been repealed; and a law giving the city of Minneapolis the right to operate, or lease, municipal docks.

As a special inducement, Mrs. Melby says that the hostesses will serve free coffee to fasm women Saturday afternoon and evening.

"Inside" Information

Hot gingerbread, split horizontally, and filled generously with cream cheese is delicious. Chopped nuts and dates may be added to the cheese to make it even better.

Articles kept on closet floors interfere with proper sweeping and cleaning. Unused articles can usually be stored on the uppermost shelves, and wall-pockets provided for shoes and slippers, which otherwise often clutter the closet floor.

Bloomers, usually worn out before the upper part of a child's dress, it is a good plan to make two pairs of matching bloomers when making the dress. Both of these may have tucks allowing for growth, taken on the inner side of the pockets where they will not show. They are then worn alternately to distribute the wear.

Saturday is Parents' Day At Crookston N. W. School; Varied Program is Planned

Parents from seventeen northwestern Minnesota counties will visit their sons and daughters at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, on Parents' Day, Saturday, November 3. A special program has been arranged with a view to enabling parents to associate themselves with the work of the school and citizen. The forenoon will be given over to the visitation of classes as the parents may meet the instructors and inspect the equipment of the various class rooms and laboratories. At noon the parents will be guests of the students in the school dining hall. A special assembly will be held at 1:30 p. m. when the students will demonstrate the work of the Music, English, Home Economics, and Agriculture departments. Special features of the day's activities include the Annual Home Project exhibit which will be judged by Miss Mildred Schenck of the University of Minnesota, and A. W. Anmodt, county agent of western Polk county; and the Halloween celebration scheduled to take place in the gymnasium during the evening.

Last year an unusually large number visited the school on Parents' Day and reported a most enjoyable occasion. Due to the large increase in enrollment, an even greater attendance is expected this year.

We have a theory as to the origin of most of the family arguments at breakfast. It isn't the "H.C.L." but, to be brutally frank, the "L.C.F." "H.C.L." as everyone knows is just plain Old High Cost of Living. "L.C.F." is just as well known, but until recently hasn't been given credit for all the mischief he's been doing for a long row of years—since away back before the Civil War. "L.C.F." plain English name is, "Lack of Coffee Favor." . . . "L.C.F." however, has had a good reason for existence, because up to now the ordinary method of roasting coffee could not prevent the loss by evaporation of a considerable percentage of the mellow richness placed by Nature in each bean of green coffee and essential to the creation of true coffee flavor. . . . Nash's Hermetic Process by a new method of roasting, not roasting, checks this loss of flavor, and makes possible an actual economy in the amount needed per cup. You will find that Nash's Delicious Coffee will banish "L.C.F." from your home and help greatly in the daily battle with old "H.C.L."

FERTILE BANK CLOSED DOORS BECAUSE OF DEPLETED RESERVES

The Farmers and Citizens Bank of Fertile closed its doors Monday afternoon. While the reason for closing the bank was not officially given, it is believed that depleted reserves was the cause. Ed. Mosedth was president of the bank.

All farm timbers used in contact with the ground should be of durable woods or of "sap" woods treated with creosote. This includes timbers used for foundation sills, stable floors, hog houses, gates, poles, and fence posts. For these posts are only the more durable woods such as black locust, red cedar, white or post oaks; chestnut, red mulberry, and catalpa are of timbers with creosoted "sap" timbers such as soft maple, basswood, poplar, gums, or sap pine.

MURPHY HAS COME AND GONE

Frank Murphy has come and gone. As a piece of oratory his speech was interesting. We do not know what effect it will have on the election in this community. We do know that it intensified the bitterness of the campaign in this community a great deal.

Murphy did not discuss issues. He fanned the flames of intolerance, prejudice and hatred. He did not explain why Smith was desirable but devoted all his energy and ability as an orator to vilifying the character of Hoover.

He intimated that because Hoover is a Quaker he is not qualified to serve as President for the reason that the President is the Commander-in-chief of the army and navy and the Quaker religion would not permit him to wage war. He stated that there wasn't a Quaker among the soldiers who gave their lives in the last war. Such charges need no answer.

He intimated that Hoover is claiming undue credit for the relief work with which he has been so prominently indentified during the past fourteen years. Every fair minded citizen who has given any attention to this relief work knows that Hoover has always belittled his own achievements in this field and has given the credit without qualification to the American people who have supplied the money. Hoover is not responsible for the praises of his friends or the thanks of those who have been aided through him.

He intimated that Hoover is more of an Englishman than an American. Hoover was enough of an American to serve in an important capacity the Democratic war administration and he was enough of an American to be considered for the Democratic nomination eight years ago.

He intimated that Hoover is "wet" in the east and "dry" in the west. Anyone who has heard or read Hoover's speeches, made both in the east and in the west on the prohibition question, know that Hoover is only one thing east, west, north or south and that is "dry."

He intimated that Hoover is double-crossing the people of the northwest by being for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway in the west and against it in the east. Hoover's opinions on this question, both as an engineer and as a candidate, are very clear and have been published by magazines of national circulation and Mr. Murphy knows it.

He stated that if the McNary-Haugen bill had been passed potatoes would now be worth sixty cents instead of fifteen, and yet he know that the McNary-Haugen bill applied to only six basic commodities, wheat, corn, swine, cotton, tobacco and rice, and would have no more effect upon the price of potatoes than the present price of butter has on potatoes.

He stated that Congress and the commission fixed the minimum price of wheat during the war at $2.20 and that Hoover made this minimum price a maximum price. Mr. Murphy knows that Congress fixed the minimum price at $2.00 and that President Wilson fixed the actual price at $2.20 upon the recommendation of his "Fair Price Committee" which was composed of six heads of farm organizations, two labor organization heads, two business men and two economists. This committee of twelve men made a study of conditions and recommended what they considered would be a fair price to both producer and consumer. Hoover, as the Food Administrator, was directed by the President to maintain that price in order to eliminate speculation. Here is a copy of the statement made public by the president at that time:

The White House, Washington,
Aug. 30, 1917.

"Section 11 of the food act provides, among other things, for the purchase and sale of wheat and wheat flour by the Government, and appropriates money for the purpose. The purchase of wheat and flour for our allies, and to a considerable degree for neutral countries also, has been placed under the control of the Food Administration. I have appointed a committee to determine a fair price to be paid in Government purchases. The price now recommended by that committee—$2.20 per bushel at Chicago for the basic grade—will be readily adhered to by the Food Administration.

"Mr. Hoover, at his express wish, has taken no part in the deliberations of the committee whose recommendation I determined the Government's fair price, nor has he in any way intimated an opinion regarding that price.

"WOODROW WILSON"

The "Fair Price"of $2.20 was later raised to $2.26 to allow for freight. All of this is known to Mr. Murphy. But the facts don't suit his purpose in this campaign, so, like the very able lawyer that he is, he manufactures facts that will suit his purpose.

And so on through his entire speech. Sarcasm, satire, misrepresentation and ridicule—these are the tools with which he works. Mr. Murphy is an orator of great power. His success at swaying juries has taught him how to sway large audiences. He knows that audiences are not to be swayed by facts but by prejudices, so he deals in prejudices and not facts. He knows better than to tell his audience truths that might not please them. He tells them what they like to hear. He plays upon their hatreds and their suspicions.

What effect his speech will have upon the election in this community we do not know. We do know that it has needlessly intensified the bitterness of the campaign.

HEAR SCHILLING SATURDAY

W. F. Schilling of Northfield will speak at the Auditorium next Saturday evening. Mr. Schilling is not a stranger to Times readers for we are now running a serics of articles written by him on his recent trip thru Europe. These articles, entitled "A Minnesota Dairy Farmer Abroad," have been both instructive and entertaining, and from what we have been told of him as a speaker his talk Saturday night will be worth hearing. He is discussing the questions of the present political campaign which he presents as a dairy farmer and as the president of the Twin City Milk Producers Association. He is an authority on his subject.

WHO WILL WIN?

What will undoubtedly be recognized as one of the greatest political battles in the history of our country is now drawing to a close. In another week we will know the results. As to predicting now what those results will be, all that anyone can do is venture a guess. And one man's guess is as good as another's. Our guess is that the winners in the important contests will be Hoover, Shipstead, Christianson and Selvig. At any rate we feel that they should win.

Our reasons for favoring Hoover and Christianson have been fully explained. We have a great deal of confidence in them and not very much in their opponents. In the Shipstead fight we do have confidence in the opponent. Arthur Nelson is a man of outstanding qualifications and if he is elected he will give the state of Minnesota honest and able representation during the next six years and for that reason he is entitled to the re-election. Party affiliation is an important consideration in any election but there are other things more important and one of them is faithful service. To place party affiliation as the first qualification of a candidate for any office is to place the emphasis on the wrong thing. We believe the interests of good government will be better served by re-electing Shipstead because of his good record than by defeating him because he is not a member of the dominant party.

We are for Selvig for the same reason that we are for Shipstead. His record during this, his first term, has been good and he is entitled to re-election on the strength of it. There are some who argue that he should be defeated because the issues of the campaign two years ago were not clear. We do not believe such a position is justified. The campaign two years ago, as we remember it, was as fair as any political campaign can be. One of the candidates was given more votes than the other and was elected. He has made a good record during the short time he has been in office and deserves to be re-elected.

THE TRUTH ABOUT TAMMANY

The efforts of some of the enthusiastic Smith supporters to apply a coat of white wash to the record of Tammany are interesting. These enthusiasts would have us believe that the old tiger in reality is nothing more than a very gentle and orderly house cat that does a good job of keeping the premises clean from pests of various kinds. If we are to believe what they tell us we must look upon this animal as a benefaction and a blessing to mankind.

It appears, however, that some of our western Democrats take a kindlier view of this little pet than do a few of the New York Democrats themselves. For instance the New York Times, a very excellent newspaper and which speaks for the Democrats on most questions of importance, had this to say about Tammany in 1924 at the time of the death of Boss Murphy:

"Tammany Hall has a long record. It professes to cherish the people, but at heart it always inhabited to scandal and debauch them. Richard Croker with his brazen cynicism said that as leader of Tammany Hall he was working for his own pocket. Dr. Parkhurst's encompassers were less indiscreet, not so boldly defiant, but the motive of the organization has not changed. It has greatly refined its methods. There are no longer crude Tweed slaughters. But by subtler means, usually within the form of the law, Tammany is still able to enrich its masters and managers.

"For New York State it is just as much a disgrace as it was fifty years ago that it is so often ruled from secret and self-appointed oligarchy which does not publish its accounts, does not dare to absorb its chief members directly to the test of the popular vote and yet presumes to direct the public administration and political fortunes of this great city. Mr. Murphy's (Charles F.) rule was comparatively mild. He did not openly affront the moral sense of the citizens. He was reticent in speech and had amiable traits which brought friends to him. But notwithstanding all this should make us forget that he was the creature and benefactor of a system which, without official responsibility, degrades our official life, and which condemns New York City to suffer from real administration and the lowest moral standards in public office.

On the same day that this editorial appeared in the New York Times, Al Smith issued a statement on the death of Murphy in which he said, "I am suffering from the loss of a close personal friend of many years standing. He was a noble, clean, wholesome, right-living man."

In his speech Monday evening Frank Murphy devoted much of his time to the corruption of the Harding administration. While he did not state that Hoover had been dishonest, he did intimate that because of his association with dishonest men he should be defeated.

It is true that Hoover has been associated with many corrupt men in both the Harding administration with its oil scandals and in the Democratic Wilson administration with its war contracts and profiteering. We submit however that, had as have been these influences, they have not been nearly as bad as the influence of Tammany on Al Smith, the organization to which he owes everything that he is or that he ever will be politically. Hoover is not indebted to the Republican party; the party is indebted to him. But Smith is the child of Tammany.

WILL CALL A SPECIAL SESSION

Those who have doubted the sincerity of Hoover's statements on the need for immediate action on the problem of farm relief should find satisfactory assurance in his statement to the effect that if relief is not provided by the short session of congress he will immediately call a special session to deal with the problem. His statement on this subject is as follows:

"The question of a special session of congress after March 4 in the event of the return of the Republican party has been under discussion for some time.

"There are a number of questions, particularly agricultural relief, which urgently require solution and should not be delayed for a whole year. It is our most urgent economic problem.

"I should hope it can be dealt with at the regular session while full and thus a special session avoided. If, however, that cannot be accomplished, I would, if elected, not allow the matter to drift and would immediately call an extra session so as to secure early constructive action.

"No man could give a more specific pledge than this. We have faith that he will make a sincere effort to do the things that he says he will do.

PublicForum

To The Public Forum:

In the present heat of the presidential battle let us not overlook the important matter of selecting the proper man to fill the position of Judge of the Fourteenth Judicial District. We well know whom our present Judge stands for on questions of utmost importance to the public welfare by their past records.

Let us consider what it means to the district as a whole and not only our own community when selecting our Judges for the next six years and vote for men who have stood the test of service and have proved honest, upright and true.

H. A. Brumund.

Editor of The Times:

Please allow me a little space to comment on a phase of the farm question which is overlooked by most writers in the election campaign, namely, the relation of world conditions to American agriculture.

During the war our farmers were encouraged to increase their acreage, under the slogan "Feed the Allies," as no one knew how long the war might continue.

The war was followed by chaos in many parts of the world, and a whole series of civil and international wars took place. Governments were overthrown and with them systems of finance. Even the financial conditions which were the inevitable result of so much disorder, whole nations found themselves unable to buy food and the American farmer was left with a large surplus of grain on their hands and a limited market in which to dispose of it.

The same year when the United States undertook the relief of the large scale of the famine in Russia, our farmers had the corn to were burning their corn in place of ever claiming it was worth more as fuel than if sold at the prevailing market price.

An article in the Current History magazine for January, 1922, by Prof. Vernon Kellogg, one of the directors of the relief in Russia, gives a picture of the condition of a large portion of the human race. For instance, the author makes casual reference to the feeding of 200,000 children in the Baltic States, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Austria. Besides these were the relief extended to many, the Near East, China, etc.

Now, what would have been the condition of our farmers had the afflicted nations been able to buy the needed grain, instead of depending on charity? Very many fairly well set up the American surplus for a number of years but for the lack of credit. Russia alone could have bought the entire American surplus of wheat from at least one year's crop and helped to retard the downward trend of farm prices in one of the most difficult periods in the history of American agriculture.

How any one can place the entire blame for the farmers' plight on the Republican administration I am at a loss to know, as it is evident that two causes operated against the farmer—the policy of deflation begun under the Wilson administration and the world conditions, over which the United States had no control.

I think an unbiased consideration of these facts will cause many a voter to pause before voting against the man who fed so barley bread in order that the American soldiers in France should have white flour.

J. E. Havel.

Thief River Falls, Minn.

P. S.—I wonder how some of the Europeans whose lives were saved through the energy of Mr. Hoover would have felt if they had heard him speak in the Lyceum auditorium Monday night, when a large audience was drenched with such a flood of invective that the more caustic utterances of the Farm-Labor candidates would pale by the collective might of the adjectives and epithets which seemed to many of them like a breath of fresh air.

RATS DESTRUCTIVE TO CORN IN STORAGE

Rats feed upon all kinds of animal and vegetable matter, but are especially at home in the open field, in river banks, and in buildings of all descriptions, developing their greatest activity when newly planted, while growing, during the autumn season, and when during transit, in the mill, in the shop, and in the home. They ruin by pollution many times as much as they eat. One of the most common complaints of the United States rats is that they cause great losses of chicks and eggs. This kind of damage is more conspicuous than the slow, steady drain on grain and other farm products. Rats are expert climbers and often damage standing corn in the fields. Corn in the shock is subject to very little injury, but by far the greatest loss is to corn in storage, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. A questionnaire sent to 200 representative farmers in North Carolina disclosed that the average of 51¢ per cent of the stored corn in the State is destroyed each year by rats. More than half the entire corn crop of the United States is held in storage for a period of at least three months and in that time is susceptible to injury by rats. If the average damage done by them to stored corn for the entire country is only one-tenth of what has been shown to be in North Carolina, even then we would have a loss of more than $7,000,000 in corn in storage alone.

The size of the business of a farm is of the utmost importance in attaining a reasonably high standard of living, and there are many farms with a business too small for sufficiently large returns, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The size of business of a farm should not necessarily be measured by the number of acres of land it may be the acreage crops or of bearing orchard or grove, or the number of dairy cows or hens. A few acres of truck crops may represent as large a business as many more acres of grain and hay crops, or a few high-producing dairy cows as large a business as a much more extensive system of the general livestock farming type.

The new Buick is the new Style

Men and women on every street—in every city and town—are pronouncing the new BUICK with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher, the most beautiful automobile of the day

Never before in the history of motor car manufacture have the people of America welcomed any new automobile as they are welcoming the Silver Anniversary Buick with new Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher.

Sweeping into the market at a time when motor car lines were practically complete, this new achievement was overwhelming individual preference and immediately introduced an entirely new mode—

Lines—of embossed side and hood panels involving the most costly panelling ever employed on any car in the world.

And as the weeks have passed—as Buick's achievement has become known to the public—so has the enthusiasm for this car has grown in supposed geometrical proportions!

Public sales records have been broken. Production schedules have been increased again and again. The factories are working on the basis of a capacity to supply the demand.

Public Forum

My Dear Editor:

I trust I may be permitted to occupy a little more space in your paper in connection with the pending campaign. I notice everybody is getting terribly hot under the collar, especially as it is the Presidential candidates. This is all good and well and proper. But as stated in one of my former letters we Farmer-Laborites should first of all look after our own candidates. Let us devote our time to the election of Shipstead, Wefald, Day and Melby and the rest of our own candidates.

As Governor Christianson said in his recent speech let us judge men and candidates by their records. Let us forget all the candidates say now during the campaign, and look back to what they have said and did before they became candidates. Let us look at the last six, seven or eight years. What did we hear and what did we witness about the various candidates before this campaign started? Judge men by their records and the right they have made and the votes they have cast on different measures.

Shipstead and Wefald both have long and favorable records as public officials. Shipstead and Wefald have both served in the State Legislature and from their home counties before they became members of Congress. They have spent ten or fifteen years of their life in the fight for progressive legislation, and for the rights of the people. We do not have to guess where they stand on different questions. Their record tells the whole story as to where they stand. They were in the Progressive fight long before their opponents were ever heard of. No one ever heard of Arthur La Belle being out and speaking and working for Senator Lenroot until he got the Senatorial boss' a year or two ago.

Shipstead and Wefald are on friendly terms with both the Republican and Democratic Parties. They can and no doubt will support either party when it is in the right. They are equally free to fight both parties when they are not. And right now it seems best for the Northwest to have a few Independent Progressives in Congress. like Shipstead, Wefald, Brook, Norris, Frazier, Wheeler, Kvale and Carss, many others.

Neither Shipstead or Wefald are trying to get elected by hanging on to the Coat tails of either Hoover or Smith. It is a pitiful sight to see a Senatorial candidate running around and asking for votes because he is for Hoover, or Smith. Shipstead and Wefald stand independent on their own records. And I notice that when Shipstead and Wefald come to town for a meeting they do not need to have the band and militia escort to get an audience to hear them. They do not need a torch light procession parade marching through town to get the people to come, like some candidates.

We certainly cannot see any need of electing a Republican Senator because he can sit in the councils of the Republican party lately. We do not see that in the past the councils ever did us any good. That is after all the most foolish argument I have heard in this campaign. Let us keep our Independent Farmer-Laborite, Senator Shipstead in Congress. Let us again elect We. fald to represent us in Congress. They can get favors and results from both parties. Then when the Republicans and Democrats in Congress start fighting, we shall have the Senators from Minnesota there like Shipstead, Wefald, Kvale and Carss to act as Umpires.

Farmer-Laborites get busy from now on. Let us show what the Ninth Cong. Dist. can do. Let us make it 10,000 for our Shipstead and Wefald. Let us get in our votes.

Yours truly,
H. O. Berve.
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Editor Times:

Two significant things have happened the last week that should have a decided bearing on the outcome of the campaign. Both have helped to make clear the basic positions of the two opposing forces.

The first is Senator Norris' unqualified indorsement of Governor Smith's candidacy, on the ground that there is no other possible place for a true progressive than in the Smith camp.

The other is Mr. Hoover's speech in New York where he gave the final discharge against Smith that he is advocating socialism.

Mr. Hoover said:

"Because the country is faced with difficulty and doubt over certain national problems—that is, prohibition, farm relief and electrical power—the opposite proposes that we must thrust government a long way into business and that we give the single tax problems. In effect, they abandon the tenets of their own party and turn to state socialism as a solution for the difficulties pre sented by all three."

He further explains his objection to Mr. Smith's "socialistic" ideas. As a Republican he regards as the "fundamental contribution" of the Republican party, "a contribution unalterably and sustaining all the others" the negative policy of resistence "to every effort to inject the government into business in competition with the citizens". For the government to do so would be to destroy the "ordered liberties" and the "equal opportunity" of every individual.

Let us briefly apply Mr. Hoover's reasons for his opposition to Mr. Smith's "socialism" to the three problems mentioned, and the remedies suggested by Smith.

(1) In respect to electrical power, Mr. Smith's proposal is that the government, in protection of property already its own, and in the interests of the helpless individual consumer of electricity, shall operate certain great hydroelectrical properties, owned by the nation, and sell the current to distributing companies under contracts which would limit the retail prices and insure parity. Is there being any thing or objects to the plan. But his 18th appreciation for Hamilton, Jefferson or some mortal of bygone years, and clear business methods most folks.

Let's clamber from our lofty perch, Choose sides and have a mutual understanding regarding Tammany Hall. Let's clear the air.

The main purpose of Tammany Hall was originally a patriotic move when organized in 1762 modified and chartered in 1812. First called Liberty Pole, then Sons of Liberty, finally Tammany Hall in about 1864.

Tammany Hall is the only work of most a century, then became a political outfit pot so powerful it controlled politics in New Jersey and the renowned Tom Taggart and D. C. Stalgenborn of Hoosier fame. Tammany could make and break Governors, Senators, attorneys and policemen, cripple law enforcement beyond the wildest imagination.

By fraudulent ballotting, counting and padding of results they were able to elect a man outsider into any office with ease. Tammany's big delights occurred in 1920 when Smith failed to carry a single state beyond the metropolitan area.

Smith's proposal certainly would put a decided crimp in the business of the criminal traffickers in liquor. Mr. Hoover is in the strange position of rising to the defense of the right of the individual citizen to be a law breaker. Such is a fair, free progressive governmental competition. Such are the absurd results when one attempts to apply 18th century formula of individualism to a complex modern problem.

Mr. Hoover is a first class mining engineer, a special of economics and engineer, however, his equipment is of the past. His ideas were doubtless proper to be applied to the single tax problems of two hundred years ago. They clearly do not fit their own party and turn to their own party and turn to the complex life and problems of the present.

A progressive social and economic engineer—one who will approach these problems with the ideas of the present rather than with the ideas of the 18th century, is needed. I believe Senator Norris is right, between Hoover and Smith he has not a progressive choice of institution. In his statement of Smith he is a progressive in his attitude to attack the great problems of the 20th century with a 20th century mind, even though the solution involves governmental action.

A final word. Voters should beware of the 11th hour attacks on the candidates for either party, whether of the whispering variety, or the more blatant form. Legitimate attacks are not postponed until the last minute, when there is no answer on the part of the victim.

H. O. Chominie,
Editor Times:

Barrister Chominie, in last week's article made several statements that requires extensive contradiction. Appreciating the generosity of the space in the United States and its 1922 issue, I will endeavor to give little appreciation for Hamilton, Jefferson or some mortal of bygone years, and clear business methods most folks.

Let's clamber from our lofty perch, Choose sides and have a mutual understanding regarding Tammany Hall. Let's clear the air.

The main purpose of Tammany Hall was originally a patriotic move when organized in 1762 modified and chartered in 1812. First called Liberty Pole, then Sons of Liberty, finally Tammany Hall in about 1864.

Tammany Hall is the only work of most a century, then became a politicking pot so powerful it controlled politics in New Jersey and the renowned Tom Taggart and D. C. Stalgenborn of Hoosier fame. Tammany could make and break Governors, Senators, attorneys and policemen, cripple law enforcement beyond the wildest imagination.

By fraudulent balloting, counting and padding of results they were able to elect a man outsider into any office with ease. Tammany's big delights occurred in 1920 when Smith failed to carry a single state beyond the metropolitan area.

Chominie claims that the reform element of Tammany prosecuted Jimmy Walker and Frank O'Brien, that John Dunne and Frank O'Brien, that Tom Foley's cabinet attorneys were retained by Governor Roosevelt and Tweed and Crocker.

Chominie, the Queens sewer graft case Tammany again demonstrated that Governor Roosevelt, Comptroller Craig and Seeley, evidence was too great for conviction, resulting in conviction and imprisonment in this case.

Mr. Chominie avers that Governor Smith ordered investigation when the fact is it was the court, jury, intelligent citizens aroused by the outcry forced the district attorney to act.

Chominie, it is incredibility to say that no scandals are charged or even suspected in connection with Smith's administration. My good man Chominie, data and relate with reference to Smith's administration as more of them which occurred under the Governor's eyes and Smith I am positive was not advertising into that strange and beautiful country known as the Land of Nod, moaning slumber.

Notably three of them, the Sing Sing building, Long Island franchise and Interborough Subway deals are matters of public knowledge, here in another gun man. Nor would the citizens of Brooklyn be inclined to consider Mr. Smith's plan, any more than it is now limited by the Volstead act.

Yours truly,
H. O. Chominie.

VOTE FOR
J. M.
Bishop
Candidate for Judge
Capable-Qualified
Worthy

J. M. Bishop of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, was born on a farm at LaMoille, Iowa, where he worked during his boyhood, while attending country school, and later during his vacations while he spent six Years at the University and Valparaiso University.

He has the following degrees: Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Law, and has been admitted to practice in all state and Federal Courts, including the Supreme Court.

After his fathers death he located in State Center, Iowa, where he practiced law. During his residence there he was city attorney, master. He later removed to the county seat, Marshalltown, and there continued the practice of his Profession.

He came to Minnesota in 1902, and shortly after establishing his home and practice in Thief River Falls, was appointed Judge of the Municipal Court. He was later elected and re-elected to that office, serving altogether nine years. During that period the Red Lake Indian Reservation was opened for settlement, and a majority of the early settlers on this land proved up before Judge Bishop. He was a pioneer in the development of the country and at one time owned and operated the telephone system of Thief River Falls, and the surrounding country towns.

During the war he served on the Legal Advisory Board of Pennington County. His wife, son and daughter are all active in the American Legion and Auxiliary circles.

Mr. Bishop is a friend of the farmer and labor unions. He is squarely against Judicial Ditches, which have caused hundreds of farmers to abandon their farms because of unjust taxation. His Republican as Municipal Judge was one of fairness as has been pointed out by attorneys who practiced before him.

Mr. Bishop has always favored equal suffrage, and it was through his efforts that the District Court of his county was forced to draw names of women for Jury duty.

From its geographical location Thief River Falls is a convenient location for the home of one of the Judges, and Mr. Bishop's home town and county are working hard for his election. They believe that his qualifications, his experience in the law, his knowledge of men and his fearless attitude toward prohibition, are the things that can go to Washington establish in two years a record that has only compliments to its credit is worthy of consideration.

Now! What would it be taken to mean if we should vote for Wefald? It would be contrary to every thing Selvig's work in congress is disapproved by the people of the Red River Valley. What bigger mistake could we do at this time than show our disapproval of a higher tariff on agricultural products. Selvig has and is fighting for the McNary-Haugen Bill and all real farm relief. No Folks! Let's go to the polls next Tuesday, vote for Selvig, endorse the agricultural program that Selvig is fighting for.

To vote for Wefald can only be a vote for sympathy. Wefald is a good fellow and a fine personality But can we afford to waste a vote for sympathy in neglect of our most important issue, Farm Relief.

Respectfully yours,
Thief River Falls, Minn. Engrossed.

THIEVES SOWS SHOULD BE USED FOR BREEDING

Old sows may be more profitable than pigs for next spring's crop of pigs, says K. P. Fortin of the animal husbandry department at University Farm.

Two spring pigs grown this year have used very much as much skimmilk, more, consequently most of the pigs are small and undersized," he says. "I have seen many mistakes made connected with nursing sows. Many sows are not to be disappointing next spring.

"I can see from there are this sows still in the pens of breeding afterwards. Many not yet have farrowed. Their market because of the scarcity of pigs during the summer. These sows will raise a good part of bread to farrow next spring, providing they have plenty of milk and good feeds. The sows can be bred to farrow earlier than the litters and accordingly the farrowing of next year's crop can be hastened.

"A yearling or two-year-old sow will farrow—and raise more pigs than a pig because she is a source of milk now. There is always an uncertainty as to how well a pig will make her litter, while the old sows which have been disappointing go to market. In the first place two-and-one-half to three pigs more per litter can be raised to weaning age from tried sows than from gilts."

Windsled Will Carry Mail Across Lake Of The Woods

Harry Mitchell, who has the contract to carry the mail between Middelbute and Northwest Angle, is building a big airplane with a 110 h. p. motor to haul passengers and freight as well as mail, over the waters of the Lake of the Woods to the roof of the world. In fattening turkeys for market an important thing is to have them about the first of October to feed light and fattening. Being a Greenhorn in Deutschland

Wesner, Germany, July.

I haven't had a drink of water for five long days and nights and I am not in the least thirsty. Many years ago I heard Adolph Gutzwiller—he was then town boss of the Milwaukee Journal—say that "water was fine for washing only," and he spoke Advised truly. I was in Germany—land of beer—talking about. At the end of five days I have come to the conclusion that he was right. Not that there aren't many is concerned.

Well, if ninety-nine per-cent of the good people were here this evening they would agree with me that they would take a chance on a little low well water, and with the open sewers running through the streets they would not "see America thirst."

Yesterday I stood every where the real the large coup strainer under his nose with the request that I be served who serves barley juice for a drink of ginger ale. He looked at me like I was a freak. Then he was stared at the sound. He could not understand what I wanted and made all the motions and even went so far as to get his fine lunch counter and get the mustard and tried to make him understand that the ginger ale I was after was clear and in the kitchen cupboard at least I would get me somewhere. So instead than die of thirst in a land of plenty and also in help "pay at the war debt I said: "Give me ein grose beste ich bier" and he hit on all four the first jump.

I came into Germany from Copenhagen, Denmark, and landed Saturday night, July 21st, at the little town of Wesner in East Friesland. Wesner has about five thousand inhabitants and all but four of them came to see me the first night. I was a real live American and evidently the first that they had encountered in a long time. An old man who has had the tremble for forty-seven years or so met me at the train and saw at the depot. He was a fatherly old man and resembled my father-in-law man grandfather. He had a very friendly face and about a half peck of well-groomed whiskers that he tucked into his shirt front to keep them from getting pulled when he shouldered my big suit case. I wanted to help him but he would not stand for it and said something in German that didn't soak into me a single bit.

Well, we went down the long platform and every soul we met bowed to me pushing a two-wheeled cart and I following with my vest and coat. Every little while the old man would stop and rest a bit and tell some remarks that I was an American. He would get the once over, and sayings "Amerikanische Flieger" stirred at the hotel and the landlord greeted me in the best latch of the native tongue that I ever heard. The second me in mentality took my luggage up to No. 9 and I began to learn how to handle electric lights off or on. After washing my face I went down and told to few that I wanted to find John Tranters, a farmer. I did this in badly broken German, and then I sat down at a table and acted like the German that I was. I filled up on German fried potatoes, with onions in them, rye and white wheat bread, Holstein cheese and beer. That was the whole menu. There was no dessert.

After supper I was over the real fun began. The old man with the whiskers and a younger man went out to find the man that I was looking for and they brought him in from his farm two miles away, also one hating an arm. Well there was a real love feast and then there was a good-sized row on and I thought that someone was going to get hurt. No one could speak enough English to tell me what it was all about and finally I turned to a bright looking lady sitting in the lobby and asked her if she could speak English. She said "a leetl." Well, I asked her what all the row was about and she told me that they were quarreling over who found the man first. I then drew a glass of water for each and then asked them "How much?" and I paid a reward of four marks and quieted the two; but the natives began to gather to see the real live American and I was after eleven before I could break thru the ranks and hit the hay. Before leaving I got the school-marm interpreter to tell my new found friend that I wanted to go to church in the morning and he said he would call for me. Well, he did, with a bicycle. He pushed the wheel and I followed him to the nearest the Church in about ten blocks.

I sat in silence in the ancient church and watched the people come in. They had a picture to see of the little girls with the tight braids and the big ribbon bows near the back. Not a single "Bobby" in the lot. And what reverence! Not an eye was turned. Nearly all had flaxen hair but there were a few cinnamons and brunts. There was considerable gingerbread and it was a singing as I never have heard before. Not a few sang but they all sang, and they really sang as the they meant it. After church was over I was invited out to dinner and my heart beat for the car of horse but we started as we had come. After about two hard grass tries and I was ready to throw up my hands, was the walking on cobble stone pavement about bended me, we turned in and I was landed for the first time in a real German farm home in Deutchland.

After introductions all around we started in with rice soup for first and second courses and then the third, fourth and fifth courses were boiled potatoes and canned pork, with dill pickles as a dessert. There was no bread but bread baked without raising with yeast. I have found that this is not the exception but the rule in the farm homes. I also noticed that the street workers always eat the black bread. It is hearty but not tasty and I wish that some of the American children who have everything in the world would have only two weeks of this and see how they appreciate it.

After dinner we walked all over the farm, which contained about 160 acres. There were eight tens one right thick of the others. The cows were about in the middle and the fields were scattered to the house in large patches with the stick across the middle and then there were all put together, as is the case with most of the homes. But this man Franzen was a farmer. He only owned one horse and he was in the pasture. When him why he did not have more and he said that the horse ate too much and gave no milk. The horse was used for hauling in the hay, mowing with a two-bottom plow. All the other work, such as the cutting of the hay and grain, was all done by hand labor by the man and his son and wife. But such farming is not the best possible. And the land was new he said; it began to gather to see the real live had been cultivated years and years ago. He kept a compost heap and also a pit for the liquid manure and that is the way that he and the rest of the farmers do the trick. His rye crop averaged fifty bushels per acre easy; the oats about 75 bushels. And the trees were just as thick as they could stand and white with blossoms showing a very healthy condition.

I visited about the old town and met several people and they were nice and friendly to me. The buildings are all of red brick and the streets, almost without exception, are of tile. The houses looked as if they had been rained down or were sown broadcast as there are not two in a block on the same angle. Some places the streets are twelve feet wide and in others fifteen, and the sidewalks are made to fit about the front of the buildings. Sometimes they are six feet wide and then they are only one foot. If the store or house sticks out too far into the street. The stores are the residences. When you enter the front door a bell rings and that brings the attendant, man or lady. I went into a drug store the other day to get some films and left the door standing open and I heard the loudest bell imaginable and turned to see a fire department was going up the street but the lady hastily closed the door and the department was gone.

I climbed up into one of the windmills yesterday and it was sure a novel sight for an American. This particular mill was made in Holland and shipped here in canal. It was erected in 1771 and is running and grinding as good as ever. All the mechanism is of wooden—the cogs and wheels and all. There are two stones in the third story and the grain, largely American wheat and corn, is lifted up to the stones a single bag at a time and placed in the large hoppers and then it turns thru the spouts to the second floor where it is sacked and then shot down into the farmers wagon or piled away for him to get after a windy day. The hoisting is done by putting one end of a looped rope about the sack and tightening the other end of the rope about the main shaft of the mill and thus the operator knows the end until the sack goes thru the two floors and when it is up he simply releases the rope and it comes down for another sack. With fair wind they can grind one hundred sacks a day and they charge fifteen cents a sack for the work. Not a single "Bobby" in the lot. And what reverence! Not an eye was turned. Nearly all had flaxen hair but there were a few cinnamons and brunts. There was considerable gingerbread and it was a singing as I never have heard before. Not a few sang but they all sang, and they really sang as the they meant it. After church was over I was invited out to dinner and my heart beat for the car of horse but we started as we had come. After about two hard grass tries and I was ready to throw up my hands, was the walking on cobble stone pavement about bended me, we turned in and I was landed for the first time in a real German farm home in Deutchland.

But on every farmstead there is beautiful flower garden. I saw one single of the most beautiful flowers, the hollyhock and then there were all kinds of the most beautiful flowers, the hollyhock and then there were all children size, these beauty spots in the midst of the vegetable garden that is in vast quantities with some of the other countries that I have visited.

Precautions Urged In Mailing Laundry Bags

The post office department has issued the following bulletin which should be of special interest to those who mail laundry bags:

The season of the year is again here when young people leave their homes to attend State institutions of learning. These students are extensive users of the mails for their suit cases, laundry bags, packages from homes, etc. Postmasters of college and university towns report that in many instances the suit cases, laundry bags, etc., addressed to authorized written matter, such as books of school text, lecture matters, memoranda, books and magazines bearing magical and mailing on which the postage at the fourth-class rate only prepaid. Such parcels are rated up according to their classification and the deficient postage collected on delivery. The postmaster states that such deficient postage causes these collections work hardship on the students.

Postmasters and postal employees are directed to give special attention when accepting suit cases, laundry bags and other parcels intended for students in colleges and university towns and see that proper postage is affixed to prevent the dispatch from their offices of parcels offered for mailing at less than the full amount of postage which contain written matter not permissible with the class of matter as offered.

Close observance of these instructions by mailers will result in a great saving in time, inconvenience and expense to them and to those receiving mail matter above described.

We have moved our offices 2 doors north of Postoffice.

Initial Registration At State University Reaches 10,023 Resident Students

Figures announced by President Coffman show that there were 704 students at the University of Minnesota when classes began this fall for every 100 who were there a year ago. The gain was slightly less than the average increase of recent years.

Without counting the graduate school, which last year enrolled a total of about 1,200 at... ots, many of whom registered late, the figures show that Minnesota began the year with 10,023 students, as against 9,319 at the fall of 1927. These are all collegiate students. Extension correspondence and short course enrollments are not included.

This year's enrollment is approximately twice that of the college year of 1917-1918, when there were 5,267 students in the University. Growth was swiftest in the years immediately following the war, and in recent years the annual increase has been 10 percent annually. This year's increase is a fraction over four per cent, and may reach five per cent when graduate enrollment has been completed.

All divisions show increases this year except Nursing, Law and Agriculture, in both of the latter two the drop is slight. The largest percentage gain is in the School of Mines, which increased from 79 to 120.

Tabulation of the figures emerges from 1927 to 1928 have been tabulated as follows: Agriculture, 1,239 to 1,224; Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics, from 729 to 717; Law, from 255 to 240; Medicine, from 253 to 256; Nursing, from 459 to 448; Pharmacy, from 146 to 151; Graduate, from 1,008 to 1,117 and Business and Public Administration, 1,276.

Statement by Selvig

Seventy-nine per cent of all American imports, last year, were, of articles which almost exclusively or only 21 per cent were of all other articles.

A large part of the troubles of our farmers, in the years since the war, have come from foreign competition entering our home markets.

Industry and Labor are protected against foreign competition by the tariff, the immigration law and other measures.

What I am trying to accomplish is to secure for the farmers the same degree of protection against foreign competition as is now enjoyed by industry and Labor.

If all the farm products imported into the United States, last year, of the kinds that can be easily grown here, had been produced in this country they would have occupied 82,000,000 acres or more.

That is four and a half times as much land as is used in producing all the crops raised in Minnesota.

If the home markets can be secured for our farmers, by reducing foreign competition, every tillable acre of land in the Red River Valley would soon come into demand and value, and farming would become much more profitable.

I am your hired man in Washington. The above is my program. You will vote, next Tuesday, on whether to leave me on the job another two years, to work on that above program, or to put another man in the place.

Whatever the voters decide will be final. I shall not contest election if I lose. If I win I shall take it as an endorsement of my efforts and carry on the fight with renewed vigor.

Yours most sincerely,
C. G. SELVIG.

If fattening hogs are pushed from weaning time to market, the most economical plan is to have them on good pasture with free access to shelled corn and tankage or fish meal in self feeders. Middlings or shorts of good quality or old-process linseed meal, may be fed instead of tankage or fish meal.

Although white clover is usually an undesired visitor in the pasture, spreading in without being planted—it is one that should be encouraged more than it is. Plan to encourage this nutritious forage plant, which is relished by all classes of livestock by giving it plenty of phosphate and also sowing it. It may increase the value of your pasture 100 per cent.

Maytag dealers everywhere follow the standardized rule of sending a Maytag to a home to do a week's washing free, and without obligation of any kind. This is the way all Maytag Aluminum Washers are sold. The Maytag must sell itself solely upon its performance in the home. It must wash everything to your entire satisfaction. Must wash everything quicker, easier and cleaner than other washers. Must wash everything—even cakes, cuffs and wristbands, without hand-rubbing. Must prove to you, in your own home, that it is the most helpful home-laundering unit you have ever seen or used.

Is There Any Good in Any Candidate?

Editor Times:

I have listened to political speeches from platform and radio, seeking an intelligent interpretation of what is the significant difference between the two major parties that in fact get nothing scant attention on the issues involved. I have been provided with an astounding crescendo of mud-slinging.

Political speakers are poor sports. They are guarding against their themselves like a lotal cross children and that is not all, they fling reasonably good men into the mud. They persist in doling more than a feeble, worn thin present half-truths, they stoop to slander—"whispering" about the past or associations. It is admitted that this is the worst "whispering" campaign ever held in the U. S.

The outstanding things now emphasized in this campaign are not the essential political issues but the giving of the best government for the welfare of all the people but many immaterial issues involved by the use of certain words. Here are a few of the words: "attacks, repudiates, absurdities, incoherence, ill, sequence, incompetent, harmony, nonsense, liars, hatred, unfairness, unpatriotic, unscientific, unchristian, unreasoning, indecencies, misrepresentation, deceitfully, conceived, corruption, bribery, intolerance, scandal, crooks, injustice, graft, associations."

This barrage of mud covers up the real issues and confuses clear thinking. It hinders going to the ballot box. Its intelligent choice of the party which the citizens of this country are capable and desirous of supporting with the aroused feeling of doing "against something or someone."

What are the millions of dollars given for campaign expenses for? Are they to create confusion, scatter firebrands and hide out that one of the essentials of government and politics is the participation of voters in continuance? Surely there must be some good in the parties and candidates or surely three nominees for leadership have been and are worthy of support by some good people! If there are some flaws remember, whoever is incapable of doing wrong is incapable of doing right.

The searchlight of justice and public opinion is ever in the trail of the master mind and those who would therefore to not misguided by malignant slanderers and assassins of reputation. What a happy characterized world will be the better to direct the ship of State if when do you know the best fitted and appeals the most to your confidence, be the Captain? Hold on to your liberty of individual conscience. Surrender to no one your right to think and decide for yourself! But think, and on Tuesday—VOTE.

Rev. Crawford Gregg.

Editor Times:

I note your editorial on those bootlegger votes, and that they would be in sympathy with officials who will be lenient in enforcing the law. Well, that is the way you see it here they are back in the power of administration. And Hoover said the other day that his time at the administration would be Calvin Coolidge. I think you said not so long ago that Hoover would do his own thinking. Yes, we his conditions. No power of legislation except a protective tariff, ever can long exist, if it is not managed by the people in the interest of individual farmer. Those, during the past few years, who have used a fair judgment in the management of their finances have been able to save money yearly. And for more than it was worth, everything imaginable is depreciated. The so-called "Easy Payment" plan, has fooled to nearly eight hours a day, has more land than he can take care of without hired help, and those who have not saved money until it is impossible for them to borrow any more who are crying for help.

Now I shall try to show why the "Surplus Control Act" will not work. Primarily this is a price-fixing bill which will never prove successful. Just as soon as a abnormal profit is created and guaranteed in any line of business, business soon becomes overloaded with unmarketable products. Those who are fortunate enough to get their portion of the profits while they may flow freely to appoint and fix the price of their own product. This board would have power to appoint and fix the salaries of whom ever they choose. No commissioner of this kind can long exist, if it is to be influenced and changed by the various changes of political power.

The bill provides that the board shall be composed of three members, and representative production of the various farm products. As yet, has ever been able to forecast accurately the supply and demand of any commodity before it is produced. The wise farmer has learned not to guess at the future, but to know before he raised.

This board is also supposed to aid the farmer how best to develop good programs of planting and breeding. This reminds me of some bankers and a few other lenders who sent city-bred men, so far as farming is concerned, who can tell the farmer how to farm very easily. But if they were to try to make a living at it, they would die of famine.

An advisory council of seven members, fairly representative of the producers of each commodity, named in the bill would be created. Such a council can never be fairly represented by those who can and have the ability to be fair representatives knows better than to leave their farms and be away after board meetings. It is the unsuccessful farmer who cannot make most of his own affairs would enter such things. He is a lover of vanity.

Section five of this bill would give the board authority to make loans to co-operative associations. The business of borrowing is a great increase of the nation. The Federal and state governments have made it far too easy now for the farmer to borrow money. That is one reason he is so heavily loaded to borrowed to make it possible to store the surplus of non-perishable goods. In the meantime, the farmer thinks he sees a chance to make some more money. Therefore, he will produce even more for the next year. What will happen? Now far will $250,000,000 go toward the surplus of farm products must be sold at a loss? Surely let us not ever a period of twenty years.

The board is to withhold the right to make any products or loans there is a surplus above normal increase. Any one with any reason knows that there will be an abnormal increase, as everybody will think they see a chance for larger profits. If they return for overlook one commodity, they will decrease the public loss in the entire program.

The board is to determine before marketing begins what the probable costs, losses, and charges will be for the various products. This cannot be accurately done. An "equalization" fee is to be charged on each unit sold. This fee is to pay for the costs, losses and charges. Who will pay this fee? Is it going to pay this fee? Either the producer or the consumer will pay it. Chance are the producer will pay it. Who will get the advantages, losses, and charges paid (either) Logical will receive them.

It is a graft against the consumer, in favor of capital, who, in its greed, has forgotten the true lesson of France.

This bill gives no assurance of what price is to be paid the producer or what is to be kept in the treasury. There is no guarantee that his net selling price will be any higher than it is now. It does not state how the surplus is to be disposed of nor how much the consumer is to be charged for his food. None of these facts have been considered or discussed. He would be charged so that a fair greedy man may fill their pockets through their own capital for who is to say just the "equalization" fee. The farmer will get. He will be winding out of it. When appointed by the white house, $25,000, $50,000 or $100,000 too much money for twice men to handle when they are only receiving $10,000. Yes, it is possible, $50,000 or $100,000 too much men than there are. — Now if the president can not trust men to handle the American farmer for three years more they may demand farmers in other lines who would profit at our loss. They will not permit us to use their markets for a dumping ground for our surplus products.

If many will not vote for this public stop and consider when they hear farm relief mentioned. If the farmer is to be helped as a class or industry he will demand that the bill be forced through and not a deaf ear to interest politicians who are bressing about now. All men work for their own benefit.

Sincerely yours,

By your kind permission I shall take the liberty to express my voice in the columns in your paper. I notice in your last week's issue that Mr. Chomnie, chairman of the All-party Smith Club, is displeased with the letter I wrote two weeks ago. That that is the case is not at all strange since he has been appointed chairman of a committee in those parts for Tammany Warhorse of New York. I believe Mr. Chomnie can say that Mr. Hackett, Smith's campaign manager, arranged for a loan of $500,000.00 to the Democratic National Committee's treasury. So now every servant and tool of Tammany, Smith, Hacsob and Co. is certain that they will not lend to work for Smith. Now we have no case or grudge against this committee for certainly sufficient help for their cause. That is the privilege of every American citizen. Peoples and Lobb because of plenty money and pay for the able services of Mr. Darrow we turn them from capital punishment by artificial arguments into unlimited pleading. The same opportunity is open to every one who has a fact to present which only proves that where there is money there is a way.

At the beginning of his letter Mr. Chomnie tries very politely perfect to make a distinction between me and my information, contending that it is only my information that is inaccurate. I therefore challenge my personal sincerity and delights in calling every one who does not agree with him "hypocrites, charlatans, cowards etc. Now if we are that because I state facts and he does not, then of course that settles the argument. But we have gotten so much of this kind of fuss from that camp in the past years that we can not take them seriously at all they care can do is to test their vocabulary and throw dirt on their opponents as did Mr. Victor Anderson when for two hours he slandered Hoover while he had nothing to say. Mr. Smith except a few flowery phrases which meant nothing more than what I wrote and other people's time.

Comparing Chomnie's statement concerning himself and my statement concerning myself we can let a jury of readers decide as to our sincerity. Mr. Chomnie says that he is a "professional" whose welfare is closely identified with the welfare of the common people because without them he would be no practice of profession. That can not mean much more than a bread and butter interest. I say that I am not that now, that I am one of the common people. I can live and work with Bet Mr. Chomnie had read my letter as often as he says he has read Sinclair Lewis' Arrowsmith it is not nearly as hard to understand, but he would find that it could not be easily misinterpreted. Of course we may be certain that he has read it, but in fact are hard things, it is easier to dodge or bury them temporarily than to face them.

Concerning my information I am glad to say that I do not have to depend on any one person even from political headquarters anywhere. I have no "boss" to satisfy, nor am I striving official when in any way is connected with this campaign. As a christian citizen I am simply interested in the welfare of our country and of our people and I shall use what influence I have for the furtherance of this welfare as I see it. My opinions are based on what I have found to be proven beyond successful contradiction. These opinions are based on facts to me and now let the Smithsonian attorneys come and disprove these facts and leave out attempts at personal satire.

The question in my former letter, Why do the vets flock around Smith like pigs about the filth?" seems to have hurt. In order to insure the ailing our attorney friend wants to tell his readers that I said, ONLY vets flock around Smith. He can not make much respect for the intelligence of his readers for for the vets intelligence does he can not answer my assertions without changing them. Does anyone seriously doubt that Smith represents the former boss of the west? The vast business interest Does not seem openly admitted that he is for Smith? Is he not known as a drinker. Is not who this time turned democrat did it not for spite? I repeat at the "Democratic affiliation" of prohibition Smith himself hailed the dry plank in the democratic platform as the key to bring the issue to the front.

Mr. Chomnie's logic has it that the bootleggers will vote for Hoover in order not to risk future competition with the saloon. Very good! In order to avoid the saloon issue and gamble on the future for Hoover. And the issue with the official campaign. What better proof can we want?

I do not know what my opponents personal views on prohibition and temperance are. He does however have his pen to the anti-prohibitionists' bleating his flag of temperance as he does so. Temperance, is an elastic expression as far as its common use is concerned. I have heard men say at times drink so as to become intoxicated. I have heard men say they drink excessively and yet I have heard many men who never drink say that they are intemperate men because they never touch liquor. And to complicate with whatever laws and regulations the specific communities place it under. But the people found that the liquor business could not be controlled and that it was a menace to life and held with one hand. This government has undertaken in all its branches in order to blindfold the simpleton. It is liquor some of you gentlemen want come and be open and honest about it and don't be ashamed of yourselves.

Smith is Smith for all his friends say to the contrary. He is also himself incapable of himself. He now claims that "I am and have always been against the saloon." That statement does not confess any conversion and below is the proof because of his above statement brands him as a Voted ten times against local option.

Twice for Raines-Lawe hotels.

Nuff said.

And now also a word about all Smith as the farmer's friend. I have noticed that the Democratic party is courting votes wherever someone may be willing to listen. They are trying to cuddle up close to the Farmer Labor or Nonpartisans as they are sometimes called. Since when has the Democratic party become the champions for the Non-partisan cause. When and where have these two rivers merged or become one? What has happened? Occasionally we hear a democratic stumper who may that the Democratic and the Non-partisan causes are identical. Even Smith is his address in St. Paul referred to Senator LaFollette.

Now, then, Mr. Editor, I will close for this time. Yes, he was. He was a farmer when the political pendulum respected. A man with conviction and courage enough to express them freely anywhere. But alas what a contrast. The destiny of a man like Smith is in the hands of politicians and tell us that he is a leader, the La-Follette—his man who fought every political machine and bossism tools in the state. Yes, he was a leader, but now he is a follower

Miss Mary E. Donovan
The Art of Singing

Anyone with normal throat, mouth and lungs can learn to sing and even professional vocalizers are benefited by the plastive necessary for perfect enjoyment of the human voice by means of proper management of the breath and the required absolute physical control and relaxation. Breathing is to singing what the motive power is to machinery. The first year vocal work is devoted in a large measure to breath economy and breath reserve to obtain the greatest efficiency in tone and artistic effects with the least effort. Diction, the singing pronunciation and enunciation of words and phrases, is helpful to breath economy.

The vocal instrument is within the student and teacher must appeal first to a pupil's sensation while illustrating and not to the power of observation. A student of singing must be guided by the teacher, to a conception of intelligent perception. Much less time is required to make a good singer than to make a good player, but the development and evening of the voice demands a higher order of controllable mental and physical effort. Many students with ordinary voices and alert mental attitude towards the technique of singing succeed better than others with here good voices but lacking in intelligent and earnest application.

These ideas about voice development and singing gathered from the best authorities on the Italian method of singing, are held by Miss Mary Donovan, of New York, teacher of singing, who has opened studios in Thief River Falls and other towns in Polk County, making her headquarters here at 601 Lillie Ave. N. This Doctor's advice to mothers is invaluable

He says

"Two tablespoonfuls of Karo in a glass of milk improves its flavor and doubles its food value."

To know that children like the food that's so good for them, a food that leading doctors highly endorse and recommend, is, indeed, good news to every mother.

ECONOMY

The first step in any tax reduction program is to stop the voting of increased budgets. There is no easy road to economy in government. Every man who proposes a substantial increase in governmental expenditures should be regarded with suspicion until he has proved the wisdom and necessity of his proposal.

There is only one way to treat the taxbooster, and that is to fight him every inch. If he is in the right, he will prevail soon enough. If he is wrong as he is in nine cases out of ten, he will prevail more often than he should.—Theodore Christianson.

The annual Elks charity carnival will be held at the Auditorium next week. These carnivals have grown steadily year by year which indicates that the public likes this method of doing good.

The net profit to charity of the carnival last year was about $600, and this was distributed back thruout the community for benevolent purposes. It is interesting to note that the $600 raised through the carnival was only a small portion of the total contributions made by the lodge in relief work of various kinds in this part of the state.

THE PASSING OF A GOOD CITIZEN

The news of Math Barzen's death came as a and shock to the community. While he had been on the threshold of death several times in recent months, his condition was much improved during the last few days. The end came suddenly and peacefully at the close of one of the most restful days he had enjoyed for some time.

There a few men who have exerted a better influence on this community than Math Barzen. A resident of the city for thirty years, he has always taken an active part in the affairs of the community. His shoulder was always ready at the wheel to advance any worthy project. If counsel were needed his judgment was generally sought.

We have heard many interesting testimonials of his high character. One of these things that we like to remember in connection with him is the test that he applied to propositions as they were submitted to him. The first question that he asked himself when considering a matter was "Is it honorable?"—Questions of practicability, expediency and wisdom were made secondary. The first consideration was honor, "Is it honorable?"

We believe this community is a better community because Math Barzen lived here. We are glad for the associations we had with him. No deserves the highest tribute that can be paid him—that can be paid any American—he was a good citizen.

HEAR MONTAVILLE FLOWERS

While there may be some question as to whether or not a normally minded person would willfully submit to more oratory immediately following a political campaign of the type we have just experienced, there is no question but that the talk to be delivered by Montaville Flowers next Tuesday evening at the Auditorium will be a pleasant relief from the platform hysteria from which we have just emerged. Mr. Flowers is a lecturer of great prominence, and the question that he is discussing, "What Young America Is Thinking," is surely an interesting one.

No doubt there are some who will seriously doubt that young America is thinking. There probably will be a few, too, who will have ideas of their own as to what this young American of ours is thinking about on those rare occasions, if any, that thinking is the pastime. But this is neither here nor there. It is Mr. Flowers' subject and we will let him discuss it. The important thing is that this is the first of a series of lectures that is being arranged by the Parent-Teachers Association and we recommend that you be among those present. If you attend this program you are going to want to attend all of them. To a large extent the success of this first venture will determine the number of such programs that will be arranged thruout the winter.

THE RIVER ISN'T SAFE

A thoughtful citizen has called to our attention the fact that, while the river is frozen over, the ice is not yet thick enough for safe passage. He suggested that a tragedy might be averted if parents would keep their children away from the river for a few more weeks.

There is no question about the advice being timely. It is well to remember that the water level in the river is subject to rapid fluctuation and that therefore the ice is less safe than it would be on a lake or pond.

In considering the problem it occurred to us that keeping children away from ice in the early winter is a difficult thing to do, and telling them that they must not attempt to walk on the ice probably would merely add zest to the adventure. According to our experience a good way to get the children to pack beans into their noses is to tell them that it isn't considered good form to pack beans into the nose.

But we will pass on the warning anyhow. The river is not safe. We suggest that parents take such means as they believe will be effective to impress the seriousness of the situation upon their doubting children.

BE YOURSELF
(Inez Barton)

Being yourself is the nearest anyone can come to attaining the admiration of friends and associates. No two great men are alike and no one can attain personality by trying to change himself.

Take the United States Senate, for example. There are only one hundred Americans each of whom has managed to impress himself upon the imagination of a state. I defy anyone to examine these hundred specimens and draw any conclusions. Not in a million years will they arrive.

It is the same with men and women in all sorts of business and industry. Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, and Alfred Sloan, president of the General Motors Corporation, are enables in both manner and method. Judging them merely from the outside there would be as little in common yet each has risen to the top of a world-wide organization and has the unquestioning loyalty of thousands.

A Sensible Plan to Reduce Automobile Expense

A $20,000,000 bond issue will make it possible to pave 1,000 miles in the next two years, instead of 100 miles a year as at present. Paving 1,000 miles of the roads having the heaviest traffic will save $1,600,000 a year in maintenance. The bonds can be retired in fifteen years at a cost of $26,140,000 in principal and interest. During that period the state will save $18,000,000 in maintenance bills. In other words, we will get $26,000,000 worth of pavement for $11,140,000. And car owners will have the benefit of the paving right away.

MINNESOTA citizens spend more than $300,000,000 every year for automobiles, gasoline, tires, repairs and other items of motor vehicle operating cost.

That sum is almost equal to the aggregate value of the crops produced by Minnesota in a year. It shows how important the highways are to our citizens—because you can't operate automobiles without highways.

The state trunk highways carry about 70 per cent of all of the highway traffic, or more than twice as much as all of the other highways put together. This is perfectly natural and obvious. It's true of all the other farming states.

There are about 7,000 miles of trunk highways. About six thousand miles of the system are gravel surfaced. There are over 1,000 miles of gravel which have such heavy traffic that it is impossible to keep them in good condition at any time of the year.

It costs much more to operate a car over a gravel road than over pavement. It takes more gasoline. Tires wear out much faster. The dust, and the roughness of the surface, causes a car to depreciate rapidly.

The Iowa Highway Commission has found that automobile tire cost alone is twice as much on gravel roads as on paved roads.

If Minnesota can build more paved roads without increasing taxes—isn't that the common sense thing to do?

By taking advantage of our constitutional right to issue bonds for road improvement, we can build more paved roads at once, reduce our growing maintenance cost and reduce the cost of operating automobiles. The present income from license fees and gasoline taxes will pay off the interest and principal of the bonds, without any property tax.

Remember that the automobile owners, exclusively, pay for the improvement and upkeep of the trunk highways—with their license fees and gasoline taxes. No property taxes are spent for trunk highways.

She grew to adulthood within the same community, and on July 11, 1912 married to Nels Johnson, her surviving husband. The married couple lived on a farm in Rosewood church at Warren with Rev. U. G. Again CHRYSLER Originality Re-Styles the entire Motor Car field

ENTIRELY original in style conception—creations of Chrysler engineering and artistic genius—the new Chrysler "75" and "65" literally stamp as old-fashioned the bulky and cumbersome precedents in motor car beauty and performance. ¶Through Chrysler originality, a new mode has come into being. ¶In a new lithe and graceful revelation of dynamic symmetry, Chrysler has swept into obsolescence all other standards of artistic merit in automobiles. ¶Today, the mode is Chrysler—both abroad and at home. ¶The whole world is demanding, in volume that the greatest production in Chrysler history has been taxed to meet—the originality in the new styles created by Chrysler—the new performance which out-Chryslers even Chrysler—the values which other cars costing hundreds of dollars—yes, even a thousand more—cannot match.

New Chrysler "75"—Nine body styles, priced from $1155 to $1345. Six-wheel wire. All prices f.o.b. Detroit. Easy G.M.A.C. terms. Chrysler "65"—Six body styles, priced from $895 to $1145. Wire wheels extra. All prices f.o.b. Detroit. Easy G.M.A.C. terms.

Grain Needed To Fit Cow For Freshening

Keeping the dry cows in good pasture until take in the fall without extra feed or care is not a profitable practice for the dairy farmer, says T. W. Gullickson of the dairy division of the University of Minnesota. "Cows treated in this manner will be in poor condition when brought in the barn at freshening time. As pastures become scant in the fall the cows soon to freshen should be provided with an abundance of good roughage such as legume hay and corn silage. To get them in addition to do their best they should also be fed liberally on grain a mixture of corn, barley and oats will be satisfactory. The grain feeding should be begun from four to six weeks before the time of freshening and continued until about a week before calving when the amount fed should be reduced to about one-half. A few days before and after calving the cow should be given a laxative feed such as wheat bran.

HAVE YOU NOTICED?
The Road to Hell Is Paved With Good Intentions.

In the Halls of Wisdom.
Beginning this week there will be a series of articles on topics of human interest concerning various things suggested in the halls and classrooms. The first one receiving consideration is, "The student's whole work their way through school."

The Lincoln High School there are approximately twenty girls who are working for their board and room at private places. This exceeds the number of previous years. Last year there were about fourteen. This reveals the fact that more students want an education and are willing to do their utmost to reach the desired goal.

There are about twenty boys who are doing some work to pay for part of their expenses. Some work for their board and pay for their room. Others work on Saturdays and do odd jobs in the evenings such as taking care of children and ironing.

Boys do many odd jobs than girls. There are not so many having steady work but there are several who do various things to earn money. Chopping wood, picking potatoes, shoveling snow, helping Sundays, bring welcome "chicken feed" to a boy's pocket book. Some of the boys also work in the country during the summer months. Stores and hotels also employ students after school and on Saturdays.

Those who work for their education will probably value it more than others as theirs is sought for, waited for, and when attained it will be utilized to the best advantage.

BREAKFAST SERVED BY HOME ECONOMICS CLASSES
The Home Economics I classes have concluded their work on breakfasts. The class was divided into two groups, each taking its turn as hostesses. The conversation dealt mostly with the important topic of the day—the coming election.

HOOVER IS ELECTED BY PLURALITY VOTE

Hoover, Christianson, and Shipstead Win by a 3-1 Vote in High School

Students of Lincoln demonstrated a Republican school spirit last Tuesday when Hoover defeated Smith three to one, Christianson defeated Lundeen three to one, and Shipstead defeated Nelson three to one.

The presidential ballot, which has caused considerable excitement about the school, turned out to be a 3-1 victory for Hoover over Smith, and Republican receiving 254 popular votes or 75 per cent to 74 for Smith or 25 per cent of entire balloting. The Teacher Training Department protested an eight to eight tie. Norman Thomas, socialist candidate received 8 per cent or 29 votes. Each of the other two received one vote apiece.

Henrik Shipstead, farmer labor candidate for senator, defeated Nelson 1 or 272 to 196. This appears to be a huge upset as the school as a whole has been known to be strictly republican.

Lars Iaaker was re-elected Judge of Probate by a score of 225 to 124. It is seemed as though Iverson was more or less unknown to the student body, or probably had failed to campaign very strongly for votes.

Selvig, Republican, defeated Wefald farmer-labor, 207 to 152, or about 3-2 by a vote of two to one, showing that the boys also work in the country during the summer months. Stores and hotels also employ students after school and on Saturdays.

Those who work for their education will probably value it more than others as theirs is sought for, waited for, and when attained it will be utilized to the best advantage.

"Skunks" Lead R. P. Teams In Drill For Tournament

The hit-pin baseball teams have finished their preliminary games and are about to play for the championship. The names of the nineteen different teams are: "Skunks"—White and Hoover, "Bloomers"—Smith, "Invincibles"—Hoover, "Bobby Dodgers"—Smith, "Yankees"—Hoover, "Stripeders"—Hoover, "Coyotes"—Smith, "Smart Set"—H. O's", "Wee-Land"—Hoover, "Flying Dutchmen".

The "Skunks" have the highest record with the "Gophers" coming in second. The best teams in each class will play other teams to determine the championship. The tournament, however, will not be held until after Christmas.

The weight and height of each girl is being taken this week. Their normal weights are given and every six weeks they will have an opportunity to check up and watch for improvements.

"BELLS OF CAPISTRANO"

SEASON'S LAST GAME FAVORS BEMIDJI 31-0

Lincolnites Meet Defeat In Final Game of Season Saturday

On the kick-off, Bemidji recovered a fumble on our 10-yard line and in five plays succeeded in putting it over for a touch-down. This was one of the many breaks in their favor.

The Lincolnites were the victims of breaks during the whole game. Twice were Boe's gridders within scoring distance when they fumbled and Bemidji reached in on the fumbles and made points. Just before the first half ended, Thief River had the ball on Bemidji's one-yard line, but the whistle was blown too soon for them to score it over.

Bemidji had but two first downs more than Thief River, indicating that ground-gaining ability was little the superior. But Bemidji showed that they had plenty of reserve power when downs really counted.

At Bemidji the local Senior players made their last appearance in football outfit for Lincoln High. Some have received the school for the last time in athletics; others will be seen this winter, building up the old standard of sportsmanship in basketball.

An improvement in promptness was noted last week. Only five students were tardy as compared to seven the previous week.

SPECIAL ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

OPERETTA WILL BE PRESENTED NOV. 23

"The Bells of Capistrano," an operetta written by Charles Wakefield Cadman, will be presented by the high school glee clubs on Friday, November 23. Daily rehearsals are being held, at which Miss Johnson has charge of the music; Miss Carlson, the dances; and Miss Stevenson, the speaking parts.

The Ortego ranch is under a dark cloud. Drought and mysterious disappearance of cattle have left Ramon, its present master, whose role is played by Randal Noyer, with but one hard to pay off the mortgage held by Jake Kraff, otherwise William Frechette, owner of the adjoining ranch. Moneeta, an Indian girl, whose part is taken by Grace Jahr, is a maid in the Ortego household and is loved by Lone Eagle, Lester Lindberg, an educated young chief. The latter needs help, too, from Rose (Harlon Sponheim) who calls upon his gods to restore the tribe's lost lands, and tells of a curse on the ranch and Capistrano Mission because of the wrongs done to the Indians. Jake, the heartless villain, bears, and begs Lone Eagle to save the ranch, pointing out Ramon's first refusal, but finally promises to help Ramon if he will marry Jake's daughter Rosa, played by Anita Byrom in the girl's drum corps.

Nonesta eludes them as the preachers legals, and causes the old-world bells to break their long silence, as the full moon rises. Lone Eagle drives off the herd, and the Indians are reconciled with Ramon, who promises restoration of their lands.

Arthur Angell, Wallace Benson, and Paul Melby play the respective parts of William, James, and Wallace mentioned in Professor Anderson's class, who are infatuated with Marian, Chiquita, and Carmelita, acted by Margaret Thill, Hazel Davidson and Agnes Angell, respectively.

In addition to the cast members, there are several choruses, which include the Indians, the cowboys and girls, and Professor Anderson's dancing class.

The tables in the biology room are getting rather feeble, either from overuse or abuse. Several of them collapsed in class.

A new and interesting member was recently added to Miss Ellis' "zoo." This was a kangaroo mouse, having short front legs, long hind legs, and a tail twice as long as its body. But unfortunately, this new mouse refused to eat seem to like his new home, and left.

JUNIORS HOSTS AT HALLOWEEN PARTY

Carnival Features Socials, Entertain Senior Guests Saturday Evening

The entertainment for the evening was skillfully planned in such a way as to give a carnival effect to the whole affair. Upon entering the building the guests were ushered into the gym by several Junior "spooks" who were stationed near the door and along the halls. The evening's program was rendered, including a welcome address by Ruth Peterson; a Hallowe'en dance by Hazel Davidson and Ruth Jacobson; a reading by Ruth Stollberg; and a Spanish dance by Ruth Jacobson. Another interesting feature of the program was an "auction sale," at which Mr. Harvi, Miss MacMillian, and Katherine Hakker were the highest bidders. After this sale, the Messrs. Hand, Dyr, Lanning and Opheim were given a humorous comedy sketch entitled Gronland, Monson, MacMillian, and Hakker's Auction Sale of Hats and Lirs Over the Ocean". The two juniors, Richard Johnson and Edwin Soderberg, decided in favor of the latter, the quartet-singing proved a big hit with the audience.

At the close of the program, the "black cat" was chased from the platform for business, and money ranging from pennies to a thousand-dollar bills were issued to be used in the various trading, apple-bobbing, fishing in the bath-tub, entering the "Hall of Horrors," and for refreshments. Every one was given a chance to spend his money to tide him over the evening. Also bright colored torso and witch-figured caps were provided for the guests.

The gym was gaily decorated with shocks of corn, black and orange streamers, witches, ghosts, skeletons, and bats, one of which was the very mystic, witchcraft atmosphere. At the apple-bobbing department, set off in one corner of the course of fun, Fortune-telling and palmistry booths had been erected and Hilliard, Lucian Lambert and Harriet Hellquist, and Hazel Davidson, were cleverly disguised as true Hallowe'en fashion. The stage was used for an apple-shooting gallery, for which Lorraine Zeller was in charge, was another source of much enjoyment. The time spent by the "money" here, however, was death by bullet for his wee son Billy.

TEACHERS' TRAINING

The Training Department spent a very delightful time Hallowe'en night at the Washington school. The entertainment rooms were very prettily decorated in accordance with the season, and the pupils showed much entertainment for the evening, after which refreshments were served.

As Miss Singleton will be at the St. Paul Teachers' Convention for the remainder of the week the following students have been left in charge of the various subjects: Sandum, Reading; Marguerite Johnson, Penmanship; Mary Dwyer, Language; Hermia Crandall, Penmanship; Dorothy Cole, Arithmetic; Nina Malberg, Spelling; Dorothy Sullivan, Current Events; Agnes Angell, Opening Exercises; Esther Hilton, General charge of the Department.

CONSTANT EXPANSION
—to serve Chevrolet owners better

SINCE January 1st more than a million new Chevrolets have been delivered to owners—making the Chevrolet Motor Company for the second consecutive year, the world's largest builder of automobiles

This outstanding achievement has been attained not only because of the quality and value of Chevrolet cars—but also because there has been a constant expansion of Chevrolet service facilities.

In order to bring these mammoth facilities of the Chevrolet factories to Chevrolet dealers and owners everywhere, there have been erected 26 huge parts warehouses in the principal centers of distribution. This expansion program is constantly going on—for four great additional warehouses will be in operation by January first and seven more by the summer of 1929.

Into the service departments of all Chevrolet dealers, Chevrolet has brought special tools and shop equipment—designed under the supervision of Chevrolet engineers. This equipment definitely assures maximum speed and precision and the lowest possible cost in the performance of every Chevrolet service and repair operation—which is charged for on a flat rate basis.

Furthermore, all of these tremendous facilities have been made available to 15,000 authorized service stations manned by skilled mechanics, over 25,000 of whom have been factory trained to efficiently handle every repair operation on a Chevrolet car. In addition, there are over 4,000 other points where genuine Chevrolet parts may be obtained.

Uniformly efficient, uniformly reliable and within easy reach of everybody everywhere—this great service organization is maintaining at peak efficiency the fine performance for which Chevrolet cars have always been renowned.

We cordially invite you to come in and see how our service facilities reflect the influence of this great national service program.

Farmers Must Control Marketing Machinery Says Wheat Pool Head

"Farming is a manufacturing business, was the assertion recently made by C. W. Gossard, General Manager of the Minnesota Wheat Growers, and the control and management of the farmer of his products is as essential to farming as such control and sale is to any one of the non-farming essential industries.

"Imagine an automobile factory with no selling—and I think if you can, of a woolen mill, a furniture factory, or a lumber mill, or a harvesting machine company dumping their goods into the market without taking the buyers' price, giving itself no concern as to the adjustment of production to consumer needs.

"For the lack of national selling organizations, the farmer is without effective knowledge of markets, demands, and as a result, he is producing wastefully. With no adequate control over the time, manner, or market price obtainable, his wares often fail to meet consumer requirements. This results in loss to all concerned, and the loss falls most heavily upon the farmer.

"The crying need of agriculture today is for farmer-owned marketing machinery that will give to the farmer a real knowledge of consumer need, and that will help the farmer to conform with that need to the extent in mind.

"Large scale cooperation offers such a solution. It is working effectively in the dairy and citrus fruit industries. In a small scale, it is proving its value in grain marketing. It is a success in Canada. It will be a success along all lines of production to the extent that the farmer himself takes hold of and develops its possibilities."

Film Depicting Hardanger Bridal Procession Will Be Shown At Princess Monday

"The Bridal Party in Hardanger," a Norwegian film to be shown at the Princess Theatre next Monday night under the auspices of the Sons of Norway Lodge, is a dramatization by Kristofer Janson's famous novel, "Maids of the Mist." It depicts Norwegian farm life about 1840, among the apple trees and lilac blossoms, the mountain valleys and the crystal fjords of Hardanger. It is a story of separated lovers, of the 3 generations of unrevolted love, culminating in the grandeur of a Hardanger bridal procession in boats crossing the fjords between sheer snow-clad mountains. It has received high praise from all the leading newspaper critics of Norway.

Hjalmar Bratlein, who directed the production of the play, will accompany the film in person. He is an accomplished violinist, and will play Norwegian folk music on his Hardanger violin.

THE ELECTION IS OVER

The election is over, and for this we are grateful. While all are not satisfied with the results, most people are. This is one of the redeeming features of an election—that candidate is elected whom the majority vote for. This is probably the reason why most people accept the results good naturedly.

We have met a few people who are not accepting the results good naturedly. We know a few winners who are unreasonably elated over the results and are saying unkind things about those who lost. We know a few losers who are unreasonably depressed over the results and who are saying unkind things about those who won. There are not many of this type but it is unfortunate that there are even a few. It takes only a very few of this type to make an entire community miserable.

There are many interesting things about the election. It will undoubtedly go down into history as one of the most bitterly contested national elections ever held. Forty millions of voters, the largest number that has ever gone to the polls in this country, participated in the selection. Herbert Hoover, the winner, received the largest popular vote and the largest electoral vote ever given a candidate for the Presidency. Smith, in spite of the fact that he was defeated received the largest popular vote ever given a Democratic candidate for the office. This was due to the fact that his strength was spread out too thin. If it had been more concentrated his electoral vote would have been greater.

More interesting than the presidential election, however, was the election within our own state—the victories of Shipstead and Christianson. Here was an unusual situation, two men, members of different parties but both pulling up tremendous majorities. This result indicated, of course, that both men had great personal followings. It indicated that in the minds of most of the voters of the state men are more important than parties. This is a healthy condition.

One of the encouraging things about this election was the excellent distribution of information. It cannot be argued that the public didn't get the facts. The candidates themselves were able, as never before, to make direct personal appeals to millions of voters by means of the radio, and newspapers, whether partizan or independent, published entire speeches of those who argued for both parties. The candidates were given an equal opportunity to present their argument to the jury of voters. The jury reached a verdict. That verdict is the will of the people and must be so respected.

A great deal of plowing has been done during the past week, which is quite remarkable for the middle of November.

HOOVER THANKS THE VOTERS

In his campaign for the Presidency Herbert Hoover confined his remarks to the discussion of issues under consideration. He did not resort to personalities but attempted rather to make known his own views on questions in which the voters were interested. There is no question but that the high type of campaign which he conducted accrued for him the confidence of many people and was one of the big factors in bringing him victory.

In his statement to the voters, thanking them for the confidence they have reposed in him, he betrays no exultation. He speaks rather in the spirit of one who, while accepting a great honor, is deeply concerned with the responsibility that he is assuming. In this statement he said:

"I am sure no adequate expression of gratitude for the overwhelming confidence of our people who without regard to section or interest have selected me for president at the United States.

"There has been a vindication of great issues and a determination of the true road of progress. The Republican party has again been entrusted with a great responsibility. In this great honor there can be for me no feeling of victory or exultation. Rather I am conscious of a solemn responsibility of the future and of complete independence upon divine guidance for the task which the greatest office in the world imposes.

"That task is to give the best within me to interpret the common sense and ideals of the American people. I can only succeed in my part by the co-operation and unity of spirit of all leaders of opinion and of action for the common service of our country."

THE PROBLEM OF PEACE

In his Armistice Day address President Coolidge argued in favor of further increases in the size of our navy. In discussing the question of national defense he stated among other things, that:

If the European countries had neglected their defenses, it is probable that war would have come much sooner. All human experience seems to demolitrate that that country which makes reasonable preparation for defense is less likely to be subject to a hostile attack and less likely to suffer a violation of its rights which might lead to war. This is the prevailing attitude of the United States and one which I believe should constantly determine its policies. To be ready for defense is not to be guilty of aggression. We can have military preparation without assuming a military spirit. It is our duty to ourselves and to the cause of civilization, to the preservation of domestic tranquility, to our orderly people, to maintain an adequate army and navy.

We do not need a large land force. The present size of our regular army is entirely adequate, but it should constantly be supplemented by a national guard and reserves, and especially with the equipment and organization in our industries for furnishing supplies. When we turn to the sea the situation is different. We have not only a long coast line, distant outlying possessions, a foreign commerce unsurpassed in importance, and foreign investments unrivaled in amount, the number of our people and value of our treasure to be protected, but we are also bound by international treaty to defend the Panama canal. Having few fueling stations, we require ships of large tonnage, and having scarcity any merchant vessels capable of mounting 6 or 8 inch guns, it is obvious that, at least in peace, we are entitled to a larger number of warships than a nation having these advantages.

In this statement the President undoubtedly expresses the majority opinion of those who are best informed on questions of international politics and the needs of national defense. Those who hold this view are not necessarily militarists. There is no question in our minds but that the President has just as great and an equally altruistic desire for world peace as those professed pacifists who are attempting to erect a temple of peace on a foundation of class hatred.

But while we do not question the President's motives, we do not agree with his conclusions. We do not believe that our best interests will be served by increasing the size of our navy. By continuing the present competition with European nations we are, by example, inducing those European nations to extend themselves still further in preparation for war. We know that, whether justly or not, our nation is feared by other nations of the world. We are unquestionably the great world power of the present time, and other nations expect us to act as every other great world power has acted thruout history—extend ourselves at the expense of our neighbors. And increasing our navy could serve only to increase this fear of us. We know that increasing the size of our navy would increase the suspicion and distrust with which we are now held by our neighbors. Our greatest problem of defense, and the problem which needs our most careful consideration at the present time, is not the size of our navy or the strength of our army, but rather the good will and confidence of other nations of the world. Our greatest fortification lies in the field of international good will. It is in this field that we should direct the major operations of our building program.

Public Forum

Editor Times:
Dear Sir:

Now that election is over the spenders of the Forum will not be occupied with politics and we will turn our attention to home activities. It was a great and interesting campaign and we have learned a good deal which we should put into practice at home.

I suppose most of you have heard or read Mr. Hoover's St. Louis speech. It was a masterpiece. Let me quote a few extracts from it. He stressed the necessity of practical co-operation and how "co-operation aids industry."

"That task is to give the best within me to interpret the common sense and ideals of the American people. I can only succeed in my part by the co-operation and unity of spirit of all leaders of opinion and of action for the common service of our country."

Now let's see about the U. S. Chamber of Commerce referendum which was held during the campaign, question number 5 to the effect that, "co-operative marketing of agricultural products should be supported and that protection of agricultural commodities should be encouraged by farm co-operative associations along sound economic lines." The vote was 5,826 for, 205 against, 111.

There we can see the interest taken in agriculture by the best business men in America. Now how about you Mr. Farmer, are you going to do what you can to encourage co-operation? Is it not true that you are going to put your sums of money to the campaign funds of our enemies in the fight to save the co-operative enterprises right here in Thief River Falls? You furnish about $10,000 worth of cream per year for the co-operative creamery to make a profit. The upkeep of three cream stations, you furnish about $10,000 worth of grains for the upkeep of four of the elevators. If that additional cream and grain had been handled through the co-operative organizations we could have paid big dividends back to you. It would be entitled to a larger number of warships than a nation having these advantages.

In this statement the President undoubtedly expresses the majority opinion of those who are best informed on questions of international politics and the needs of national defense. Those who hold this view are not necessarily militarists. There is no question in our minds but that the President has just as great and an equally altruistic desire for world peace as those professed pacifists who are attempting to erect a temple of peace on a foundation of class hatred.

But while we do not question the President's motives, we do not agree with his conclusions. We do not believe that our best interests will be served by increasing the size of our navy. By continuing the present competition with European nations we are, by example, inducing those European nations to extend themselves still further in preparation for war. We know that, whether justly or not, our nation is feared by other nations of the world. We are unquestionably the great world power of the present time, and other nations expect us to act as every other great world power has acted thruout history—extend ourselves at the expense of our neighbors. And increasing our navy could serve only to increase this fear of us. We know that increasing the size of our navy would increase the suspicion and distrust with which we are now held by our neighbors. Our greatest problem of defense, and the problem which needs our most careful consideration at the present time, is not the size of our navy or the strength of our army, but rather the good will and confidence of other nations of the world. Our greatest fortification lies in the field of international good will. It is in this field that we should direct the major operations of our building program.

Now my friends, talk this over with your neighbors. Let us get behind this co-operative movement. Do not sit on the fence any longer and let the other fellow do it. Let's forget all prejudice and selfishness and you will be surprised at the fine results.

KRATKA

The Mannsverein carnival held at the Sunnyside school, District 11, last Saturday evening proved a big success, quite a few being present, very orderly and comically dressed. Spanish+ girls, Cowboys, clowns, prospectors, and many new comers from heaven, were all represented. The contest and carnival were enjoyed by everyone.

During the Grand march for which music was furnished by Melvin Hanny the judges Mrs. Rabe and Mrs. Hafdahl selected Melvin Wedel as having the best costume and Mr. Eisenstadt as the most comically dressed. At midnight, lunches were served after which dancing was played and many tried their luck at the dancing pond.

A combined Basket sale and candy social was also held last Saturday evening at the Steinsberg school. The teacher, Miss Alice Bromby, first presented a program after which baskets were sold by Art Eisenstadt and auctioned by Myrtle Hemmestvelt. Approximately $17 was netted by the sale.

Unintentionally the name of Mr. Helseth of Thief River Falls as one of the speakers at the political rally in the Hofdal school November 1st was omitted from the newspaper notices.

Miss Ella Johnson was a guest of Miss Maybelle Jensen last week-end.

The Mannsverein sale and will hold their annual auction sale at the church on Saturday, November 24. Lunch will be served at noon. A cordial invitation is extended to all, far and near to make the sale a success.

Miss Austin and Henry Wanle returned last Tuesday from a short business trip in the Twin Cities with a large load due which the former failed to get at the close of the season. Deer hunting is not very successful this year on account of the absence of snow which makes tracking impossible. Quite a few hunters were seen roaming the woods however with no success from sun-up till sun-down in all directions.

GOODRIDGE

Mrs. Albert Halvorson entertained a number of ladies Thursday evening at her home at a sewing bee. The time quickly passed while they sewed and at 10:30 a lovely lunch was served. The ladies who enjoyed the evening were Mesdames Elmer Peterson, A. B. Stephenson, George Johnson, Elmer Nelson, H. F. Frudahl, C. Christianson, E. Stephenson, Misses Hildred Aarness, Gulida Gilbertson, Lillian Stephenson, Ida Anderson, Lila Rathbun, Clover, Elnora Gilbertson, Lena Clover, Elnora Gilbertson, Mamie Kriez, Emma Gilbertson.

Community Club.

The second meeting of the Goodridge Community Club was held Friday evening, and a good crowd was present. Stuart McLeod was unable to be there as also Chairman Gilbertson, chairman. The opening number was community singing led by Mrs. Josephson. The songs were in honor of armistice day. Then we were favored by a little skit, "A Sore Throat Remedy Boodle" the characters were Miss Gilda Gilbertson, Ruth Anderson and Florence Shoberg. "Sharking Very Jane" a vocal duet by Miss Ida Lagerone and Gardner and Violet Edseth. A comedy watch was next held with Mrs. Wm. Vaughn as the victim. Translations of Readers, Mrs. Joy Payne pronounced the words.

There will be a basket-ball game Monday night, November 19, between the Goodridge and Plain Valley girls' teams.

"A Yankee Doodle Kitchen" brought a great deal of applause, the characters for this were Mesdames M. C. Thoreson, A. H. Josephson, George Gilbertson and C. Christianson. Oscar Edseth played a violin solo and Miss Evelyn of T. R. Falls sang a very interesting Swedish song. Talk, which was enjoyed very much and the final number on the program, from Station F. Z. Radio Ridge, Minn.

Miss Ella Hefferegard sang "Smilin Thru" Marie Wayne gave a reading on a "Flapper Girl". They paid 12 per cent dividends to the stockholders and then had a nice sum of money on hand for working capital. They drove two fine horses to the Farmers' Union and this year, left have rather hard pickings. They handled over 200,000 bushels of grain last year and we had to peddle along with 65,000 bushels, which barely made expenses. Now if we could have doubled that amount we could have paid you good dividends.

Don't let our competitors stuff you that they can give you more for your grain than we do, and the trick of mixing we know as well as they do.

You know that if you ship a car of stock yourself you cannot get more for it than Mr. Griebstein can. The price holds true with grain. And remember that there are no profits in our co-operative enterprises going to anyone but the stockholder. We invited you, we urge you to become one. If you are not satisfied with our management let us know. We can call a meeting any time. Come to the meetings and pick your very best man. Mr. Olson, our manager, came here highly recommended and you can be sure he will use every man alike and will pay all there is in it.

Recently in a circle of old time friends we recalled the time before we got our steam threshers and how the old hay houses used to fleece us on grades and feeders. That was the time that they were prosperous. I do not think the world has grown any better in the last twenty years.

Before I close I wish to thank the business men and Commercial Club of Thief River Falls for their loyal support they have given us during all these years. We surely appreciate it very much and in return we should do likewise to them.

Now my friends, talk this over with your neighbors. Let us get behind this co-operative movement. Do not sit on the fence any longer and let the other fellow do it. Let's forget all prejudice and selfishness and you will be surprised at the fine results.

ROSEWOOD

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Wildwood Cemetery Association was held at the home of T. Hilden last Tuesday evening with practically all members present. Among other matters of business it was decided that new cement lot stakes be placed at the cemetery next summer to replace the present wooden ones, which are decayed. Carl Ilsom was re-elected as treasurer for a term of three years. The next annual meeting will be at the J. A. Hellquist home on the first Tuesday in November 1929.

T. Melby of Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mielsen and Carl Bloom motored to Viking last Thursday evening to attend a special business meeting of the Viking, Comstock and Rosewood Mission churches, to issue a call for a pastor of these congregations in place of Rev. Werner Dyrt whose illness has caused him to resign. No definite action could be taken that evening as there were not enough delegates, but it was decided that a call should be issued to Rev. Kenneth Pherson of Crookston who it was understood has resigned at that place. In the meantime Rev. Dyrt will be supplied by traveling missionary P. L. Quam of Warren, and visits from pastors of neighboring churches.

Mrs. Ole Ilsom entertained ladies including horses, cows, chickens, farm machinery and household goods will be sold at public auction on Friday, December 7th. The Serfus family moved here many months ago and has established friendly relations with the community and will be missed by many neighbors, who will wish them success in their new home.

Hoover carried the New Solum township election by a majority of 10 votes, four over Christianson and carried Solum four votes over Shipstead. Pennington as a whole went Republican by many times the majority given Lundeen came in a close second. Senator Shipstead received a very large majority, having 123 votes to its fifteen 15. Representative Welfald had a fair showing of 42 votes. The present district judges received a fine majority, as every township, and P. B. Mullaney our neighbor candidate for probate judge from out east of Thief River Falls, R. H. Brett. Both the state amendments were carried. A total of 141 votes were cast, out of a total registration of slightly over 200.

Three Ring Circus.

Friday evening in the High school assembly the winners (Reds) of the award magazine sale were entertained by the losers (Greens) at a three-ring circus.

The Reds sat pat on by the circus troupe and known as the trainers and elephants which afterwards assembled as the performers. Following this a leopard and lion contest was held with one of the lions winning. Next on the program the trained monkeys performed and following this a chariot race was held. MINNESOTA NEEDS MORE PAVED ROADS

A $25,000,000 bond issue will make it possible to pave 1,000 miles in the next two years, instead of 100 miles a year as at present. Paved roads are roads having the heaviest traffic will save $1,000,000 a year in maintenance. The bonds can be retired in fifteen years at cost of $37,145,000 in principal and interest. During that period the state will save $19,000,000 in maintenance bills. In other words, we will get $32,000,000 worth of pavement for $13,140,000. And car owners will have the benefit of the paving right away.

SEVENTY per cent of Minnesota citizens live in towns on the State Trunk Highway System, or on farms within a mile of a trunk highway. A still larger percentage of automobile owners live on or near the trunk highways.

The automobile owners, exclusively, pay for the improvement and upkeep of the trunk highways—with their license fees and gasoline taxes. No property taxes are spent for trunk highways.

Maintenance costs of the trunk highways are more than $4,500,000 annually, and are increasing every year. Most of this upkeep has to be spent on the 6,000 miles of graveled trunk highways. The upkeep cost increases because auto travel increases. It's expensive to keep up gravel roads for heavy traffic. It gets more expensive as the years go on.

There's a sensible way to stop this increasing expense. Build more pavement on the heavily traveled routes. Minnesota needs 1,000 miles more pavement at once—to replace gravel surfaces which can't be kept in good shape, at reasonable expense, because of heavy traffic.

At present, Minnesota can build only 100 miles of pavement each year. If we continue to follow the present plan, we will soon be unable to build any more pavement at all, because upkeep of the gravel roads will require all of the trunk highway funds.

We can build more paved roads at once by issuing bonds, as provided by the State Constitution. It will not cost one cent more any more to do this than to follow the present plan—and we can get the needed pavement at once.

Charley Says

Increased interest in sports and outdoor life has no doubt helped to lengthen the average life. However it has also added to the number of accidents. The disability clause in our policies pays an income for disability of two months or more, pays premiums during disability and deducts nothing from savings or protection value and adds only $1.25 to $2.00 per thousand to the annual deposit.

HAVE YOU NOTICED?
Our Lives Are What We Make Them!

DO YOU KNOW?

That nowadays when the skirt reaches the ankle, no deduction is that something has slipt.

That Iona Williard makes eyes at Emil Dostal and Douglass Bloeras the seventh period every day.

That Julius Ophelm is going "deer hunting as soon as the "deer" season opens.

That the grades usually go to the second six weeks period, as the "A" students think they can ride on their reputations.

That although the ice is still frigid boys play it in the river last Saturday morning.

That Mr. Bow has lost all confidence in women because he got a matrimonial advertisement in the paper and one of the replies was from his fiancee.

That Lucy Warner has already begun her Christmas gifts. The first one is a delicate pink powder puff, adorned by a sunbaking kitten trimmed in lace.

That Miss Ellis had a distinguished member of the class of Hamlet, namely biology last week. The kitten, although unskilled, was given an excellently hot welcome.

That letters will soon appear in the progress from California, China, and South America—maybe!

That there are many bureaus in the National government taking care of Alaskan affairs—in fact, one bureau for every kind of polar bear, fox, and dog in that country.

DEBATE TRYOUTS HELD NEXT WEEK

Red Lake Falls, Crookston, Warren, Compete With Thief River

Debate work has been going ahead rapidly during the past three or four weeks, and tryouts will be held the first part of next week, according to Mr. Upham, coach.

Although this three-act operetta is serious with love affairs and tragic locale, it also offers considerable humor, a great deal of which is furnished by the vamp of the play, Katherine Bakke, and a cowboy foreman, Gordon Overland. The "Grass Snatchers," a boys' peppiest chorus, is also chuck full of unusual entertainment.

Faculty Members Attend M. E. A. At Minneapolis

Five of the high school faculty members attended the Minnesota Education Association Convention held at Minneapolis last week. They were Mr. Ryn, Swenson, Leaning, and Misses Johnson and Stapleton.

This convention was well attended with fifteen thousand registering. A change was made for future sessions. Next year the sessions will meet and the convention of the northern division will be held in Thief River Falls.

Upon being asked their ideas concerning this convention, the teachers answers were decidedly unanimous and the education and entertainment was derived.

Miss Stapleton was especially interested in the training conference held at St. Paul in the capital and historical buildings.

Mr. Swenson and Miss Johnson commented on the musical numbers of each meeting and of the artists of the tyin cities played a pipe organ concert.

Mr. Lanning stated that the presentation of the ballet by Doris Niles and the Shakespearian play "Merchant of Venice" made the whole week-end entertainment complete.

Mr. Ryn emphasized especially Governor Reed's speech as being educational and entertaining.

In Halls Of Wisdom

Some students have he false idea that it makes little difference what they do in school because as soon as they graduate they are "gone and forgotten."

Lincoln has had many students with remarkable achievements and it is but fitting that we should give them due honor.

Of the class '26 Ward Mathewson is probably the most deserving of mention. He was Progress editor, participant of debate, president of his class, student council and winner of the state chemistry essay contest. He also won the citizenship medal this year.

Besides carrying six subjects, Ruby Assaly partook in declamation and debate, was a member of the progress and prowler staffs, and winner of the citizenship medal.

Harold Will, progress and prowler editor, also found time to study' consistently and well.

Chester Nydam, the efficient business manager of the prowler and the "Lincolnian" editor must not be forgotten. He won the citizenship medal given to one senior boy every year.

Harriet Nuller, Elaine Korstad, and Lenore Lieberman, honor students, will be remembered for their willingness to help in whatever they were asked to do.

Again we say—These students are gone from our midst but not forgotten by those of us who remain for a little while longer in these halls of wisdom!

The entire football squad, consisting of thirty-one boys, had their pictures taken on the west side of Lincoln High on Thursday afternoon. It is to be used for the 1928-29 prowler.

During the absence of Miss Krueger last week, due to illness, Elaine Evanson and Violet Griffith were put in charge of her commercial classes.

The A to K's won the button sale conducted by the sophomore class. The L to Z's will therefore be hosts to a party to be given to the winners, but no definite plans have yet been decided upon.

Captain Gordon Dahlow and "Fish" Carlson were their new "three-stripe" senators last week for the first time. Ed. Gibson, George Anastad and Emil Dostal have ordered theirs and will be adorned by them in the near future. These are the only lettermen receiving such distinguished awards this year.

Last Thursday and Friday Miss Akre substituted for Carl Swenson who was attending the M. E. A. convention in Minneapolis.

Tickets Are Being Sold For "Bells of Capistrano"

The ticket sale for the play club operetta, "Bells of Capistrano," will begin Wednesday, November 14, under the supervision of the play club. Tickets may be reserved at Lambert's Drug Store. By selling as many tickets as possible, all play club members will do their share toward making the operetta a financial success. They sincerely urge the cooperation of the student body in helping them.

Great preparations are being made for this coming event—to the extent that Miss Johnson is "rushed to death" rehearsing the cast members and the choruses. During her visit in the Cities last week, she rented costumes for the cast. The chorus people are now busy making their own costumes.

Although this three-act operetta is serious with love affairs and tragic locale, it also offers considerable humor, a great deal of which is furnished by the vamp of the play, Katherine Bakke, and a cowboy foreman, Gordon Overland. The "Grass Snatchers," a boys' peppiest chorus, is also chuck full of unusual entertainment.

FOOTBALL YIELDS TO BASKETBALL

Resume Reveals Two Victories Two Ties, And Two Losses For Lincoln

The Lincoln High grid warriors have turned in their suits, bringing their 1928 football season to a close, with preparations now going on for basketball—the king of winter sports at the local school.

Looking back over the tough schedule that the boys played, it appears that they have come through with a good record and are eleven with potentialities as great as that of last year.

The schedule of six games, Hillsboro cancelling their game, resulted in two victories, two deadlocks, and two defeats. Defeating Warren and East Grand Forks, the boys from Grafton and Crookston and were down before the strong Grand Forks and Bemidji elevens.

Grafton, first at-bat on the Thief River schedule, managed to tie the locale to make the count 6 all.

Scouring up the scare of last season's 19-0 defeat at the hands of East Grand Forks resulted in a 19-6 victory for the locals—a very fast victory, which will probably give East Grand something to think about.

Bemidji duplicated the favorable record took the boys at the count of 20 to 0, the second defeat for Thief River. The season closed with this game because of the Hillsboro cancellation.

Many Lettermen Lost.

Losing ten lettermen in graduation, Coach Hoe had the difficult job cut building up a new eleven but with the material at hand and a few regulars he wielded together a team with potentialities just as great as that of last year. Due to serious injuries the playing value of the team was cut 50 per cent. The East Grand Forks game was the first of the season with the regular line-up starting.

The men lost through graduation who will never again put on football gear for Lincoln High are as follows: Captain "Boomer" Dahlow, Carlson, Sponheim, Arnold, Dostal, Anastad, Boeren, Storholm, and Jacobson.

Boomer, a three year letterman in both football and basketball and captain of each was a tower of strength at left tackle showing up well in all games and coming through without injury. Boomer was also a dependable booter being called out of the line for all punting and sometimes to take his brother's place at full-back.

Ed. Gibson, a fighting German and Fish Carlson, the same by Norwegian, held the wing positions at each end on the line. Gibson's playing was outstanding in the Warren game and Carlson starred at Bemidji. Carlson was also an accurate and dependable place kicker.

Arnold, quarterback and Dostal left half were outstanding in the backfield as ball toters, and were double threats as passers. Shoulder injuries handicapped both men.

Anastad, Harris and Boeren, were strong in the line with Anastad at center and Harris and Boeren on the right side of the line at tackle and guard respectively. Boeren, president of the Senior class, played a regular position in his first season on the team. Dode suffered an injured knee in the middle of the season, but stayed in the line-up till the finish of the schedule.

Possibilities Numerous.

Storholm and Fraseth, playing in their first season of football at end and guard showed up well in the line coming through the season without serious injury. The squad should have had these men as freshmen.

Bakke, the galloping freshmen, is the discovery of the year, and will no doubt get away for some more spectacular runs next year.

The line welcomes the return of Kenneth Lindberg who held a regular guard position in his first year of football. With Helms at center and Hustad at guard and Fiseli, Anderson, Bob Boeren, Christensen, Fraseth and the younger Mickelson competing in the line proper for a bone-crushing lineage in order.

Coach Hoe, last but not least, has completed his second season of football here at Lincoln High and is now preparing for a tenth basketball schedule. Hoe is a graduate of the University of North Dakota, where he was a three year letterman in both football and basketball and captain of

Dr. Hughes of Hamline U. Addresses Student Body

The students were given some sound facts in an entertaining manner last week when Dr. Hughes, president of Hamline University, addressed the assembly.

He began across the thought that this is a day of progress, and if the coming generation wants to keep up with the times, it must make every effort to be prepared. Many things remain yet to be done and he suggested a few of them: "Make some unknown thing known; turn iron into gold, or invent a machine that will make it possible to ride on the radio wave."

He said that it was foolish to stop an education when two dollars a day were offered for a job, because fifty years from now a man will need as much farther advanced as it has progressed in the past fifty years. Machinery might then be invented to pay for what is now our two-dollar a day wage.

This fitting remark closed his address: "Step up the ladder while you may, don't be satisfied to take anybody's dust!"

Central School.

The seventh and eighth grades assembled for an Armistice Day program on Monday. The program consisted of: "The Flanders Poppy," by Helen Hermanson, "America's Answer," by Lucille Hermansen, and John Helms attended the M. E. A. convention in Minneapolis last week.

Home Economic Exhibit.

The sewing I and II classes will give an exhibit in the high school sewing room of the dresses and other articles made during the semester on Wednesday, November 28. Following the display, refreshments will be served by the cooking classes. An invitation is extended to mothers and friends to attend. Watch next week's "Progress" for a more detailed announcement.

The biology students are studying birds; several stuffed specimens have been secured for the purpose. Especially noticeable are: goose, owl, pheasant, grouse, red-headed duck. A large garter snake has been added to the biology collection.

Students are still in the lead in the hit-pin baseball tournament with the "Boomerangs" not far behind. "The Berries—and How" are putting up a strong fight, apparently working hard for the championship.

DAHLQUIST SPEAKS ON WAR PREVENTION

Assembly Is Held to Commemorate Tenth Anniversary of Armistice

A special forty-minute assembly was called Monday, November 12, in order to consider the significance of Armistice Day.

In observance of the tenth anniversary of this memorable day, a program consisting of three parts was rendered.

Following this, William Dahlquist, editor-in-chief of the Thief River Falcon spoke under the auspices of the American Legion, giving a very interesting and appropriate interpretation of the probability of future wars. Since everyone is acquainted with the behaviors of war, this point was only briefly touched upon.

"The thing we are now interested in," stated Mr. Dahlquist, in part, "is not who won the last war or who started it, but how to stop the next one before it starts." He continued by discussing several conditions which he thought would be necessary to accomplish. The president also brought consideration to the necessity of developing an international view point regarding world problems, rather than a nationalistic one. CHAPTER XIII—SECTION 2

Being a Greenhorn in Deutschland

I had considerable trouble getting a car to drive in the country with as there were not over twenty owned in the town, and they were all American cars made cars as I saw so many of in their countries. They were "made in Germany." Finally I found a fellow who had a car but he could not even speak English so I was up against it. Well the hotel man said that there was an American who lived there and he would send for him to go along and interpret for me. He sent, and here's what I got. The fellow was seventy-two years old and had lived in America for two years and this was forty years ago. He was the size of seventeen children by his first wife and had just taken a position (a school teacher) for his second. He probably thought she was used to handling them in droves and that's what he needed. Well, he came at the appointed time and when we had brought along his bride for a honeymoon trip she brought along her sister from Berlin to read proof on the job. Then they both had an English-German dictionary so that they could make me understand that they could talk English. The old man admitted he had been in an infirmary long ago and if he had ever known a word of English he'd forgot it twenty years before I hit the town. There I was, with a driver and a load in a five passenger car and not a word of what I wanted, except what was in the dictionaries. Well, I had promised to take the Fransen boy with me as he was twenty-two and had never ridden in a car and so we drove out and got him. That made six persons and about ten words of English as I had taught the young man about a dozen words the day before.

Well, we got into the country and I got out with the boy to photograph a cow or two by the roadside and when I got back in the car my linguists had gone into camp by the car and were eating sandwiches and drinking coffee from a thermos bottle. I was in a hurry and the taxi was on me so I asked them to get in and then the unmarried lane smiled at me very sweetly and opened her confectionery and found the word lunch and showed it to me. It was two-thirty and I hadn't digested my dinner yet but sat down on the running board and tried to be decent. By asking every man we came to we finally found out that a man by the name of Martin whom we wanted to see lived just six houses on. So we all counted the houses and were soon there, but no one wanted to go in as they seemed afraid to tackle the job so I busted out of the car and went in and pulled the bell. This got one man who had been sleeping, an official tester, and he became the owner and before long we got in gear. My picnic party listened and turned the pages of the dictionaries but they could not keep up with me as I had by this time learned a slang language that was getting results.

I saw some of the finest Holsteins that there were in Germany. They were just as near right in type as I would want them and there were in the herd three champions of the country in show and test. It was a rare treat and Martin was a good farmer as well, as he showed me his fine big Belgian horses and his fields and he had the very best wheat fields that I had ever seen. I just got nicely into the cow game when my linguists became nervous and wanted to go on. So we got in and drove through the Ems dike, and when we had reached this spot there was a church and a cemetery located there and I was given to understand that I could go up and look at the water and that they were going in to call on the pastor who had recently harnessed them up together. Well we went up and saw the water and watched the boats for a while and then we went back and tooted and finally I sent one of the greenhorns over to see what was the matter. They were living in the gang hadn't gone into camp again and were filling their tanks for another start. It was six o'clock and time to do that very thing, and we were twenty-eight kilometers from my filling station. We got them out and into the car and it was eight o'clock when we landed where I could satisfy my cravings. They thanked me for the nice ride and thanked them for their services and the taxi man said: "Twenty-eight marks and a half" and the six greenhorns parted.

On the canal I saw men, one and two at a time, with boats of clay or pulling the smaller boat loads of turf and lumber. Then there were larger boats that were drawn by horses driven by women, and still others, the faster ones, run by gasoline power. Here as in Ireland, I noticed the regular fuel for cooking was peat.

But here everybody works. There is no loafing. They get a lot done because they have to. The man on the streets laying paving stones gets two dollars a day for ten hours. They were all wearing wooden shoes and woolen stockings. These shoes are terribly noisy on the cobblestone streets and brick sidewalks, but they have to have some noise to offset the cars we have. All ride bicycles, both men and old, and it is funny to see them riding bicycles with wooden shoes on.

* * * *

A great many new homes are going up all over rural Germany, I counted twenty-three new brick houses of about six rooms each and inquired as to who was doing all the building and was informed that the government was building homes for the young married men who wanted to work in the country. They were built in little clusters here and there near a small village. They were on a quarter of an acre of land and the laborer was not expected to pay the government a cent on the home for the first four years; then he began to pay at the rate of five per cent per annum on an amortized plan. They were very nice homes—all solid brick with the usual bright red tile roofs. Thus Germany tries to keep her people employed at home. I was interested in a blacksmith shop near my hotel where two boys were learning the blacksmith's trade. One was fourteen and the other was seventeen years of age, both preachers sons.

But in spite of the fact that beer is so free in Germany and I did not see a man who was under the influence of liquor there is trouble, and much of it from alcoholism, then I took a walk across the canal one afternoon with a school teacher who had come there to place a marker on her father's grave and as we were going on a pretense for some plants she pointed to long rows of houses and I asked her, "What about them?" and in the best way that she could manage she told me that it was alcoholism that kept them down. She once taught school there and knew the city.

But the government is not ignorant of this and I want to say that in the characteristic German efficient style the government is advertising milk as a drink I never railway station and hotel and restaurant in the land; I have noticed this anywhere and it will soon have a telling effect on the next generation.

* * * *

Market day in Wesner is a sight, and I enjoyed it immensely. There was everything to sell from salt herring to horses but the thing that found the most ready sale was weaning pigs. They were all of the white bacon hog variety and it was fun to see the women who came with their bicycles to buy a pig take them up by the ears and tails and "heave" them from the farmers' boxes, trunks, large baskets and any other old receptacle that would hold a few pigs. When the woman found the pig she liked she paid for it, then put it in a sack and the sack in a basket on the handle bars of her bicycle and was off for home in a hurry. Then there were Jew traders who stand about with their canes and when the local demand is satisfied they usually buy the balance at some price and put them in wagons and peddle them in the country. These same gentry also scour the country at all times picking up veal calves for sale or trade.

* * * *

Germany may be down but not out. She is at the present time relaying all her railroads with steel rites. This is the first time that I have seen this done. They are bolted to the rails and it is a cinch that there will be no spreading of the rails. The ties are concaves, about two inches thick, and are pressed out something like the fenders of a car and there is a rosebed of crushed rock put under them that is six inches deep. This keeps the moisture away and no heaving takes place. The switching of the small passenger coaches in the depots in the small towns is all done with a horse and a chain. The train sets out a string of cars and then goes on its way and another local crew and a horse places the cars where they are wanted.

CROP SPECIALIST WILL HOLD FIRST CLASS NEXT WEEK

R. F. Crim Of University Farm To Be At Commercial Club Rooms Tuesday

R. F. Crim, field crop specialist from the University of Minnesota, will give two talks to Pennington county farmers this fall and winter, on methods of crop improvement.

The first class will be held Tuesday, November 20, and the second January 8. Both are to be held in the Commercial Club rooms. The following subjects will be taken up, according to County Agent H. M. Douglass, who is co-operating with Mr. Crim in sponsoring these classes: methods of testing and acquiring varieties; recommended varieties; how recommended varieties are passed on to the farmers; crop improvement.

Mr. Crim's course will be followed next spring and summer with special experimental seed plots of new varieties of grain. Several local farmers will be enlisted as co-operators for this project.

These crop schools have been very popular in the Southern part of the state, according to reports, and Mr. Douglass urges every farmer in the county to attend the meeting next Tuesday.

In addition to these class-room projects, Mr. Crim is also promoting crop improvement in the state by conduction of a contest to select the ten champion seed growers in the state. The record of achievement blanks upon which nominations are made must include information as to the candidate's seed production and sales activities, the part he has taken and is taking in public service, his standing as a co-operator with the forces working for better agriculture, and his success in controlling the weed pests commonly found in Minnesota fields. Full particulars may be obtained from Mr. Crim at University Farm, St. Paul.

SOME of our customers couldn't believe that really fine radio cost so little, until we showed them by letting the 1929 Atwater Kent all-electric set demonstrate itself.

"Let us bring this set to your home," we said to these skeptics. "Let us plug it into a lamp socket and then we'll stand back and never say a word while you snap the switch and turn the FULL-VISION Dial and bring in the programs and make any test you please. If you don't want to buy—the pleasure is ours."

The result is we're sending Atwater Kent 40's into customers' homes as fast as we can get them from the factory. This sweet-toned, powerful, compact, beautiful, modern receiver is simply irresistible—once you try it.

The same free home demonstration offer is open to you. Please be prompt in dropping into the store or telephoning. What with the Presidential campaign coming, to say nothing of a wealth of fine programs on the air every day, these new Atwater Kents are selling fast. Say "Home Demonstration" NOW.
